ATLANTA FALCONS

Atlanta's leading rusher for the past four years, 5-9 Cannonball Butler steams for yardage against the Rams.

The Falcons enter their seventh season still looking to fly a conference flag which could be the turning point in their payment of dividends in victories. Payment to the fans who have supported them from the minute owner Rankin Smith and his friends paid $8.5 million in 1966 to enter the gates of the National Football League.

Fans came faster than victories. There were more than 1,000 telephone calls for tickets on the day the NFL expansion announcement was made. Now there are more than 45,000 season subscribers who are looking to see whether the Falcons have gained that extra step that will have the Falcons doing as well outside its NFC-Western Division as they did within the division last year.

Norm Van Brocklin, who succeeded Norb Hecker as head coach in mid-1966, is counting on linebacker Tommy Nobis, tight end Jim Mitchell and offensive tackle George Kunz to be matched by other Falcons in aggressiveness. "Our kind of team has to expect to win close or lose close," Van Brocklin said. "We must be aggressive."

Atlanta Key Players

BOB BERRY, QB, 5-11, 196, 8th Yr., Age 30, Oregon Enjoyed his finest season ever, leading Falcons to their first winning year. Ranked as the No. 4 passer in the NFC, he had a 60.2% completion mark, threw 136 completions for 2,005 yards and 11 TDs. Missed three games with hamstring injury.

KEN BURROW, WR, 6-0, 192, 2d Yr., Age 24, San Diego State No. 2 draft choice produced outstanding rookie year, with 33 receptions for 741 yards, solid 22.5 average and six TD grabs . . . despite playing 11 games with a broken wrist! Twice had 190 yards received in single game. Great potential.

JIM BUTLER, RB, 5-9, 195, 8th Yr., Age 29, Edward Waters "Cannonball" had another fine year, leading the club in rushing for the fourth straight season with 594 yards. Also caught 15 passes, scored four TDs. Came to Atlanta on waivers in 1968 after being released by Steelers. Also kickoff return man.

DON HANSEN, LB, 6-3, 220, 6th Yr., Age 28, Illinois Mr. Versatility, he played all three linebacking spots, won club MVP honors in '71. Had three interceptions, including 40-yard TD return against Browns. Former Viking joined Atlanta in 1969 after a year's retirement, has been solid ever since.

TOM HAYES, DB, 6-1, 193, 2d Yr., Age 26, San Diego State No. 6 draft choice proved to be an outstanding rookie, making All-NFL Rookie team and finishing third in balloting for defensive Rookie of the Year. Had three interceptions for 27 yards, also scored three TDs on returns of two blocked punts and a fumble.

CLAUDE HUMPHREY, DE, 6-5, 255, 5th Yr., Age 28, Tenn. St. No. 1 draft choice in 1968, he's rated among top DE's in NFL. Won All-Pro honors again in 1971 for second straight year, also went to the Pro Bowl again. Was defensive Rookie of Year in '68. Led Falcons in sacking the passer with 14 last season.

GEORGE KUNZ, Tackle, 6-5, 255, 4th Yr., Age 25, Notre Dame Another No. 1 draft choice who has made it big. Improves each year, had great season last year being named as a starting tackle for NFC in the Pro Bowl game. One of most consistent players in NFL, he excels as a pass blocker.

ART MALONE, RB, 5-11, 200, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Arizona State Rugged runner who is at his best inside the enemy 20-yard line. Came into his own in 1971, rushing for 438 yards and a 3.7 average and led team in receiving with 34 catches for 380 yards. Scored club record eight TDs.

JIM MITCHELL, TE, 6-2, 225, 4th Yr., Age 24, Prairie View A No. 4 draft choice who has been outstanding player every year. Falcons consider him best TE in NFL. Excellent speed, fine blocker, he had 33 catches last year for 593 yards, scored six TDs. Best year was '70 when he caught 44 passes.

TOMMY NOBIS, LB, 6-3, 237, 7th Yr., Age 28, Texas U. Plagued by knee injuries for past couple of seasons, he appeared in only four games in '71, but when healthy, there's none better. Was Rookie of Year in 1966, All-Pro several times thereafter, Pro Bowler four times. Key to Falcon defense.

KEN REAVES, DB, 6-3, 205, 7th Yr., Age 28, Norfolk State
The Dean of Defense is the only Falcon to play in every one of the team's 84 games since its inception. Holds club interception records, outstanding tackler too. Had six swipes last year for 43 yards returned, now has 24 during career.

JEFF VAN NOTE, Center, 6-2, 240, 4th Yr., Age 26, Kentucky A No. 11 draft choice, he was cut in 1969, came back in 1970 and won a starting role through determination. A halfback in high school, he's only been a center for two years, yet is now rated a "superior" pass blocker by Falcon coaches.

JOHN ZOOK, DE, 6-5, 248, 4th Yr., Age 24, Kansas Came to Falcons in trade with Eagles after being drafted by Rams . . . all in his rookie year. Became a starter as a rookie with the Falcons and has been just an outstanding player ever since. Gives Falcons an outstanding rush on the passer.

Norm Van Brocklin Head Coach

Has been Atlanta's head coach since the fourth game of the 1968 season, when he took over for Norb Hecker, who was released. Named general manager in January of 1970 after a 6-8-0, 1969 season. Named coach of new Minnesota Vikings franchise which entered NFL in 1961 and won its first league game, 37-13, over Chicago Bears. Van Brocklin's coaching record is 41-76-6. Los Angeles Rams' fourth draft choice in 1949 and led NFL in passing in 1950, '52 and '54, and in punting in '55 and '56. Set NFL record of 554 yards passing in single game (Rams vs. New York Yankees, September 28, 1951). Threw winning TD pass to Tom Fears in Rams' 1951 NFL championship victory. Traded to Philadelphia Eagles before 1958 season, and led them to world championship in final year as player, 1960. Played in nine Pro Bowl games, on two world championship teams, three conference winners and one conference co-champion in 13-year career.

ATLANTA-BIG PLAY

Atlanta coach Norm Van Brocklin's distinguished background as one of pro football's all-time great forward passers has not caused him to overlook the importance of the running game with his young Falcons. Quite the contrary. Van Brocklin has attempted to establish Atlanta as a solid ground attack ball club. Of his three top ball-carriers, two are small by pro standards. Jim Butler is only 5-9 and 190 and Art Malone is 5-11 and 200. The third, Harmon Wages, is 6-1 and 215 pounds. This means that Van Brocklin must base his running offense on speed, quickness and surprise rather than on the brute force of the so-called "big back" backfields. One of the plays with which the Falcons achieve this guickness and surprise is the fullback weakside veer shown in the accompanying diagram. The success of this play is based on Butler's jet-like acceleration off the ball; Jim is one of fastest men in the NFL covering those two or three yards from the set position to the line. He literally explodes through there. Butler's first move is designed to make the defense think he is about to run a straight-ahead dive play over left guard. He takes two steps in that direction and then veers sharply to the right, taking an inside handoff from quarterback Bob Berry (No. 17). Wages (No. 5), a strong blocking back, drives straight ahead from his position and leads Butler into the hole between right quard and tackle. Wages' primary assignment on the weakside veer is to get through the hole ahead of Butler, turn guickly to his right and drive the left corner linebacker to the outside. The Atlanta left guard and left tackle execute standard zone blocks - that is, they take the men opposite them and attempt to turn them out of the path of the ball-carrier.

The Falcons enjoy a solid pass rush against enemy QBs from Claude Humphrey and John Zook. This is Zook bearing in on the Rams.

Running back Art Malone added punch to the Falcons' rushing game in 1971. Here he is, escorted by guard Malcolm Snider.

CHICAGO BEARS

When Butkus blasts a runner, it's not surprising when a fumble results . . . as is the case here against the Steelers.

George Halas started and still controls the Chicago Bears, who won their first title when Warren Harding was president and their eighth with Lyndon Johnson in the White House in 1963.

Halas had all-time great backs, from Red Grange, Bronko Nagurski, Sid Luckman, George McAfee and Johnny Lujack to the present-day Gale Sayers. His storied "Monsters of the Midway" in the late 1930s and early 1940s included a dozen National Football League greats now enshrined in the Pro Hall of Fame.

The Bears have appeared in an NFL title game in every decade of existence. Only in the 1950s did they fail to win a championship.

Halas turned the coaching over to protege Jim Dooley in 1968 and turned the team out of closet-like Wrigley Field and into spacious Soldier Field, which also, can use more than sunlight for illumination.

Now huge Abe Gibron takes over as coach and hopes are riding high.

Defensively, the Bears still have the most important ingredient that could be injected in any defense: Dick Butkus, who has had the lock on All-Pro middle linebacker since he was a rookie in 1965.

Chicago Key Players

DOUG BUFFONE, LB, 6-3, 230, 7th Yr., Age 27, Louisville Very active outside linebacker with range, mobility who teams with Butkus to give Bears a really outstanding tandem of linebackers. Tough against the run, he also had two interceptions in 1971 after four in 1970.

DICK BUTKUS, LB, 6-3, 245, 8th Yr., Age 29, Illinois
Some say he's the best MLB in history of the NFL. Been All-NFL many times, seven times in the Pro Bowl. Always around the ball, a devastating hitter. Had four pass interceptions in 1971, also scored PAT on pass reception.

JACK CONCANNON, QB, 6-3, 205, 9th Yr., Age 29, Boston Coll Appeared in only nine games last year, he had only 42 completions for 334 yards. Has outstanding arm, and is among the "scramblers" of the NFL quarterback corps. Can do it all when he's healthy.

BOB DOUGLASS, QB, 6-4, 225, 4th Yr., Age 25, Kansas Did most of the work at QB for Bears in 1971. Big and strong lefthander who can take off out of pocket like a fullback. Completed 91 passes for 1,164 yards and five TDs in '71, also rushed 284 yards for a 7.3 average.

GEORGE FARMER, WR, 6-4, 215, 3rd Yr., Age 23, UCLA No. 1 draft choice in 1970 has been a solid receiver in his two seasons with Bears. Led club in receiving in 1971 with 46 catches, 737 yards and five TDs after nabbing 31 throws for 496 yards as a rookie.

CHARLIE FORD, DB, 6-3, 185, 2nd Yr., Age 23, Houston Big and swift cornerback enjoyed a fine rookie year with the Bears in 1971, showing tremendous potential for stardom. Proved to be a solid tackler and also led in interceptions with five for 46 yards returned.

DICK GORDON, WR, 5-11, 190, 8th Yr., Age 28, Michigan St. Veteran receiver was NFL's top catcher in 1970 with 71 receptions for 1,026 yards and 13 TDs and made All-NFL team. Totals fell off last year to 43 for 610 yards and five TDs, but he's still a topnotch performer.

WILLIE HOLMAN, DE, 6-4, 250, 5th Yr., Age 27, S. Carolina St. No. 7 draft choice in 1968, was a reserve as a rookie, then won starting job in his second year. Has improved each season, now rates as outstanding defensive lineman. Has solid pass rush either to the inside or outside. Very strong.

RANDY JACKSON, Tackle, 6-5, 250, 6th Yr., Age 27, Florida Young veteran has come on very well in last couple of years, proving to be key man in offensive line. Sets up very well on pass blocking and is determined and aggressive hitter who can also do job on the running plays.

CYRIL PINDER, RB, 6-2, 210, 5th Yr., Age 24, Illinois Came to Bears from Eagles and has done fine job of filling in when Sayers has been out with injuries. Came through with 311 yards in 1971, for a fine 4.9 average. Also a dependable pass receiver in the clutch.

GEORGE SEALS, DT, 6-3, 260, 9th Yr., Age 29, Missouri Started out as an offensive lineman, then switched over to defense several years ago. Has been a solid man in Bears' front four ever since. Great speed and strength, he's tough against run, solid pass rusher.

GALE SAYERS, RB, 6-0, 198, 8th Yr., Age 28, Kansas Plagued by knee injuries over past couple of years, only played in two games in 1971. When he was healthy, always All-NFL, rated best running back in business. Has 4,956 yards rushing in career, holds several records.

JOE TAYLOR, DB, 6-1, 200, 6th Yr., Age 31, N. Carolina A&T Veteran cornerback combines savvy with aggressive play, does top job defending against the run as well as the pass. Solid against the sweeps, always has been. Had three interceptions for 69 yards returned in 1971.

Abe Gibron Head Coach

Abe Gibron is completely in the Bears tradition as the new head coach. In the 53 year history of the team, changes in leadership have been rare but with one exception (Ralph Jones) every top man has had a Bears' background. Gibron has nine years service with them in all as player and then assistant coach and his is only the sixth different head coaching regime in team history. Owner George S. Halas signed him on January 27 to a multi-year contract of unannounced duration. Pro football people respect his technical knowledge . . . seven seasons as an assistant have been split into three on offense and four on defense plus direction of the special units plus leadership of the painful calisthenics. Gibron, a native of Michigan City, Ind., and graduate of Purdue University, has been an outstanding pro football personality for 23 years.

CHICAGO-BIG PLAY

The Chicago Bears can do many different things on offense with a quarterback like Bobby Douglass (No. 10) running the attack. For one thing. Douglass is a lefthanded passer, a rarity in pro football. For another, the 6-4 225-pound former Kansas All-American is a powerful runner whose ability to carry the ball in heavy traffic adds another dimension to the Bears' offense. Although Douglass' accuracy as a passer does not compare with, say, Joe Namath or Sonny Jurgensen or John Brodie, the threat he poses as a runner makes him dangerous to the defense everytime he touches the football. The Bears hope to take advantage of Bobby's multi-talents with plays such as the weakside bootleg pass shown here. Actually, Chicago attempts to set up this maneuver by first running Jim Grabowski (No. 33) on a routine off-tackle play. Then, with the defense conscious of this threat, Douglass fakes the handoff to Grabowski, keeps the ball hidden on his hip and rolls out to his left escorted by a pulling quard. Running back Don Shy (No. 24) flares deep to the same side as a "safety valve" receiver while split end Dick Gordon, who caught 43 passes for 610 yards and five touchdowns last season, runs a delayed down-andout pattern. As Gordon starts his route, he keeps his eve on the right cornerback. If the defensive man makes a move to come toward the line and play Douglass' run, Gordon sprints behind him and yells for the pass. If the defender drops back and stays on Gordon, Douglass has the option of pulling the ball down and running it himself. He can go either outside or inside the end, depending on the reaction of the defensive men in that sector. This Bear specialty puts extreme pressure on the defensive halfback on that side. He is responsible for covering Gordon deep but, at the same time, he cannot afford to ignore the possibility of Douglass running the football.

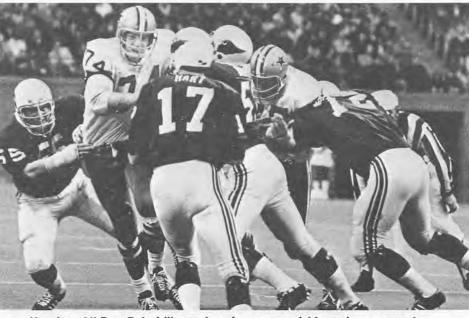

Off to the races with an interception is swift Charlie Ford, with Doug Buffone (55) and Dick Butkus (51) leading the way.

Up for a leaping catch goes wide receiver George Farmer, the Bears' top pass receiver in 1971.

DALLAS COWBOYS

Keeping All-Pro Bob Lilly at bay is an unenviable task, as several Cardinals find out here. That's Lilly (74) smashing through assorted Birds en route to quarterback Jim Hart.

At $600,000, the Cowboys have to be the biggest bargain ever brought into Dallas or anywhere else in Texas. Since 1966, no NFL team has won more games than the Cowboys' 66 . . . and the club's smashing triumph over Miami in the last Super Bowl makes the Texas team the reigning kingpin of the National Football League.

None of the total Cowboy wins took place in their opening 1960 NFL season, but it was a team which grew fast over the years ... coming within two yards, a foot, and five seconds of ruling pro football in years prior to last year's impressive crunching of the Dolphins.

The Cowboys fell two yards short of tying the Packers and forcing an overtime in the dying seconds of the 1966 NFL title game; they lost to the Packers again in 1967 when Bart Starr sneaked 12 inches with 13 seconds to play, and two years ago they came even closer. It took a 25-yard field goal with five seconds to play by Baltimore's Jim O'Brien to shoot the Cowboys down in Super Bowl V in Miami.

The Cowboys have now made it to the pinnacle, and who is to say that this club is not the newest dynasty in professional football?

Dallas Key Players

HERB ADDERLEY, CB, 6-1, 200, 12th Yr., Age 33, Mich. State The acquisition of Adderley from Green Bay just before the 1970 season was one of the real keys to the Cowboys' two consecutive Super Bowl appearances. The five-time All-Pro is No. 4 among active NFC interceptors.

LANCE ALWORTH, WR, 6-0. 180, 11th Yr., Age 32, Arkansas The leading active pass receiver in the NFC, and the No. 4 all-time pass catcher, Alworth came to the Cowboys from San Diego in 1971, caught 34 passes for 487 yards and two touchdowns to run his career totals to 527 receptions, 10,071 yards and 83 TDs.

CORNELL GREEN, S, 6-3, 208, 11th Yr., Age 32, Utah State This former college basketball player seems to improve with age. Green played in his fourth Pro Bowl after the '71 season, his first as a safety after three previous Pro Bowl appearances and four All-Pro years as a cornerback.

BOB HAYES, WR, 5-11, 185, 8th Yr., Age 29, Florida A&M Hayes, the Cowboys' alltime leading receiver, scorer and punt returner, remains the team's prime all-the-way threat. He caught 35 passes in 1971, for 840 yards—a 24-yard average per catch—and scored eight touchdowns. Now has 72 TDs in seven years.

CHUCK HOWLEY, LB, 6-2, 225, 14th Yr., Age 36, West Virginia Howley, the Most Valuable Player in Super Bowl V and the author of several more key plays in Super Bowl VI, has to be considered one of the youngest "old" men in the NFL. A six-time All-Pro, he also played in the Pro Bowl for the sixth time last season.

BOB LILLY, DT, 6-5, 260, 12th Yr., Age 33, T.C.U. Lilly reasserted himself as perhaps the top defensive tackle in football in '71, making the All-Pro teams for the seventh time and participating in his ninth Pro Bowl. In 11 seasons with the Cowboys, Bob has played in 154 consecutive games.

CRAIG MORTON, QB, 6-4, 214, 8th Yr., Age 29, California The spotlight left Morton in '71 as Roger Staubach led the Cowboys to the world championship, but Coach Tom Landry continues to emphasize how important Craig is to the Dallas cause. He took the team to the Super Bowl in 1970, despite a sore throwing arm.

JOHN NILAND, G, 6-3, 245, 7th Yr., Age 28, Iowa Niland was superlative again in 1971, earning All-Pro honors for the second time and playing in the Pro Bowl for the fourth time. He and Rayfield Wright hubbed a Dallas offensive line that paved the way for the NFL's most productive offense.

JETHRO PUGH, DT, 6-6, 260, 8th Yr., Age 28, Elizabeth City St. Pugh often is overlooked because his running mate, at defensive tackle, Bob Lilly, is an all-time All-Pro. But Jethro has improved steadily since joining the Cowboys as an unknown 11th-round draft choice in 1965. Nailed passer 17 times in '71.

MEL RENFRO, CB, 6-0, 190, 9th Yr., Age 30, Oregon Mel made it 8-fo-8 in the Pro Bowl last season. He's been in the all-star game every year since joining the Cowboys as a rookie in 1964. He also made All-Pro for the fourth time, his second at cornerback after being switched from safety in 1969.

ROGER STAUBACH, QB, 6-3, 197, 4th Yr., Age 30, Navy Staubach's unrelenting drive to become the Dallas quarterback paid off in 1971, when he guided the Cowboys to the world title. He "arrived" in '71, quarterbacking 10 straight victories through the Super Bowl (where he was MVP) and was the NFL's No. 1 passer.

DUANE THOMAS, RB, 6-1, 210, 3rd Yr., Age 25, West Texas St. Thomas' super day in Super Bowl VI (19 carries, 95 yards, one touchdown) capped another outstanding year for the fast, strong running back from West Texas State. He rushed for 793 yards in 1971, pushing his two-year total to 1,596 yards.

RAYFIELD WRIGHT, T, 6-6, 255, 6th Yr., Age 27, Ft. Valley St. Wright earned All-Pro honors in 1971, only his second season as the Cowboys' starting right tackle. He also played in the Pro Bowl for the first time as he emerged as one of the game's premier offensive linemen.

Tom Landry Head Coach

Only head coach Dallas has had in its 12 years, Landry has a regular season record of 88-72-6, highlighted by a 63-19-2 record over the last five seasons. Led Cowboys to their first Super Bowl title last year as Dallas won the Eastern Division with a 11-3 mark. Lost to Baltimore 16-13 in Super Bowl V on a field goal with five seconds remaining. In 1966, Dallas finished 10-3-1 and lost to Green Bay 34-27 for NFL title. In '67, Dallas was 9-5, defeated Cleveland 52-14 in Eastern Conference Championship Game and again lost NFL title to Green Bay 21-17 on touchdown with 13 seconds left. Cowboys posted 12-2 record in '68 and 11-2-1 record in '69, but lost to Cleveland in consecutive Eastern title games. Joined New York Yankees of All America Conference in 1949. Joined New York Giants in 1950 as defensive back. Player through 1953 before assuming player-coach role in 1954-'55. Remained as assistant coach through 1959.

DALLAS-BIG PLAY

The Dallas Cowboys, perhaps the best running team in professional football, always try to present as many different pictures as possible on a given play, thus reducing the defense's chances of "keying" on a certain formation or series of plays. The Dallas game plan also has one other primary aim — get the speedy Duane Thomas (No. 33) to the outside in a one-on-one situation. Both of these objectives are achieved with the Cowboy guick pitch which is diagrammed here. As can be seen, Dallas lines up initially in a power I-formation with Thomas and Walt Garrison (No. 32) as the deep backs behind guarterback Roger Staubach (No. 12). From this information, Garrison shifts to the left, just outside of and behind his left end, which now puts the Cowboys in more of a double-wing than in an I-formation. The defense is thus presented with two different attacking formations within the space of a few seconds. As the ball is snapped, Staubach turns quickly and pitches back to Thomas, who starts "bellying" wide to the left. From his wingback spot, the sturdy Garrison must throw a key block on the opposing right linebacker, driving that man to the inside. Left tackle Ralph Neely (No. 73) pulls and turns up through the hole while guard John Niland (No. 76) moves out to eliminate the defensive halfback on that side. The stage is now set for the swift Thomas to make his big decision: take it all the way to the outside, or cut to the inside? Duane has the option here and his course of action is determined by the blocking up front. Ideally, the Cowboys try to spring Thomas loose down the sideline where he can usually outrun the defenders in that area. If he is forced to the inside, the defense can always get extra help from opposite linebackers and defensive backs to help jam his running lane. In any event, though, Thomas is a tough one-on-one opponent in the open field.

The NFL's top-rated passer and Super Bowl MVP shows his style . . . Staubach in the pocket at Texas Stadium.

Duane Thomas shredded the Dolphins in the Super Bowl, but then again, he's been shredding most everyone else too. Here he is against the Redskins.

DETROIT LIONS

Detroit's first 1,000-yard rusher, Steve Owens, finds running room against Kansas City as Charlie Sanders (88) blocks.

The Lions roared the fourth time Detroit entered the National Football League. After being a three-time dropout Detroit was in the NFL to stay in 1934 when they won their first 10 games, but not the title. That had to wait until the next year, when they beat the New York Giants for their first of four NFL crowns, including 1952 and 1953 conquests of the Cleveland Browns.

From Dutch Clark to Alex Karras, the list of Lions' greats is longer than an automotive production line. It includes Buddy Parker, Doak Walker, Bobby Layne, Leon Hart and Joe Schmidt, the present head coach who starred as the middle line-backer on that last Lion championship team in 1957.

Detroit and defense are synonymous. In one '67 game, the Lions intercepted four Bart Starr passes, one more than he had allowed in the entire previous season. With young offensive backs like Steve Owens, Mel Farr and Altie Taylor behind quarterbacks Bill Munson and Greg Landry, the Lions now seek defense.

The first of four defensive players drafted on the first five Lion turns in 1971 was defensive tackle Bob Bell of Cincinnati. It was the first time since 1958 that the Lions drafted a defensive player on the first round. The choice in 1958 was a defensive tackle from Iowa: Karras.

Detroit Key Players

LEM BARNEY, DB, 6-0, 188, 6th Yr., Age 27, Jackson State Scored one TD last year to give him 10 for career—6 by interceptions, 2 by punt returns, and one each by kickoff return and field goal attempt return. Rookie of Year in '67, was All-Pro in 1968 and '69. Missed seven games last season

LARRY HAND, DE, 6-4, 250, 8th Yr., Age 32, Appalachian St. Defensive line stalwart who has been a regular since 1967. Has three TDs in career, all on intercepted passes. Did the trick twice in one year, 1967, on successive Sundays. Solid, dedicated DE who overcame knee surgery in 1968.

MIKE LUCCI, MLB, 6-2, 230, 11th Yr., Age 31, Tennessee Named Lions MVP last year for unprecedented third straight season. Outstanding middle linebacker and team leader, both on and off the field. Made Pro Bowl in 1971 for first time. In 10th NFL season last year intercepted five passes and returned two for TDs.

ERROL MANN, K, 6-0, 200, 5th Yr., Age 31, North Dakota Scored over 100 points in '71 for third consecutive year and led team in that department, Was second in Conference and fourth in NFL in scoring with 103 points on 22 field goals and 37 extra points. Holds Lion record for most FG attempts (103) and most field goals (67).

EARL McCULLOUCH, WR, 5-11, 175, 5th Yr., Age 26, USC Caught his 100th NFL pass last year and passed 2,000-yd. mark for receptions. Led team with 552 yards and 26.3 mark. Scored 3 TDs, longest for 76 yards. Top rookie in '68 after passing up track career for NFL. Still holds some NCAA hurdle records.

PAUL NAUMOFF, LB, 6-1, 215, 6th Yr., Age 27, Tennessee Young outside linebacker who uses speed and great desire in his position. Joined Lions in 1967 and became a regular for final two games. Has started every game since. Came to Detroit from the University of Tennessee where he was All-American.

STEVE OWENS, RB, 6-2, 215, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Oklahoma Lions' first 1,000-yard rusher in 38-year history. Totaled 1,035 yards in 246 carries (also a club record) for 4.2 average and eight TDs. Also caught two scoring passes to rank among top 13 NFC scorers. Missed half of rookie year with shoulder separation.

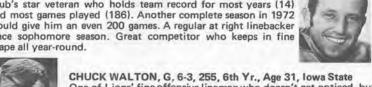

CHARLIE SANDERS, TE, 6-4, 225, 5th Yr., Age 25, Minnesota Caught 31 passes in '71 for 502 yards and five TDs. All-Pro tight end whose blocking is also spectacular but unnoticed by fans. Has played in Pro Bowl every year in NFL. Specializes in catching ball in tight situations and suffers (temporarily) every time for it.

ALTIE TAYLOR, RB, 5-10, 200, 4th Yr., Age 24, Utah State Lions' "other" running back who totaled over 700 yards last year. Shifty, speedy rusher who finished in ninth place in NFC for second straight season. Had first 100-yard-plus game last year versus Rams, week after running mate Owens did same thing against Denver.

WAYNE WALKER, LB, 6-2, 230, 15th Yr., Age 34, Idaho Club's star veteran who holds team record for most years (14) and most games played (186). Another complete season in 1972 would give him an even 200 games. A regular at right linebacker since sophomore season. Great competitor who keeps in fine shape all year-round.

One of Lions' fine offensive linemen who doesn't get noticed, but who does the job in All-Pro fashion game after game. Chuck is one of the guards, working next to All-Pro center Ed Flanagan. Lions feel his play is of same caliber, too.

LARRY WALTON, WR, 6-0, 180, 4th Yr., Age 25, Arizona State Equalled his 1970 mark of 30 receptions and five TDs last season. Has great speed and desire to become one of the best at his position. His 60-yard catch and run against Green Bay last year was a classic in broken-field running. Drafted third as running back.

MIKE WEGER, S, 6-2, 200, 6th Yr., Age 26, Bowling Green Young safetyman who has fine speed and knowledge of defensive game. Went 52 yards to score with fumble recovery last year against Atlanta. Scored once also in 1970 on intercepted pass for first touchdown as pro. Was track star in college.

Joe Schmidt Head Coach

Named head coach in January, 1967, after 13 years as a player and one year as an assistant coach with the Lions. Joined Detroit as a seventh round draft choice from the University of Pittsburgh in 1953 and became an all-time NFL great as a middle linebacker. Named to the All-NFL team eight times, played in ten Pro Bowl games. Retired after 1965 season and coached linebackers for Lions in 1966. Schmidt's regular season coaching record is 35-29-6 including a 9-4-1 mark in 1969 and a 10-4 finish in 1970 when the Lions bowed to NFC Champion Dallas 5-0 in the divisional playoffs. Only the 1962 team ever won more games in Detroit. Played fullback and later guard and linebacker at the University of Pittsburgh, captain in 1952 when he was named to several All-America teams. Played in the 1952 North-South and 1953 Senior Bowl games.

DETROIT-BIG PLAY

With big Greg Landry (No. 11) playing guarterback, the Detroit Lions actually have a three-man running attack. Landry, 6-4 and 210, is an accomplished ball-carrier who last season ran 76 times for 530 yards, a 7.0 per carry average and three touchdowns. The option play shown above is based on Landry's prowess as a runner and also on the inside threat posed by Steve Owens (No. 36), a powerful ball-carrier who gained over 1,000 vards in 1971. Landry's initial move after taking the snap from center is to fake a handoff to Owens, who heads off tackle. This fake is intended to pin down both the defensive left linebacker and the safetyman. Landry keeps the ball after faking to Owens and heads toward his right. As he moves down the line, he tries to determine what effect the fake has had on the defense. If the linebacker reacts to the inside. Greatries to get outside. If the linebacker doesn't take the fake, then the Detroit quarterback may decide to cut sharply and hit inside his tackle and tight end. Greg's ability to make these hair-trigger decisions is one of the chief reasons he gains so much vardage for the Lions, Running back Altie Taylor (No. 42), the top man in the Detroit I-formation shown here, bellies out toward the right sideline on a course roughly parallel to that taken by Landry. If nothing opens up for Greg, he has the option of turning and pitching the ball back to Taylor, who attempts to circle wide and make it around the corner. Then too, Landry can also dump a quick pass to his wide receiver, especially if the defensive halfback leaves the receiver and comes toward the line to make the play on Landry. This situation almost demands that Greg throw the ball. There has been some talk that the professionals will start experimenting with the Wishbone Offense made popular by the U. of Texas Longhorns - and if they do, Greg Landry of the Detroit Lions would appear to be a natural because of his running ability.

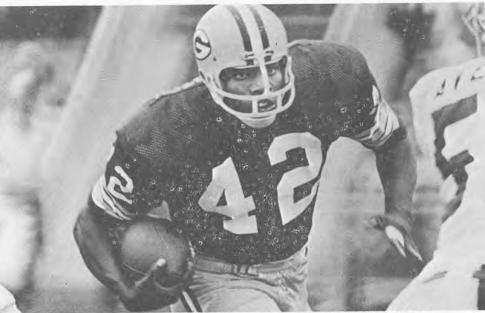

The Lions' defense braces for Kansas City assault. That's Joe Robb (84), Paul Naumoff (50) and Mike Lucci (53) on the move.

Quarterback Greg Landry has fine protection as he sets to deliver against the Los Angeles Rams.

GREEN BAY PACKERS

All-NFL as a rookie, John Brockington rushed for 1,105 yards to lead NFC, made Pro Bowl team. What does he do for an encore?

All Green Bay Packer football success is divided into three parts: Curly Lambeau, Don Hutson and Vince Lombardi. The Packers, only team fan-owned on a trust basis, hope that their victory pie of success deserves a fourth slice: Dan Devine.

Devine came from a highly successful reign at the University of Missouri to take over his home-state National Football League franchise which never performed under Phil Bengtson as it did under the late Lombardi.

Lambeau's founding reign resulted in the first three — based on won-lost records only — Packer NFL titles in 1929-'31. Then coach Lambeau, with Hall of Fame end Don Hutson setting records, won again in 1936, '39 and '44.

Lombardi arrived in 1959 and the title drought was soon over. The 1960 Packers lost in the NFL title game before he coached five NFL champions and won the first two Super Bowls.

Lombardi ran Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor to daylight in the beginning, but finished relying on a Starr named Bart to lead The Pack. Now Devine counts on young players. Titletown, U.S.A. again?

Green Bay Key Players

JOHN BROCKINGTON, RB, 6-1, 225, 2nd Yr., Age 24, Ohio St. You couldn't ask for a better rookie year . . . as Brockington won Rookie of the Year honors, made the All-NFL first-team, and Pro Bowl designation. Rushed for 1,105 yards to win the NFC rushing title. Has a great future in store for him.

BOB BROWN, DT, 6-5, 260, 7th Yr., Age 32, Arkansas A&M Signed as a free agent in 1966 after playing in Canada and in minor leagues. Since then, he has been a solid performer for the Pack, first at DE and now at DT. Very strong against the run, he's also an established pass-rusher as well.

FRED CARR, LB, 6-5, 238, 5th Yr., Age 26, Texas—El Paso A No. 1 draft choice in 1968, he started as a tight end, soon moved to linebacker and has improved each and every season. Great speed, agility and range, he's a hard-hitter who's done 4.6 in the 40. Excellent pass defender.

JIM CARTER, LB, 6-3, 235, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Minnesota Moved into MLB slot long inhabited by Ray Nitschke and has proven to be outstanding young player with unlimited potential. Solid hitter with fine speed, good range, he had one interception last year for 16 yards returned.

CARROLL DALE, WR, 6-2, 200, 13th Yr., Age 34, Virginia Tech Swift veteran receiver continues to be one of the best in the business. Came to Pack in '65 trade with Rams and has been solid player ever since. Led team again in '71 with 31 catches, 598 yards. Career mark now 409 receptions and 51 touchdowns.

KEN ELLIS, DB, 5-10, 190, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Southern U. Versatile performer had a fine year in 1971, leading Pack with six interceptions and in punt returns with 22 for a 4.4 average and 107 yards. Also returned a missed field goal 100 yards for a TD against Giants in season opener.

GALE GILLINGHAM, Guard, 6-3, 255, 7th Yr., Age 28, Minn. Considered one of the very best guards in pro football, he was named to the All-NFL team again in '71, also the Pro Bowl squad. A no. 1 draft choice in 1966, he was a fullback in college. Great blocker with speed to pull and lead runners.

DAVE HAMPTON, RB, 6-0, 210, 4th Yr., Age 25, Wyoming Was the No. 3 ranked kickoff return man in NFC last year with a 28.6 average, but led entire NFL in number of returns (46) and yardage (1314). Had a 90-yard TD return as well. Also rushed for 303 yards and a 4.5 average, scored four other TDs.

SCOTT HUNTER, QB, 6-2, 205, 2d Yr., Age 24, Alabama Heir-apparent to Bart Starr, he saw considerable action in '71 as a rookie QB after Starr suffered injury. Has good size, strong arm and improved each and every game. Finished with 75 completions for 1,210 yards and seven touchdowns.

MacARTHUR LANE, RB, 6-1, 220, 5th Yr., Age 30, Utah State Came to Pack in off-season trade with Cardinals for Donny Anderson. Big, strong running back had 592 yards rushing for St. Lou in '71 after big year in '70 when he had 977 rushing yards, 11 TDs. Also fine pass receiver, blocker.

MIKE McCOY, DT, 6-5, 285, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Notre Dame Powerful young lineman continues to get better with each season, looms as a future All-Pro prospect. Has great strength to go with imposing size and has fine speed and range for a big man. No. 1 draft choice in 1970.

RICH McGEORGE, TE, 6-4, 235, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Elon Moved into starting spot last year after reserve status as a rookie. A no. 1 draft choice of Packers, he turned out to be club's second leading receiver in '71 with 27 catches for 463 yards and four TDs. Fine speed, he's also solid blocker.

ALDEN ROCHE, DE, 6-4, 255, 3rd Yr., Age 27, Southern U. Came to Packers in trade with Denver for Don Horn prior to last season, promptly turned in outstanding year, winning team's MVP honors on defense. Big and strong, he has top speed and agility. An outstanding pass-rusher.

Dan Devine Head Coach

Named head coach and general manager of the Packers on January 14, 1971. A stern disciplinarian with 23 years of successful coaching experience, he had been head coach and athletic director at the University of Missouri for the previous 13 years where his teams had compiled a 93-37-7 record and played in six major bowl games. He holds to the no-nonsense approach in coaching and has long stressed fundamentals and strict conditioning. Devine believes in "owning the fourth quarter," and expects the Packers to rebound from 4-8-2 season record. As a collegian, he was captain and quarterback at the University of Minnesota (Duluth branch) where he also played baseball. Had two-plus years in the Army Air Force and in 1948 began his coaching career at East Jordan High School in Michigan where he had undefeated teams for two years. Moved on to Michigan State as an assistant in 1950, remaining there through 1954 when he was named head coach at Arizona State for the 1955 season.

GREEN BAY-BIG PLAY

Year in and year out, the Green Bay Packer off-tackle power play has been one of the game's most classic running maneuvers. Dating back to the late Vince Lombardi's days, it is a traditional play that employs speed, deception, instinct and massed blocking at the point of attack. Although the play is listed as an off-tackle play, the ball-carrier also has the option of taking it to the outside if the tackle lane is clogged. As shown in the diagram, the Packers line up with Scott Hunter (No. 16) at quarterback and Dave Hampton (No. 25) and John Brockington (No. 42) as the set (or running) backs. There is not a great deal of deception involved here. Hunter makes a regular pivot to his right and executes an underneath back handoff to Hampton. While this exchange is taking place in the backfield, left guard Gale Gillingham (No. 68) pulls out of the line up front and moves over to trap the defensive left end. If Gillingham can't make the trap block as diagrammed, he tries to "log" the defensive end to the inside, thus opening up an alley for Hampton on the outside. Green Bay's right tackle leaves the end for Gillingham and loops to his left to pick off the middle linebacker as he comes across to pursue the play. Brockington, a fine blocking back, runs interference for Hampton. He hits into the hole and drives at the feet of the strongside linebacker, trying to tie him up just long enough for Hampton to get past the danger point. If the linebacker fights the block and exerts pressure to the inside, Hampton must change course in one stride and head for his alternate outside route. He doesn't have a great deal of time to make this decision, either. He must take one quick look at Brockington's battle with the linebacker and instantly make up his mind which way to go. This is a "thinking man's" running play.

Mainstay of the Packers' defensive line is tackle Mike McCoy (76), a 285-pounder who gets better all the time.

Heir-apparent to Bart Starr, Scott Hunter (16) flashed great promise as a rookie last season.

LOS ANGELES RAMS

After two years as a reserve, Willie Ellison hit stardom in 1971, rushing for 1,000 yards and setting NFL one-game record of 247 vs. Saints.

ams' coach Tommy Prothro felt right at home at his 1971 home games. His UCLA teams of the previous six seasons also used the Coliseum.

It's almost like the arrival of the Rams in Los Angeles on Jan 12, 1946. That actually was a homecoming for passer Bob Waterfield. A month before, the rookie from UCLA had led the then-representatives of Cleveland to the National Football League title by tripping Washington.

Sunny California set attendance records and the Rams won their only NFL title in L.A. in 1951 on the arms of Waterfield and Norm Van Brocklin.

The Rams were famous for their wholesale trades, 11 players to Dallas in 1952 for rookie Les Richter, whose military obligations kept him from the Rams for two years, and nine players to the then-Chicago Cardinals in 1959 for back Ollie Matson.

After owner Dan Reeves, who died a couple of months later, fired coach George Allen the Rams again became wholesale traders — this time with the Washington Redskins, who had hired Allen. The starting Ram linebackers of 1970 were all sent to Washington along with four other Allen-oriented players, but Prothro got the youth, speed and slew of draft choices, and had a top year in 1971.

Los Angeles Key Players

COY BACON, DE, 6-4, 270, 5th Yr., Age 29, Jackson State Had best season ever last year, winning second team All-NFL designation. Came to Rams from Dallas for a draft choice and has improved yearly. Won team MVP defensive honors in '71, sacked opposing QBs 14 times by himself. Quick and strong.

CHARLIE COWAN, T, 6-4, 265, 12th Yr., Age 34, N.M. H'lands Solid veteran who can play either tackle position, he was named to several All-NFC first teams in '71. Third time he's been on the "All" teams, and he's also been a Pro Bowler four times. Has missed only two games in 11 years. Always tough.

WILLIE ELLISON, RB, 6-1, 200, 6th Yr., Age 26, Texas Southern After being a reserve for two years, he hit stardom as a starter in 1971, rushing for 1,000 yards, including 247 against New Orleans for a new alltime NFL one-game rushing record. Named to All-NFC team and to Pro Bowl. Has 9.7 speed.

ROMAN GABRIEL, QB, 6-4, 220, 11th Yr., Age 32, N. Car. State Despite a series of injuries last year, big strong QB had another fine campaign, ranking as the NFC's No. 5 passer. Always a tough competitor, he's the NFL's leader in lowest interception ratio. Has all of the Rams' career passing records already.

KEN IMAN, Center, 6-1, 240, 12th Yr., Age 33, S.E. Missouri Came to L.A. in trade with Packers in 1964, and has been a solid performer ever since. Now has a streak of 98 straight games going for him. Was named team's MVP offensive lineman in 1969. Outstanding blocker, fiery competitor.

TOM MACK, Guard, 6-3, 248, 7th Yr., Age 28, Michigan One of the best guards in pro football, as proven by his All-NFL honors in the past four years and five Pro Bowl designations in last six years. A no. 1 draft choice in 1966, he's been outstanding player right from the start.

MERLIN OLSEN, DT, 6-5, 270, 11th Yr., Age 32, Utah State A No. 1 draft choice in 1962, Olsen has been a star in every season he's played, winning All-League honors nine straight years and being named to the Pro Bowl 10 times in 10 years! Lone remaining member of original "Fearsome Foursome".

LANCE RENTZEL, WR, 6-2, 202, 8th Yr., Age 29, Oklahoma Came to Rams from Dallas in a trade last year, and promptly led L.A. in receiving with 38 catches for 534 yards and five touchdowns. Has fine moves, agility and speed, and his career totals are now 223 catches and 36 TDs scored.

ISIAH ROBERTSON, LB, 6-3, 225, 2d Yr., Age 23, Southern U. No. 1 draft choice had super rookie year, winning All-NFC honors as well as NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year. Named to Pro Bowl as well, he has a glittering future. Has speed, range, all kinds of ability. Intercepted four passes for 32 yards.

HARRY SCHUH, Tackle, 6-3, 260, 8th Yr., Age 29, Memphis St. Another fine trade by Rams brought Schuh from Oakland in 1971, and the veteran AFC All-Star stepped right in as strongside tackle and turned in outstanding performance. Underwent surgery on knee after season, but is expected to be back in top shape.

JOE SCIBELLI, Guard, 6-0, 255, 12th Yr., Age 33, Notre Dame Co-captain and leader of the Rams' offensive line, Joe had much to do with Rams' 2,142 yards rushing in 1971. Named team's MVP offensive lineman last year, for third time in past five seasons. 10th round draft choice, he's canny performer.

LARRY SMITH, RB, 6-3, 220, 4th Yr., Age 25, Florida A No. 1 draft choice in 1969, he's been a solid performer for Rams every season. Excellent pass receiver as well as runner and blocker, he had 404 yards rushing lst year. Now has 1,341 yards in three years, fine 4.1 rush average.

JACK SNOW, WR, 6-2, 190, 8th Yr., Age 29, Notre Dame Consistency and dependability best describe this veteran receiver who is among the most accomplished in the NFL. Rams' Rookie of Year in 1965 and a Pro Bowler in '67, he's now caught 266 passes for 4,687 yards and 35 touchdowns.

Tommy Prothro Head Coach

Appointed head coach of the Rams on January 2, 1971, after compiling a 104-55-5 record during 16 years as a college coach. Outstanding blocking back at Duke, 1938-'42. Entered college coaching immediately, joining staff at Western Kentucky, 1942. After three years in Navy, became assistant at Vanderbilt, 1946, under Red Sanders. Moved with Sanders to UCLA, 1949, as backfield coach. Accepted head coaching job at Oregon State, 1955, and became instant winner. His Beaver teams compiled 63-37-2 record in 10 years. Returned to UCLA as head coach, 1965, and led Bruins to first winning season since '61 (8-2-1) and 14-12 Rose Bowl victory over Michigan State. For that achievement he was named the American Football Coaches Association's Coach of the Year.

LOS ANGELES-BIG PLAY

Under former UCLA coach Tommy Prothro, the Los Angeles Rams have gradually changed from a club that had a tendency toward the unusual play to a team that strives for more conventional modes of attack, although Ram interest in the "big play" still exists. Prothro likes to give the defense many different formations to worry about, and one of these is the Stacked-I diagrammed here. Starting from the Stacked-I gives Los Angeles an edge since the defense, not knowing which side the strong point of the attack might be, is unable to over-shift prior to the snap. This keeps the defense "honest" and enables the Rams to hit quickly in any direction. Behind guarterback Roman Gabriel (No. 18) in the Los Angeles I formation are flanker Lance Rentzel (No. 19) and running backs Les Josephson (No. 34) and Larry Smith (No. 38). As Gabriel starts calling signals, Rentzel goes in motion to the right. But the defense can't be certain the play is headed that way since very often the Rams start their motion in the opposite direction of the play. At the snap, right quard Joe Scibelli (No. 71) pulls to his right and heads for the defensive corner linebacker. Rentzel also heads for the outside running lane, as does Josephson, the middle man in the Stacked-I. Gabriel pitches the ball back to Smith, who circles toward right end and times his upfield cut so that it coincides with the blocking patterns ahead of him. He doesn't want to get to the corner too soon for fear that his blockers will not have had time to clear the way; by the same token, he must not delay too long or the defensive men will shed the blocks and be waiting for him with open arms. It's a delicate situation that all top pro running backs must master if they hope to run wide. Prothro has made the Rams believe in the effectiveness of basic plays such as this end sweep from the I-formation. They may not be as spectacular as some of the old-time Los Angeles razzle-dazzle - but they work.

Here's a typical Ram power sweep as Willie Ellison (33), Tom Mack (65) and Joe Scibelli (71) lead Les Josephson on an expedition.

Quarterback Roman Gabriel is not only a superb passer, but a power runner as well, as seen here in this open field sprint.

MINNESOTA VIKINGS

The Vikings were first pro team to assume the name of a state and why not? The initial $1 million came from Minneapolis ($600,000), St. Paul ($300,000) and Duluth ($100,000). Buying into the National Football League for $600,000 on Jan. 28, 1960, the Vikings started NFL play in 1961 by shocking the Chicago Bears, 37-13.

That was the coaching debut of Norm Van Brocklin and the pro quarterbacking debut of Fran Tarkenton. That surprising marriage of Van's drop-back-thinking and Fran's scrambling performances resulted in a 1964 tie with the Green Bay Packers for second place in the Western Division.

Both asked out of the marriage one day apart in 1967. Fran went to the Giants and Bud Grant replaced Van Brocklin.

Grant drove the defenseminded Vikings to the 1969 NFL title on a Joe Kapp-inspired "40 for 60" slogan. Kapp departed for Boston and Gary Cuozzo was the 1970 quarterback of the still defense-dominated Vikings.

When Carl Eller, Alan Page and the rest of the Purple People Eaters turn the ball over to the Viking offense in 1972, it is expected that Tarkenton, who was traded to the Giants in 1967, will be the quarterback of the Vikings.

Minnesota Key Players

BOBBY BRYANT, DB, 6-1, 170, 5th Yr., Age 28, So. Carolina Slender and tough cornerback is a feisty player who has been solid defender, both as a tackler and pass coverage artist. Had three interceptions for 51 yards last season, best year was in 1969 when he pilfered eight.

FRED COX, Kicker, 5-10, 200, 10th Yr., Age 33, Pittsburgh Veteran kicker finished as No. 4 scorer in the NFC last year with 91 points, including 22 field goals. Solid kicker, he has twice led the NFL in scoring, including 1970 when he booted for 125 points. Now has over 800 points scored.

CARL ELLER, DE, 6-6, 265, 9th Yr., Age 30, Minnesota Perennial All-Pro has no peer at defensive end. Came back from knee surgery in 1967 to win All-NFL honors, Pro Bowl designation ever since. Masterful pass rusher either to outside or with inside rush. Great speed as well.

WALLY HILGENBERG, LB, 6-3, 232, 9th Yr., Age 30, Iowa Picked up in trade with Detroit in 1968, he's been a solid player ever since, working at outside linebacking slot. Big and tough, he's fine tackler in open field. Also intercepted two passes last year, same number as previous season.

CLINT JONES, RB, 6-0, 206, 6th Yr., Age 27, Michigan St. Swift and versatile running back led club in rushing last season with 675 yards, a fine 3.8 average and one 73-yard scoring burst. Also scored four touchdowns and had a 27.4 kickoff return average. Valuable performer.

PAUL KRAUSE, DB, 6-3, 195, 9th Yr., Age 30, lowa Became a Viking in trade with Redskins in 1968 and has been secondary mainstay ever since. He had six interceptions for 112 yards returned last year, now has amazing 52 interceptions in eight seasons. Led NFL with 12 as a rookie.

GARY LARSEN, DT, 6-5, 260, 9th Yr., Age 32, Concordia Another good Viking trade brought Larsen to Minnesota from the Rams where he's been a starter for six years. Versatile player can be used at any of front four spots, but gives solid strength in the middle against the run.

JIM MARSHALL, DE, 6-3, 260, 13th Yr., Age 34, Ohio State Defensive captain and leader has been solid man ever since coming to Vikings from Cleveland in 1961. Has been All-NFL, Pro Bowler, also an "iron man" with a streak of 170 straight games in the book. Can do it all.

DAVE OSBORN, RB, 6-0, 205, 8th Yr., Age 29, No. Dakota Tough, dependable back was sidelined for several games last year, still managed to score six touchdowns, run up 349 yards rushing and catch 25 passes for 195 more yards. Best year was 1967 when he rushed for 972 yards and a 4.5 average.

ALAN PAGE, DT, 6-4, 260, 6th Yr., Age 27, Notre Dame What more can you say about Page than to mention he was the NFL's Most Valuable Player in 1971?No. 1 draft choice, he's been starter and sensational performer ever since. Quick, strong, determined ... you name it, Page has got it.

FRAN TARKENTON, QB, 6-0, 190. 12th Yr., Age 32, Georgia The famed "Scrambler" returns to the Vikings after five years with the Giants. He's the No. 5 ranked passer of NFL history, now has 216 TD passes, 28,484 yards gained and is also one of the leading rushers.

GENE WASHINGTON, WR, 6-3, 220, 6th Yr., Age 28, Mich. St. Still a top threat despite only 12 receptions for 165 yards last season. No. 1 draft choice led team in receiving in 1970 with 44 catches for 702 yards and had 39 for 821 and nine TDs the year before. Big, fast and has good hands.

RON YARY, T, 6-6, 255, 5th Yr., Age 26, So. California Powerful offensive tackle was an All-NFL choice last year in several polls, a Pro Bowler too. Big, strong and far ranging, he is an outstanding blocker, either in protecting the passer or opening holes for those running backs.

Bud Grant Head Coach

Entering his sixth season as head coach of Vikings with a mark of 46 victories, 21 losses and 3 ties. His teams have won the NFC Central Division four straight years and won the NFL championship in 1969. Head coach at Winnipeg of the Canadian League for 10 years before joining Vikings in 1967. Grant's Winnipeg teams won five Western-Conference championships and four Grey Cup championships. Played for the Philadelphia Eagles 1951-'52 and ranked as No. 2 receiver in NFL in 1952. Played 1953-'46 with Winnipeg before being named head coach in 1957. Over the past two NFL seasons Grant's Vikings have won 24 games and lost 4. Attended University of Minnesota and was two-time All-Big Ten end. Won four letters in football, two in basketball (forward) and three in baseball (pitcher-outfielder).

MINNESOTA-BIG PLAY

Despite the return of quarterback Fran Tarkenton, pro football's chief exponent of the scramble and the razzle-dazzle play, the Minnesota Vikings of 1972 still figure to be a team that bases a large share of its offense on old-fashioned power running. Tarkenton may add dash and color to the Viking attack but coach Bud Grant, a strict conventionalist, will see to it that proven standby plays such as the off-tackle power run diagrammed on this page will constitute an important part of the overall offense. In Bill Brown (No. 30) and Dave Osborn (No. 41), Minnesota has two solid running backs who can also catch the ball and block for each other. They are not breakaway type backs, to be sure, but they get the Vikings those tough three and four yards, especially on this off-tackle thrust. As indicated in the accompanying diagram, the Vikings depend on three key blocks by linemen to set the stage for Osborn, led by Brown, getting through the off-tackle hole. Left guard Ed White (No. 62) pulls quickly at the snap and drives laterally down the line; when White reaches the hole, he turns upfield and looks for the nearest defender to block. Left tackle Ron Yary (No. 73) hits into the defensive end across from him and then loops sharply behind the defensive line in a move to seal off the middle linebacker as he pursues the play, Tight end John Beasley (No. 87) blocks down on the defensive end to keep him pinned while Yary spins off and looks for the linebacker, Brown, a solid 225-pound battering ram, hits into the off-tackle slot ahead of Osborn and tries to erase the corner linebacker from the scene. Osborn stays right on Brown's heels (this is teamwork developed over a period of years) and tries to determine which way the blocking pressure will go once he clears the line of scrimmage. Both backs must wait, however, until White, the left guard, has had time to pull from his position and reach the off-tackle area. They don't want to get there ahead of him.

Running back Clint Jones (26) uses "tag-along" interference from guard Ed White (62) vs. Patriots.

Kickoff return specialist Charlie West (40) starts TD return against New Orleans.

League, there is one that stands defiantly out of reach, a record of such majestic proportions that, in the opinion of football men, it will never be approached let alone equalled. This is the mark of 12,312 yards rushing by Jim Brown, former Cleveland Browns fullback.

Such were the dimensions of Brown's achievements that today, seven years after his retirement, he still towers over any other back who ever carried the ball in the NFL.

Jim was not a warm person, nor was he popular with most people. But he commanded universal respect as a football player, which is all he ever asked.

Even at this distant point in time, Jim Brown's remarkable accomplishments boggle the mind: nine times he led the NFL in rushing, five of these seasons (1957-61) in succession. Seven times he rushed for over 1,000 yards in a season, including the all-time record of 1,863 yards in 1963. Four times he ran for over 200 yards in a single game, and 58 times he topped the 100-yard mark in one afternoon. His career rushing average of 5.22 is the best ever, as are his 106 touchdowns rushing. He had the most career carries (2,359) and the most one-season attempts (305) in 1961.

Brown's true greatness as a runner is difficult to measure because few players in NFL history have come close enough to his performance to even provide a meaningful yardstick. He stands quite alone in the record book.

For example, ex-Green Bay great Jim Taylor, No. 2 man on the all-time rushing list, finished his 10-year career with 8,597 yards, 3,715 yards behind Brown, who played only nine campaigns. The third all-time rusher, Joe Perry of San Francisco, gained 8,378 yards in 14 NFL seasons and John Henry Johnson, in fourth place, was credited with 6,803 yards in 13 years, 5,509 behind Brown.

What of the current crop of NFL running backs? Are any of them capable of scaling the summit?

Most football men polled by The Illustrated Digest of Pro Football don't think so. Chicago's Gale Savers might have had a run at it but three crippling knee injuries have eliminated him as a threat to Brown's records, Leroy Kelly, Brown's successor at Cleveland, is one of the two active players on the Top Ten rushing list but in his case too, injuries are likely to keep him from the record. Kelly had rushed for 6,074 yards through the 1971 season; that means he needs another 6,000 but, at 30 years of age and with legs that have been badly battered, the Cleveland star seems to have lost his chance.

Floyd Little of Denver, Larry Brown of Washington, Ron Johnson of the Giants and Duane Thomas of Dallas are explosive runners among contemporary ballcarriers but they seem to lack the size and stamina it would take to surpass Brown's totals, Larry Csonka of Miami, Steve Owens of Detroit and Ken Willard of San Francisco are power runners capable of hitting 1,000 yards a season but none has the breakaway speed that would be needed to reach the 12,000-yard plateau. Brown often turned five-yard gains into 60-yard scoring runs with his sheer explosiveness, Csonka, Owens and Willard are more the grind-it-out type.

Conditions Differ

The conditions that contributed to Brown's numerous records may never again be the same. He played nine tough seasons, averaging almost 20 carries a game, and yet he was injured just once! He played under two coaches, Paul Brown and Blanton Collier, who believed in a controlled. disciplined offense based on strong running and team blocking. This offense was built around Brown and was designed to make the most of his extraordinary skills. He was often given the opportunity to carry the ball when accepted strategy called for a pass. He was a powerful, tireless workhorse, almost a machine, who wore down and outlasted his enemies on the gridiron.

As one NFL coach says, "No one will ever appreciate what it meant to Paul Brown and Collier to have a guy like Jim playing every minute of every game, never missing time because of injuries. That fact in itself was worth a few hundred extra yards a year."

Brown had a running style that helped him avoid injury. He seldom crashed head-on into rival tacklers, nor did he take hard shots from the side. He had a way of sliding through a hole in the line, rarely giving the defense anything more than a limp thigh to grab hold of. He was a master at turning his huge 230-pound body at just the proper angle to deflect the full impact of a tackle. In the open field, where he built up momentum with his amazing speed, it was usually the defensive man who took the full force of the collision. By contrast, Jim Taylor of Green Bay was a back-alley kind of fullback who preferred to muscle his way past tacklers rather than avoid them. As he once remarked, "I like to sting 'em a little." This was okay but, in the end, the punishment took its toll of Taylor and forced him out of the game.

It would be foolish, of course, to maintain that Brown was not hurt during his career; no one, especially a ball-carrier, plays pro football without getting banged up. But Brown shook off routine hurts and played despite them. He possessed fierce pride in his durability and this pride kept him playing when another back might have sought refuge on the bench, or in the training room.

Only once in his playing days was Brown actually put out of commission. That was at Yankee Stadium in 1961 when Giant line-backer Sam Huff, an old adversary, knocked him groggy in the second period. Jimmy was taken to the Cleveland bench and was seen inhaling oxygen to clear his head as the half ended. In the third period, he was back in the lineup.

The Giants, incidentally, had more success stopping Brown than any other NFL club, although Jimmy also had some great days against the New Yorkers, too. In 1958, the year of the famed "sudden death" title game with Baltimore, the Giants beat Cleveland twice over the final two weeks of the season (one being the eastern division playoff) and in one of these crucial contests Huff and Co. limited the Cleveland fullback to 12 yards in 11 carries!

Handful of Plays

For the most part, though, Jimmy Brown was good for 100 yards or more a game, even with rival defenses keying on his every move. There wasn't anything particularly tricky or deceptive about the Cleveland offense in those years, Brown ran only a handful of plays from one game to the next and three of these, the quick opener up the middle, the off-tackle power slant and the end sweep, were basic elements of the Browns' attack, Cleveland operated on the theory of simplicity and massed blocking along the line of scrimmage. The idea was to put as many bodies as possible in front of Jim Brown, and let him do the rest. The big fullback also was a threat as a pass receiver although this part of his game was often overlooked, as was his role as a blocker.

Brown was more than a power runner. He had a natural instinct for judging his blockers and for "reading" the reaction of the defense, and he employed several different speeds to put himself into the best running lanes. It was a sense of timing that is possessed by all great running backs: when to turn upfield, when to hesitate, when to take it back to the inside, when to accelerate. Jimmy could do it all, sliding, drifting, angling back against the flow, always in control of his movements, always ready to explode through an opening or up the sideline. It would be incorrect to describe him as graceful, and yet there was a beautiful animalistic rhythm to his running style.

What will it take to erase Jim Brown's 12,312 yards from the NFL record book? It will take a superb athlete, a back big and strong enough to withstand the weekly pounding and yet quick enough to gain big yardage on breakaway runs. It will take a coach whose philosophy is based on the creed of "run first, pass second" and a team blessed with consistently strong blocking up front. It will take, finally, the same incredible luck that Brown had in avoiding injury. This is undoubtedly the key. If any present running backsomeone like Ron Johnson or Duane Thomas-is to make a serious bid for the record he'd have to carry the ball 20-25 times a game and go the distance in all 14 games each season. He'd have to absorb the terrible beatings from defensive tackles and rugged linebackers, and come back for more. He'd have to shoulder the burden of his team's running attack and not wilt under the pressure of total responsibility. He'd have to maintain a calm and detached attitude and not let raw emotion dull his abilities: in a sense he'd have to be almost a flesh and blood robot, a running machine. imperturbable and indestructible.

It could be, in the expert opinion of some NFL insiders, that the game itself has changed to the point where the very nature of present-day defenses would preclude any one man being able to dominate things the way Brown did in the late 1950s and early 1960s.

As one pointed out: "Defensive linemen and linebackers are getting bigger and faster all the time. The pursuit today is better than it was even a few years ago. Offensive units are not controlling the ball as effectively as Cleveland did in Brown's time. There is more emphasis on the forward pass today."

All of which conspires against anyone ever beating Jimmy Brown's rushing records.

NEW ORLEANS SAINTS

Rookie quarterback Archie Manning was plagued by injuries last year, but still showed flashes which promise future stardom.

The instant tradition of the Saints has been one of excitement. From the opening kickoff of 1967 to the four solid victories in 1971, the Saints have been a team worth New Orleans' blowing its own horn about.

Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung had finished 1966 in the Super Bowl as Green Bay Packers. When the Saints opened their first camp, there was Taylor, an LSU great come home, and an ailing Hornung, who retired to a brief spell as a coach because he could never play as a Saint.

The home opener of the $8.5 million franchise was Mardi Gras in September as 80,879 watched John Gilliam race 94 yards with the opening kickoff. The Rams beat the Saints, 27-13, that day but left their eardrums in New Orleans.

When Roberts took over from Tom Fears, the Saints were not marching anywhere. They won only his first game as head coach for Roberts, but the way they did it is historic. With two seconds to play against the playoff-bound Detroit Lions, Tom Dempsey chugged onto the field and kicked an NFL record 63-yard field goal for a 19-17 win and hysteria reigned.

Now the excitement is expected from quarterback Archie Manning, the No. 1 Saint draftee, who had played in the Sugar Bowl as a visitor during his three sensational years at Mississippi.

New Orleans Key Players

DAN ABRAMOWICZ, WR, 6-1, 195, 6th Yr., Age 27, Xavier Led Saints in receiving for fifth straight year in 1971, grabbing 37 passes, including five for touchdowns. Clever receiver has now caught at least one pass in 64 straight games for Saints. Has high average-per-catch totals.

CHARLIE DURKEE, K, 5-11, 165, 4th Yr., Age 28, Okla. State Joined Saints as a free agent last year after earlier being with the club in 1967-68. Came out of retirement after trials with Oilers and Packers and led Saints in scoring with 72 points, including 16 of 23 field goal attempts. Kicked five FGs one game.

JULIAN FAGAN, Punter, 6-3, 205, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Mississippi After leading the NFC with a 42.5 average in 1970 as a rookie, he dipped slightly to a 41.4 average last year, but continues to be a highly dependable booter. He's punted 77 times in each of his two campaigns for Saints' team marks.

BOB GRESHAM, RB, 5-11, 193, 2d Yr., Age 24, West Virginia A No. 8 draft choice last year, Bob carried only once in pre-season play, then came on to be a big contributor during regular season with 383 yards rushing, six TDs scored, and 17 pass receptions. Durable, slashing type of runner.

EDD HARGETT, QB, 5-11, 190, 4th Yr., Age 25, Texas A&M Stepped into action when Archie Manning was hurt and turned in outstanding performance, completing 96 of 210 passes for 1,191 yards and six touchdowns. He's got a live arm and a keen knowledge of game, plus durability.

HUGO HOLLAS, DB, 6-1, 190, 3rd Yr., Age 26, Rice Won the free safety spot and proved to be a strong defender, and outstanding on the safety blitz. Can also double as a punt returner. Intercepted five passes last year, the same number he picked off in rookie year of 1970.

JAKE KUPP, Guard, 6-3, 248, 9th Yr., Age 31, Washington Voted team's MVP last year, the veteran lineman is the club's offensive captain and leader. Originally a tight end with Dallas, he was also with Redskins for awhile, but has been outstanding guard for Saints. Pro Bowl in 1970.

ARCHIE MANNING, QB, 6-3, 205, 2d Yr., Age 23, Mississippi Suffered assortment of injuries in his rookie campaign, and hobbled by thigh problem, he nonetheless proved that he has great future. Completed 86 passes for 1,164 yards and six TDs, rushed for 172 yards, scored four more TDs.

DON MORRISON, T, 6-5, 255, 2nd Yr., Age 22, Texas-Arlington No. 4 draft choice who came to camp and won himself a starting job at offensive left tackle. Big, strong and raw-boned, he improved with every game against tough defensive ends and seems to have an excellent future with Saints.

RICHARD NEAL, DE, 6-3, 255, 4th Yr., Age 24, Southern U. Named defensive captain last year, he played in all of the games, despite a recurring ankle injury, giving 100% effort at all times. Outstanding pass rusher with speed, agility and toughness. Should become a real standout.

DAVE PARKS, TE, 6-2, 205, 9th Yr., Age 30, Texas Tech Veteran receiver who was twice an All-NFL selection with San Francisco, he's still a solid performer. Caught 35 passes for 568 yards and five touchdowns last season, still a clutch player. Had 80 catches, led NFL in '64.

BOB POLLARD, DT, 6-3, 245, 2d Yr., Age 23, Weber State Won a spot on league's All-Rookie team last year, thanks to winning a starting role right from the start of the training camp after being drafted No. 11. Very strong against the run, he'll be a good pass rusher too.

JIM STRONG, RB, 6-1, 205, 3rd Yr., Age 25, Houston Picked up on waivers from San Francisco last year, he played all 14 games for Saints and led the club in rushing with 404 yards and a 4.3 average, also grabbed 16 passes, scored three TDs. Fine blocker and solid competitor.

J. D. Roberts Head Coach

Appointed head coach of New Orleans on November 3, 1970, succeeding Tom Fears. Saints finished the season with a 2-11-1 record, winning one of seven games under Roberts last year, upped mark to 4-8-2. Served as assistant coach New York Jets 1969 and '70 until assuming present position. Played guard for the Hamilton Tiger Cats of the Canadian Football Leagues in 1954. All America guard at University of Oklahoma 1953, third year as a starter. Served in Marine Corps 1955-'56 and played for Quantico Marines. Assistant coach at University of Denver 1957, Oklahoma 1958-'59, U.S. Naval Academy 1960, Auburn 1961, University of Houston 1962-'64. Born October 24, 1932, Oklahoma City, Okla. Given name is John David, but prefers J.D.

NEW ORLEANS-BIG PLAY

The New Orleans Saints, following the trend set by many other NFL clubs, are going more and more to the sprint-out series on offense and, in young Archie Manning, the former Ole Miss All-American, they have a big, strong quarterback who can make this kind of an attack click for big yardage. Manning, a product of the sprint-out series in college football, can run as well as he can pass. At 6-3 and 205, he is rugged enough to take the physical punishment that inevitably overtakes quarterbacks who run the ball in the NFL. The Saints' sprint-out pass play diagrammed on this page is typical of the kind of stuff that Manning does very well. The New Orleans quarterback, who wears No. 18, has two options on the sprint-out: he can throw the ball to flanker Dan Abramowicz (No. 46) or he can keep it and run for the vardage himself. What he does is determined by the reaction of the strongside linebacker. The Saints try to get the linebacker to cover running back Hoyle Granger (No. 40), who fakes a block on the linebacker and then squares out toward the sideline as a potential receiver. If the linebacker goes with Granger, he takes himself out of the play and leaves Manning plenty of running room to the inside. If, on the other hand, he stays put and blocks Manning's path - well, Archie can easily dump the ball to the unquarded Granger in the flat zone. Likewise, if the defensive halfback who is covering Abramowicz makes a move to force the run - that is, if he comes toward the line of scrimmage to try and tackle Manning - Manning can throw quickly to Abramowicz behind the defender. Should Abramowicz be covered, the Saints' quarterback can look left and try to hit his split left end who runs a delay pattern and then cuts across the middle of the secondary to give Manning a good passing plane.

Veteran receiver Al Dodd heads upfield for yardage in upset victory over Dallas Cowboys.

Running back Bob Gresham finds daylight and cuts for good gain against Oakland Raiders. Saints tied Raiders 21-21 in this one.

NEW YORK GIANTS

The key to Giant comeback hopes in 1972 is the return of star running back Ron Johnson. Here's Ron charging against Washington.

Then the late Tim Mara invested $2,500 in a National Football League franchise in 1925, he laid the family foundation for the future. With the Mara family, football is not a sideline or a pastime, but rather a fulltime business. This business-like approach has resulted in the Giants appearing in 14 title games, more than any other NFL team.

Founder Mara is in the Hall of Fame along with coach Steve Owen, and players Mel Hein, Emlen Tunnell, Y.A. Tittle, Andy Robustelli and Ken Strong, the hero when the Giants wore speakers as snowshoes to beat the Chicago Bears, 30-13, in 1934 for their first of three NFL titles.

The last Giant title game appearance also was against the Bears. That was in 1963. Since then, the Giants first hit the skids and then started the long climb back. In 1970, they finally went better than .500 for the first time in seven seasons with a 9-5 record after throwing away their first few games.

Alex Webster, the former star running back, has turned into a strong leader as a head coach and the Giants are planning innovations for 1972 with a young and hustling team.

New York Key Players

JIM FILES, LB, 6-4, 240, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Oklahoma No. 1 draft choice in 1970, he made a successful switch from MLB to the outside in 1971 and continues to be one of finest young linebackers in the league. Big, strong with fine range, he has a fine future. Had one interception in '71.

PETE GOGOLAK, Kicker, 6-1, 190, 9th Yr., Age 29, Cornell As Giant fortunes dropped last year, so did Gogolak's kicking record, but when he has the opportunities, Pete is one of premier kickers in the game. Had club record 107 points in 1970 when he kicked 25 field goals.

BOB GRIM, WR, 6-0, 200, 6th Yr., Age 27, Oregon State Outstanding receiver came to Giants in off-season trade with Vikings. Had 45 catches last season for Vikes, also named to Pro Bowl team and scored a TD in that game. Good speed, he can also double as return man.

DON HERRMANN, WR, 6-2,205, 4th Yr., Age 25, Waynesburg St. Hampered by injuries in 1971, Herrmann when he's healthy is as fine a receiver as anyone. Has outstanding moves, can catch the ball in a crowd and is a solid third-down target. Despite missing several games, he had 27 catches for 297 yards.

RON HORNSBY, LB, 6-3, 232, 2d Yr., Age 22, S.E. Louisiana Had solid rookie year as MLB, gaining a spot on the NFC's All-Rookie team. Big, strong and tough, he's a deadly tackler and improved with each and every game. Most observers agree that he has a really outstanding future.

BOB HYLAND, C-G, 6-5, 255, 6th Yr., Age 27, Boston College Came to Giants in trade with Bears and stepped in as a starting guard, logging more playing time than any other Giant. No. 1 draft choice of Packers in 1967, later was starting center for Bears. Can play either spot . . . and extremely well.

RANDY JOHNSON, QB, 6-3, 205, 7th Yr., Age 28, Texas A & I Moves in as No. 1 quarterback with Tarkenton traded to Vikings. Former Falcon started last game of 1971, set one-game NFC highs for season with 30 completions, 372 yards gained. Strictly a pocket passer, he has rifle arm, fine poise.

RON JOHNSON, RB, 6-1, 205, 4th Yr., Age 24, Michigan Sat out all but two games in 1971 with thigh and knee injuries. and his absence obviously was felt. All-NFL in 1970, he rushed for 1,027 yards that year, made Pro Bowl team too. Recovered now, he's rated one of top all-around backs in the NFL.

CARL LOCKHART, DB, 6-2, 175, 8th Yr., Age 29, No. Texas St. Defensive captain rates among top free safeties in pro football. Can do it all . . . hard-hitting tackler, despite size, fine punt return man, reserve punter. Twice in the Pro Bowl, he has a career total of 32 interceptions, two returned for TDs.

NORM SNEAD, QB, 6-4, 215, 12th Yr., Age 33, Wake Forest Came to Giants in off-season trade with Vikings and gives club solid, experienced quarterback. Former Redskin and Eagle now ranks No. 6 among active NFC passers with 1,722 completions, 24,448 yards and 158 touchdowns. Has plenty of poise.

BOB TUCKER, TE, 6-3, 230, 3rd Yr., Age 26, Bloomsburg State One of biggest Giant "finds" ever. Signed as free agent two years ago after being in minor leagues, he had 40 catches as a rookie, then won the NFC pass-receiving title in 1971 with 59 catches, 791 yards, four TDs. First tight end to win it.

WILLIE WILLIAMS, DB, 6-0, 190, 8th Yr., Age 29, Grambling Tough little cornerback has been the Giants' top pass interceptor in recent seasons. Had five steals for 58 yards in 1971, led the NFL with 10 swipes in 1968. Now has a career total of 27. Solid tackler too.

WILLIE YOUNG, Tackle, 6-0, 265, 7th Yr., Age 29, Grambling Steady and dependable, he's been a fine player ever since being signed as a free agent. Started as offensive guard, then switched to tackle. Not very tall, but he is extremely strong and quick and gets the job done.

Alex Webster Head Coach

Took over as head coach of the Giants one week before the 1969 regular season opened and directed New York to three victories in its first four games and a 6-8 season record and second place in the Eastern Conference's Capitol Division; 9-5 record in 1970 was good for second place in NFC's Eastern Division. Webster joined the Giants' staff in 1967 and served two seasons as offensive backfield assistant before assuming the head coaching position. An All-Southern Conference runner at North Carolina State, Webster was drafted by Washington for 1953 but played instead for Montreal in the Canadian League in 1953-'54. In 1955, Webster joined the Giants and was an outstanding runner while playing on New York's 1956'NFL championship team and Eastern Division champion teams in 1956-'58-'59-'61-'62-'63. He still holds three Giant records—most rushing attempts (1,213), most rushing yards (4,805), and most touchdowns rushing (39).

GIANTS-BIG PLAY

The New York Giants' running game suffered drastically in 1971 because of the absence of All Pro Ron Johnson, who was sidelined most of the year with knee and thigh ailments. But the Giants are looking for a resurgence of their ground attack this season now that Johnson is back in top form. The ex-Michigan All-American is the kind of a back who can turn a routine five-yard gain into a breakaway touchdown gallop, and for this reason the Giants try to spring Ron into the open as often as possible. The play shown here, an end sweep off the Stacked-I formation, is an example of such a maneuver. Johnson (No. 30) is the deep man in the I with second-year man Charlie Evans (No. 31) as the near back. And Evans plays a key role in the success of the play. First he must make the fake from quarterback Randy Johnson (No. 11) look realistic. Second, he must throw a key block on the defensive left tackle, freeing guard Doug Van Horn (No. 63) to pull out of the line, along with tackle Joe Taffoni (No. 72), and lead the interference for Johnson on the outside. After making the inside fake to Evans. Johnson takes another step into the backfield and pitches the ball to Johnson. This is the crucial part of the play. Ron must bide his time and not make his cut upfield until Van Horn, Taffoni and the other blockers have had a chance to carry out their assignments ahead of him. A premature cut on this kind of a play often spoils the cohesion of the men up front. Once Johnson sees that the defenders have been sealed to the inside, opening the outside running lane to him, he accelerates and turns upfield. He is not, however, committed to the outside course. If the defense has succeeded in staying outside the play, Ron has the option of veering to the inside and cutting back against the flow, something he does as well as any running back in the game today.

A find last year for the Giants was running back Charlie Evans, a tough, hard-hitting back. Here's Charlie working against the Colts.

Smooth is the word for wide receiver Don Herrmann who shows his form here to a pair of Dallas Cowboys.

PHILADELPHIA EAGLES

Off to open space is swift Eagles' running back Lee Bouggess against the Cardinals with Chuck Walker (79) in hot pursuit.

Eagles are supposed to fly, but the Philadelphia variety actually rode Vans on their title trips.

The team which the late Bert Bell formed 13 years before he became National Football League Commissioner in 1946 was led by Steve Van Buren to three divisional and two NFL titles in the 1940s and by Norm Van Brocklin to the 1960 NFL title.

Van Buren ran and Tommy Thompson passed the '48 and '49 Eagles to titles with choice rookie Chuck Bednarik getting the title taste in 1949 that he was not to know again until he supported Van Brocklin in the 17-13 thriller by playing 58 minutes at both center and linebacker as the last of the two-way stars.

The Eagles have twice switched owners and three times changed coaches since that last title game. Present coach Ed Khayat came on at midyear, had his hirsute players visit the barbers and turned his club into a winning and tough team. Perhaps the Eagles are on the way back for 1972.

Philadelphia Key Players

LEE BOUGGESS, RB, 6-2, 210, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Louisville No. 3 draft pick in 1970, he had a highly promising rookie campaign, rushing for 401 yards and adding another 401 yards on pass receptions. Hampered by injuries last year, he still had 262 yards rushing. Good speed, and a fine receiver.

BILL BRADLEY, DB, 6-0, 180, 4th Yr., Age 25, Texas The NFL's interception champion in 1971 with 11, he was also named to the All-NFL team and to the Pro Bowl. A highly versatile player who is also an outstanding punt return man and a leftfooted punter. A QB in college.

Sales of the sales

HAROLD CARMICHAEL, WR, 6-8, 225, 2nd Yr., Age 23, S'ern. Big and swift, he was the Eagles' No. 7 draft choice last year and proved to be a valuable addition until a knee injury knocked him out of action midway through the year. Had 20 catches for 288 yards before injury. Great potential has this young man.

TOM DEMPSEY, Kicker, 6-1, 250, 4th Yr., Age 25, Palomar J.C. Signed as free agent for final five games last year and promptly kicked 12 of 17 field goal attempts, including 54, 52 and 50-yarders, the first-mentioned being a club record. Holds NFL record 63-yard FG for New Orleans in 1970. Powerful kickoff man too.

RICHARD HARRIS, DE, 6-5, 260, 2d Yr., Age 24, Grambling Eagles' No. 1 draft choice last year, he moved right into a starting role as a rookie and turned out to be a prize performer. Named to NFL All-Rookie team, he has amazing agility and speed for such a big man. Considered a sure-fire All-Pro in next few years.

BEN HAWKINS, WR, 6-1, 180, 7th Yr., Age 28, Arizona State Swift veteran receiver nicknamed the "Hawk", and with good reason. Caught 37 passes for 650 yards last year, scored five TDs, now has career totals of 225 receptions for 4,138 yards and 32 TDs scored. No. 3 draft choice in 1966, trademark is his dangling chin strap.

WADE KEY, Tackle, 6-5, 245, 3rd Yr., Age 25, S'west Texas St. A No. 13 draft choice in 1969, he spent that season playing in the minor leagues, but came back in 1970 to win a starting job and a berth on the NFL All-Rookie team. Improved even more last year, he's very quick, strong and agile. Has best years in front of him.

LEROY KEYES, DB, 6-3, 208, 4th Yr., Age 25, Purdue No. 1 draft choice in 1969 after All-American career, he was laid low with serious achilles tendon injury which required surgery in 1970, but made great comeback last season at strong safety. Intercepted six passes for 31 yards returned, sparkled every game.

PETE LISKE, QB, 6-2, 195, 9th Yr., Age 30, Penn State Obtained in trade with Denver prior to 1971, he finished strongly as Eagles won six and tied one in last nine games. Completed 143 of 269 passes for 1,957 yards and 11 touchdowns. Also spent some time in Canada, winning MVP of Canadian League with Calgary in 1967.

AL NELSON, DB, 6-0, 190, 8th Yr., Age 29, Cincinnati Dependable veteran cornerback had two interceptions in 1971, including one return for a TD, to run career mark to 13. Holds NFL record for return of a missed field goal (101 yards for a TD against Dallas). Also a sure tackler in the open field.

MEL TOM, DE, 6-4, 250, 6th Yr., Age 31, San Jose State Drafted as a future choice on the 6th round of the 1967 draft, he made the NFL's All-Rookie team in his first season and has improved yearly. Also Eagles MVP on defense in his second year. Extremely agile, he's a former college basketabll letterman.

TOM WOODESHICK, RB, 6-0, 215, 10th Yr., Age 31, West Va. Plagued by injuries in recent years, he's still one of the game's premier fullbacks when healthy. Eagles' leading rusher 1967-69, and a former Pro Bowl selection. Best year was 1968 when he rushed for 947 yards. Career totals now at 3,563 yards.

STEVE ZABEL, LB-TE, 6-4, 240, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Oklahoma A No. 1 draft choice as a tight end in 1970, he moved to a starter's role as a linebacker last year and turned in a top job. Still used as tight end on occasion, he caught two TD passes last year. Has outstanding potential.

Eddie Khayat Head Coach

As a defensive lineman in the National Football League for 10 seasons, Edward Michel Khayat was never blessed with the extraordinary size and talent of some of his contemporaries. If he had been so gifted, they might be readying a corner of the Pro Football Hall of Fame in his honor. For Khayat approached his football playing days the only way he knows how—straight ahead and with 100% dedication. Those same traits served him well in his first season as head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles—the first head coaching venture of his career. Khayat, a graduate of Tulane University, began coaching with the New Orleans Saints after a playing career that saw him spend six seasons with the Eagles, three with the Washington Redskins and one with the Boston Patriots. He was a defensive starter on Philadelphia's 1960 world championship team. Under current Eagles' assistant Tom Fears, Ed spent four years coaching the New Orleans Saints defensive line.

PHILADELPHIA-BIG PLAY

There is a time for deception in pro football and there is also a time for good old-fashioned power blocking - nothing fancy, no frills, just raw power at the point of attack. The Philadelphia Eagles subscribe to this theory with their strong I-formation running attack. The accompanying diagram depicts one of their favorite maneuvers, a quick-hitting inside play that depends not on deception but rather on timing and on massed blocking in the guard-tackle hole. Quarterback Pete Liske (No. 14) has three men stacked up in the I-formation behind him - Gary Ballman (No. 85), Lee Bouggess (No. 46) and Al Davis (No. 43). Ballman, normally a flanker or a tight end, starts in motion to the left as Liske calls signals. This tactic is designed to spread the defense and to occupy one of the linebackers. They can't afford to ignore a receiver of Gary's known talents. Key cross blocks are executed up front by guard Mark Nordquist (No. 68) and tackle Steve Smith (No. 74) against the defensive tackle and end. As soon as the Eagle lineman have made contact and driven their men out of the way, Bouggess races into the hole. His assignment is to clear the line ahead of the ball-carrier, Davis, and block the first defender he meets. As Davis takes the handoff from Liske, he must quickly size up the situation in front of him. In particular, he must watch Bouggess carefully and make his open-field cut based on where Lee throws his block. If Bouggess seals off the middle linebacker, for example, then the ball-carrier must make tracks for the outside; if, on the other hand, Bouggess is forced to drive the safetyman to the outside, Davis will make his break to the inside area.

The Eagles' leading rusher last year was the veteran Ron Bull, shown here in action against Washington.

The NFL's leading interceptor with 11 in 1971 was Bill Bradley . . . returning a theft here against Dallas.

SAN FRANCISCO 49ers

Swift running back Vic Washington finds running room and romps against San Diego. Vic rushed for 811 vards for 49ers in 1971.

t took the football-type 49ers 21 seasons to strike gold in the form of a National Football League Western Division title and they don't expect that to ever happen again.

The history of frustration ended one game short of the Super Bowl the last two years. John Brodie is the latest in a line of excellent 49er quarterbacks. These include lefthanded Frankie Albert and new Hall of Famer Y.A. Tittle. But no matter how often Brodie passed proficiently for the 49ers, he never had the supporting cast — until last year to bring a title home to the team which the Morabito family first into the Allbrought

American Conference and then into the NFL.

Dick Nolan was a near-unanimous choice as Coach of the Year and Brodie a near-unanimous choice as Player of the Year in 1970. It was like the days when Norm Standlee, Leo Nomellini, Hugh McElhenny, Gordy Soltau and Joe (The Jet) Perry were the toasts of San Francisco. Only this time it was different. The 1970 49ers had a title to call their own.

The 1972 49ers will try for bigger titles and will be doing it in new surroundings. Archaic Kezar Stadium is a place of the past. The 49ers moved into Candlestick Park, which has artificial turf beneath a real football team.

San Francisco Key Players

CAS BANASZEK, Tackle, 6-3, 250, 5th Yr., Age 26, N'western Expert, effective offensive tackle now reckoned as one of the best in his fifth season. Outstanding pass blocker. First-round choice prior to the 1967 season, but as a linebacker. Sat out his first year with an injury, but moved in as starting tackle in 1968, has become a mainstay at the position.

FORREST BLUE, Center, 6-5, 261, 5th Yr., Age 27, Auburn Forty Niner coaches believe he is the best center playing, and the fact that he was All-NFL and All-NFC on most selections last season bears them out. Strong, agile and fast, Blue has become a nemesis to middle linebackers. Was 49ers' No. 1 draft choice prior to the 1968 season.

JOHN BRODIE, QB, 6-1, 203, 16th Yr., Age 37, Stanford Regarded by many as the NFL's most polished quarterback, Brodie has now led the 49ers to two consecutive NFC Western Division titles and two consecutive first game playoff wins only to have both Super Bowl drives stopped short by the Dallas Cowboys. He was pro football's "Player of the Year" in 1970.

CEDRICK HARDMAN, DE, 6-3, 255, 3rd Yr., Age 24, N. Tex. St. Became a starter in his second season, finished a highly-successful year with his first appearance as a starter for the NFC in the Pro Bowl. Led improved 49er pass rush by personally "sacking" opponent QBs 18 times over the season. Great speed and strength are his main assets.

JIMMY JOHNSON, CB, 6-2, 185, 12 Yr., Age 34, UCLA Was a unanimous All-Pro choice fo; the third consecutive year after the 1971 season, much of which he played with a broken wrist. Started for the NFC in the season-ending Pro Bowl. Rates as the premier corner back in the game, opposing QBs seldom test him.

CHARLIE KRUEGER, DT, 6-4, 260, 14th Yr., Age 35, Tex. A&M An expert defensive tackle who rates with the best in the league. Technically superb, has been a defensive starter for San Francisco since 1959. Was first-round 49er draft choice prior to the 1958 season. Has not missed a game in he past four seasons, didn't miss a defensive play in 1970.

TED KWALICK, TE, 6-4, 223, 4th Yr., Age 25, Penn State Emerged as one of the top tight ends after an outstanding 1971 season in which he caught 52 passes for 664 yards and five TDs to lead 49er receivers, rank 2d in the NFC. Last year his first as a starter. Starting tight end for the NFC in the Pro Bowl. Former two-time All-American at Penn State.

FRANK NUNLEY, LB, 6-2, 230, 6th Yr., Age 27, Michigan Nicknamed "The Fudgehammer" (looks so sweet, hits so hard) by his teammates and "The Baby Faced Assassin" by his coaches, Nunley has become a top middle linebacker in the past two seasons, calls all 49er defenses. Credited with 127 unassisted tackles last year, 10 times throwing the ball carrier for a loss.

BRUCE TAYLOR, CB, 6-0, 187, 24, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Boston U. Was a starting corner back for the NFC in the Pro Bowl after the 1971 season, his second as a professional. Was NFC defensive "Rookie of the Year" the previous season. Also handles 49er punt return chores, led the NFC in that department as a rookie. No. 1 draft choice for 1971.

GENE WASHINGTON, WR, 6-1, 188, 4th Yr., Age 25, Stanford Has played three years and has been All-Pro all three — and a three-year starter in the Pro Bowl. In three seasons has caught 150 passes for 2,695 yards and 19 TDs. Led all NFC receivers in yardage in 1971 with 884 for a strong, 19.9-yds. per catch average.

VIC WASHINGTON, RB, 5-10, 196, 2nd Yr., Age 26, Wyoming Rookie year established him as one of the bright, new running stars in the game. Contributed a total of 1,986 yards to 49er cause last year, 811 yds. as a ball carrier, 317 as pass receiver, 858 as kickoff return specialist. Rushed for three TDs, caught three TD passes.

DAVE WILCOX, LB, 6-2, 239, 9th Yr., Age 29, Oregon Many rate him the best outside linebacker there is. All-Pro and Pro Bowl selection for the fifth time after the 1971 season. Nicknamed "The Intimidator" by his teammates. No. 3 49er draft choice prior to the 1964 season.

KEN WILLARD, RB, 6-2, 216, 8th Yr., Age 29, North Carolina Slimmer and quicker, the durable Willard had probably his best all-around year in 1971, running for 855 yards, catching passes for 212 more, and turning in an outstanding year as a blocker. In seven years, has missed just one game due to injury and has been a starter ever since his rookie season.

Dick Nolan Head Coach

Fifth season since taking over 49ers in 1968, his first head coach job after six years as defensive assistant to Tom Landry with the Dallas Cowboys. Third draft choice of the New York Giants in 1954. Nolan played defensive halfback for nine years with New York, the Chicago Cardinals and the Cowboys, the latter as a player coach in 1962. He became a full time assistant coach in 1963. Played in NFL championship games with the Giants in 1956, 1959, and 1961 and coached in title games with the Cowboys in 1966 and 1967. Coached the 49ers to 9-5 record and NFC Western Division title, their second straight before losing NFC Championship Game to Dallas 14-3. Nolan's three year record is 30-22-4. Business Administration graduate of University of Maryland, where he began his football career as a quarterback and was switched to offensive halfback.

SAN FRANCISCO-BIG PLAY

When it comes to exploiting a defense, finding weaknesses and taking advantage of them, there are few better than San Francisco guarterback John Brodie, who combines keen football knowledge with a great passing arm. Brodie has great respect for the value of the running game but, like all top passers, he prefers to throw the ball whenever he can. At the same time, the Forty-Niner star knows that completing passes is a lot easier if you have established a running threat beforehand. In fullback Ken Willard, a big, fast and powerful ball-carrier, Brodie has the kind of running back who can intimidate a rival defense and thus open up the air lanes on subsequent plays. In the diagram shown here, San Francisco uses a fake inside play to Willard to set up the Brodie pass, Willard (No. 40) shifts to his left as signals are being called and then drives toward left tackle as Brodie (No. 12) fakes the handoff to him. This is the same kind of play on which Willard gains key yardage, so the defense must respect him in this instance. As the fake handoff is taking place, the other San Francisco running back, Vic Washington (No. 22), circles to the left and, depending on the linebacker's reaction, either squares out toward the sideline or slants over the middle on an optional route. Split left end Dick Witcher (No. 88) runs a deep zig-out while on the opposite side, Gene Washington (No. 18) executes a similar maneuver. These routes are designed to draw the defensive backs away from Vic Washington, who is Brodie's primary receiver on this play. If the play works as planned, Vic will be covered only by a linebacker and this means he is a good percentage bet to get open, either to the outside or over the middle. He doesn't have to get wide open, at that - because Brodie doesn't need a lot of room to hit his man. Just a half-step; that's all it usually takes.

Power personified is Ken Willard in the open field. Durable running back led 49ers in rushing again last year with 855 yards.

Veteran QB John Brodie added to his all-time 49er passing records in 1971, leading the club to another division title.

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS

Quarterback Jim Hart retreats into pocket with blocking help from Johnny Roland.

Baseball made the nickname a natural, but the football-variety Cardinals did not arrive in St. Louis until 1960, 61 years after their birth in Chicago.

Four years after the founding of the National Football League, the 1925 Cards won the title with an 11-2-1 record. Hall of Famer Ernie Nevers coached the 1929 Cards to only 6-6-1, but gained a place in pro football history by scoring all of the Card points in the 40-6 rout of the arch-enemy Bears.

Jim Conzelman took over in 1940 and built the "dream backfield" of Marshall Goldberg, Paul Christman, Pat Harder and Charley Trippi. The Cards won the 1947 title and lost a snowy 7-0 decision to the Eagles in 1948.

Then the Cards fell and finally landed in St. Louis where they rose to East runnerup in 1964 and have shown promise of winning a title ever since.

Head coach Bob Hollway does not plan any system changes, just changes in results. The Cards dropped their last three games of 1970, just enough to drop out of the NFC East title picture. The Cards appear to be stacked at most positions except quarterback, where Hollway would be happy to use anyone to get an offense going.

St. Louis Key Players

DONNY ANDERSON, RB, 6-3, 210, 7th Yr., Age 29, Texas Tech Versatile veteran running back came to Cardinals in off-season trade with the Packers for MacArthur Lane. Rushed for 757 yards and a 4.1 average last year, also grabbed 26 passes for another 306 yards and scored six TDs. Also can punt well.

JIM BAKKEN, Kicker, 6-0, 195, 11th Yr., Age 31, Wisconsin One of the most consistent kickers in pro football, the blond veteran led Cardinals in scoring for ninth straight year in '71 with 87 points. Now has 844 points lifetime, has kicked 175 field goals. Holds NFL record for most FGs in a game (7).

GARY CUOZZO, QB, 6-1, 195, 10th Yr., Age 31, Virginia Veteran QB came to Cardinals in off-season trade with Vikings, should add experience and savvy to pitching picture. Last year, he had 75 completions for 842 yards, six TD throws for runminded Vikings.

MILLER FARR, DB, 6-1, 190, 8th Yr., Age 29, Wichita State Veteran defensive back came to Cardinals in 1970 trade with Houston, had five interceptions that year, including one TD return. Had just two thefts in 1971, but again proved to be a solid defender at the left corner. All-AFL several times.

JIM HART, QB, 6-2, 200, 7th Yr., Age 28, So. Illinois Steady veteran split last year's work with Pete Beathard, finished with 110 completions for 1,626 yards and eight touchdowns. Has had some fine years leading Cardinals into contention, with '67 the top season when he threw for 3,008 yards and 19 TDs.

CHUCK LATOURETTE, DB-K, 6-0, 190, 5th Yr., Age 27, Rice Multi-talented player sat out one season with injuries couple of years ago, still rates as valuable player who can punt, play DB and return punts and kickoffs. Last year, fell off to a 38.5 punting average.

ERNIE McMILLAN, Tackle, 6-6, 255, 12th Yr., Age 34, Illinois Standout offensive lineman was named All-NFL by Football News, All-NFC by UPI in 1971, proving he continues to be among the best at his trade. Four times a Pro Bowler, offensive co-captain, he's big, strong, solid pass-blocker.

JAMIE RIVERS, LB, 6-2, 235, 5th Yr., Age 26, Bowling Green Hard-hitting and far ranging MLB has improved yearly, with outstanding potential. A No. 5 draft choice, he was a two-way end in college. Chief assets are his agility and aggressiveness . . . a solid tackler and adept on pass coverage.

JOHNNY ROLAND, RB, 6-2, 215, 7th Yr., Age 29, Missouri Veteran running back should get lots more work now with trades of Lane and Edwards. Had 278 yards rushing last year for 3.6 average, caught 15 passes. Can do it all, as attested by big year in 1967 when he rushed for 876 yards, scored 10 TDs.

JACKIE SMITH, TE, 6-4, 235, 10th Yr., Age 32, N.W. Louisiana Solid veteran with outstanding speed for big man. Holds club record of 6,181 yards gained receiving in career, been named to Pro Bowl four times. Had only 21 catches for 379 yards and four TDs last year, but has 367 career receptions.

LARRY STALLINGS, LB, 6-2, 230, 10th Yr., Age 30, Ga. Tech Veteran defensive star has been a Pro Bowler, All-NFC choice during fine career, which was interrupted by two years of Army duty. Very heady player who is always around the ball. Had one interception in '71, returned it for a touchdown.

CHUCK WALKER, DE, 6-3, 250, 9th Yr., Age 31, Duke Senior member of defensive front four, he's a hard working player who achieves by determination. Was a Pro Bowl selection in 1967 and has been a consistent performer for St. Louis. Strong against run, and a good pass rusher.

LARRY WILSON, DB, 6-0, 195, 13th Yr., Age 34, Utah Inspirational team leader now becomes a player-coach. Fiery player has been Pro Bowler, All-NFL often, is a rugged competitor, always has been. Four interceptions last year, now has 49 in great career for 765 yards returned.

Bob Hollway Head Coach

Second year as NFL head coach. Joined Cardinals on February 12, 1971, after four seasons with Minnesota Vikings, two as defensive line coach, two in charge of overall defense. Vikings' defense was among league's best as team won three straight division titles, one NFL crown. Starred at end for University of Michigan, 1947-'49, playing in Rose Bowl and on National Championship team, winning three letters. Was assistant football coach at University of Maine, 1951-'52, football assistant and head basketball coach at Eastern Michigan, 1953, then served on Michigan staff 1954-'65, and joined Bud Grant when latter took over Vikings' top job in 1967. Born Robert Condon Hollway at Ann Arbor, Mich., on January 29, 1926, son of long-time Ann Arbor High School football coach, served in U.S. Marine Corps in Pacific before entering college.

ST. LOUIS-BIG PLAY

The St. Louis Cardinals have a number of potent offensive plays in their arsenal but none more dangerous than the end-around to tight end Jackie Smith (No. 81). The Cardinals run this play better than any team in the National Football League, mainly because of Smith's great outside speed, his strength and his unusual running ability. "He was made for this play," was the way one pro scout analyzed the St. Louis end-around. The basic philosophy of the end-around is to get the defense moving in one direction-and then come back with Smith carrying in the opposite direction. This requires realistic faking in the backfield by quarterback Jim Hart (No. 17) and running backs Leon Burns (No. 38) and John Roland (No. 23). As the play starts, Hart spins away from center and makes his first fake to Burns, who slashes between left quard and center. The quarterback continues spinning and makes another inside fake to Roland, who also veers toward the left side of the line on an apparent dive play over center. This backfield deception is designed to pin down the defense. even for just a second or two, while Smith, who lines up at left end for this play, starts in motion. Jerry circles back toward the right - running against the flow of the play - and takes a short backward toss from Hart at the deepest point of his path. If the initial fakes have served their purpose, the defense is moving the other way when Jerry gets the toss from Hart. Despite Smith's speed and running ability, however, the Cardinal end-around works only if tackle Ernie McMillan (No. 73) and wide receiver Mel Gray (No. 85) make key blocks out ahead of the play. The veteran McMillan circles behind the defensive line and faces back to the left, waiting to pick up any defender who recovers and comes after Smith, Gray, a little guy, drives quickly downfield and then veers to the inside in an attempt to screen the safetyman out of the action. These are the only two blocks Jackie Smith really needs. Once he turns the corner well, he's a good bet to get big yardage for St. Louis.

Cardinal linebacker Larry Stallings makes Giant running back Joe Morrison grimace as he pounces on Morrison for no gain. Jamie Rivers (53) is nearby if needed.

Defensive back Dale Hackbart puts a big rush on Giant punter Tom Blanchard and partially blocks the kick.

WASHINGTON REDSKINS

A toughened defense was key to Skins' success last year. Here, linebacker Chris Hanburger (55), and safeties Brig Owens (23) and Jon Jaqua (48) stack up Duane Thomas of Dallas.

From Sammy Baugh to Sonny Jurgensen, the Washington Redskins have been scalping defenses with forward passes. So George Allen, who had the best head coaching record for five years of anyone in the National Football Conference, started trading for defensive help as soon as he came from the Rams.

He brought enough Rams with him to hold a bridge tournament, then led the club to a 9-4-1 mark and into the NFL playoffs. Excitement? Yes indeed.

With rookie Baugh putting the football in the air, Washington won its first NFL title in 1937. While he became the first to throw more than 200 times per year, the 'Skins gained four more divisional titles and their' other NFL title, defeating the Bears, 14-6, in 1942 to avenge the record 73-0 drubbing in the 1940 championship game.

Marshall provided the first halftime show to go with Sammy's aerial act. And the band played on as the Redskins moved downward in the standings through the years and seemed to rise some with the 1964 arrival of Jurgensen. But he could not work as a solo. So the late Vince Lombardi drafted Larry Brown, a leading NFL rusher last year. When Allen took over, he brought his own supporting cast. As always in Washington, the show will go on.

Washington Key Players

MIKE BASS, DB, 6-0, 190, 5th Yr., Age 27, Michigan Signed as a free agent by Redskins in 1969 after earlier trial with Detroit, he's turned out to be fine cornerman. Picked off eight interceptions in 1971 to rank No. 2 in the NFC, one went 38 yards for a TD. Now has 15 steals.

LARRY BROWN, RB, 5-11, 195, 4th Yr., Age 25, Kansas St. No. 8 draft choice in 1969, he's been a super runner ever since his rookie season. Rushed for 948 yards in 1971 for 3.7 average, after getting 1,125 in 1970. His 3-year rushing total has now reached an eye-popping 2,961 for a 4.5 average-per-carry!!

SPEEDY DUNCAN, DB, 5-10, 180, 9th Yr., Age 30, Jackson St. Came to Skins from San Diego in trade last year after star-studded career in AFC and had a big year with Washington. Led NFC in punt returns with 10.6 average, was No. 5 in kickoff returns with 26.8 average and scored with 46-yard pass interception too.

PAT FISCHER, 5-9, 170, 12th Yr. Age 32, Nebraska
Tough and gutty little cornerback continued to make life rough on receivers in 1971, picking off three interceptions for 103 yards returned and one for a TD. Career totals now show 38 swipes, 687 yards returned and four TDs. Fiery competitor.

CHRIS HANBURGER, LB, 6-2, 218, 8th Yr., Age 31, No. Car. A four-time Pro Bowler, he's not the biggest linebacker in the game, but he is one of the fastest and hardest-hitting. Very adept at blitzing the quarterback and for speed in pass coverage. Had one interception for 17 yards last season.

SONNY JURGENSEN, QB, 6-0, 205, 16th Yr., Age 38, Duke One of top rated passers in NFL history, Jurgy didn't see much action in 1971 because of a pre-season shoulder injury. Completed just 16 of 28 passes, but still has 2,200 completions, over 29,000 yards and 236 TDs in fabled career.

BILLY KILMER, QB, 6-0, 204, 11th Yr., Age 32, UCLA Came to Skins from Saints in trade last year and when Jurgensen was injured, stepped in to lead Washington to 9-4-1 mark and spot in playoffs. Named team's MVP for great year and was a clutch player every week. Had 13 TD connections.

RON McDOLE, DE, 6-4, 265, 12th Yr., Age 32, Nebraska Redskins gave up three draft choice for McDole in 1971 after vet had been mainstay in AFC with Buffalo for years. Stepped in to do powerful job for Washington on defense, intercepted three passes, one for a TD. Has nine career interceptions.

JACK PARDEE, LB, 6-2, 225, 15th Yr., Age 36, Texas A&M Another veteran player obtained in 1971 trade, Jack brought experience and savvy to Redskin defense and had a big season in his 14th year. Had five interceptions, one for a 20-yard TD, career swipes now total 22 for 305 yards, five TDs.

WALTER ROCK, Tackle, 6-5, 255, 10th Yr., Age 30, Maryland Solid offensive lineman has been with Washington since 1968 when they got him from 49ers in trade. Big, strong and very agile, he's an outstanding pass blocker and competitor and is also key performer in Skins' running game.

JERRY SMITH, TE, 6-3, 208, 8th Yr., Age 29, Arizona State Smith had a series of nagging injuries in 1971 which kept him in and out of the lineup, so that he only managed to catch 16 passes for 227 yards. He's still a solid player, though, with career totals of 297 catches, over 3,800 yards and 45 TDs.

DIRON TALBERT, DT, 6-5, 255, 6th Yr., Age 28, Texas Another ex-Ram who came to Washington in the big 1971 trade. Had been a starting end and tackle with L.A., but moved in strictly at tackle for the Redskins and turned in a fine year. Solid pass rusher with outstanding speed and strength.

CHARLEY TAYLOR, WR, 6-3, 210, 9th Yr., Age 30, Arizona St. Solid veteran receiver broke his ankle in the sixth game of last year and was lost for the balance of the campaign. He had 24 catches for four TDs before his injury. All-Pro, Pro Bowler, his career marks show 420 catches, 5,996 yards, 54 touchdowns.

George Allen Head Coach

Named general manager and head coach of the Redskins on January 6, 1971 after five years with Los Angeles, Allen proclaimed that "the future is now". That theme proved to be the Redskins' motto in 1971 as they stormed to the NFL playoffs with a 9-4-1 record, the most wins in Washington in 29 years. That turnabout, for a team that had but one winning season in the previous 15 won Allen "Coach of the Year" honors in both the NFL and NFC unanimously. He has similarly been so-honored in 1967 when he was head man at Los Angeles. Began his pro coaching career in 1957 as an assistant with the Rams, then moved to Chicago where he was a defensive assistant for eight seasons. Named head coach of Rams in 1966 and went on to post a 49-17-4 record with L.A. in five stormy campaigns. In two of those years, he led club to division titles, but both times lost in the NFL playoffs, first to Packers, then to Vikings. His current head coaching record of 58-21-5 is best in the NFC. He never played professional football.

WASHINGTON-BIG PLAY

Although coach George Allen's Redskins boast two of the NFC's outstanding ball-carriers in Larry Brown and Charley Harraway, it is still the arm of quarterback Sonny Jurgensen that makes the Redskins a potent threat on offense. Washington went more to the ground attack in 1971 when Jurgensen was injured and Bill Kilmer took over at guarterback but now that Sonny is back in form again the Resdkins are expected to hit the air lanes with their old frequency. One of Jurgensen's favorite calls is the drag-out-and-go pattern to his tight end Jerry Smith (No. 87), one of the best in the business at that position. Smith has the size and strength of a tight end plus the moves and speed of a wide receiver, a tough combination to defense. As shown in the diagram, Jurgensen (No. 9) works the left side with a two-man pattern that includes Smith and flanker Roy Jefferson (No. 80). The idea here is to send the fleet Jefferson on a quick down-and-in route in the hope of luring both the defensive cornerback and the strongside safety with him. As Jefferson begins his route by racing directly at the cornerback, Smith delays for a count or two at the line of scrimmage and then takes a few drag, or stutter, steps as he watches the reaction of the secondary to Jefferson's maneuvering. If the safety has become occupied with Jefferson, Jerry shifts gears, veers slightly toward the outside and then races straight up the field at top speed. The key to this pattern is the timing. If the Redskins' fine tight end breaks off the line too soon, the defense has time to recover and put a man on him quickly. So Smith must bide his time and delay just long enough to convince the defenders that he is not going to run a deep pattern. Jurgensen helps this play too by looking toward Jefferson over the middle: this sometimes fools the defense into thinking Roy is Sonny's primary target. When this happens, Jurgensen quickly zeroes in on Smith and lets flv.

Billy Kilmer flips short pass to Speedy Duncan versus Saints. Redskins trimmed Kilmer's former team, 24-14, last season.

Redskins' swarming defense overwhelms Bear quarterback Bobby Douglas.

A Drama In 14 Episodes

1971 IN REVIEW

The 1971 National Football League season can, quite simply, be called the year of the probables and the improbables. Oh, there were upsets almost weekly... but then again, there are always upsets in the National Football League as the balance of power seems to become more finely tuned each passing season.

Through 14 weeks of regular season play 26 teams play a total of 182 games. There are winners and losers. The ultimate goal of all clubs is the Super Bowl, and in 1971, almost all of the probables got at least as far as Conference playoff berths. The probables would include the Dallas Cowboys, Minnesota Vikings and San Francisco 49ers in the NFC ... and the Baltimore Colts, Kansas City Chiefs, Cleveland Browns and Miami Dolphins in the AFC. The sole improbable, at least as far as pre-season prophets were concerned, was the Washington Redskins, a perennial loser who suddenly became a contender under coach George Allen, Tossing draft choices to the winds with reckless abandon, Allen built his own "Over the Hill Gang" virtually overnight and this Geritol Group managed to make it to the NFC playoffs before being ousted by the 49ers.

League attendance also rose, for the umpteenth time, and all in all it was another very healthy year for the NFL. Here's how the year progressed, week-by-week:

ONE

WEEK ONE—Upsets, that's the keynote for opening day, and in two instances, No. 1 draft choice rookie quarterbacks put the slug on a couple of highly-rated clubs. In Foxboro, Mass., Jim Plunkett pitches a pair of third quarter TD strikes and the lowly Patriots stomp on the Oakland Raiders 20-6 to nicely christen brand new Schaefer Stadium. Another rookie QB, Archie Manning of the Saints, finds himself on the Los Angeles Rams' two-yard line with three seconds left to play and the Rams leading 20-17. The brash yearling rolls out, then rams into two Rams and gets into the end zone for a 24-20 upset triumph for the Saints. Elsewhere, the San Diego Chargers put it to the favored Kansas City Chiefs 21-14, the New York Giants recover two fumbles in the Green Bay end zone for touchdowns just six seconds apart en route to a 42-40 win and Allen's floating nursing home starts the season off with a 24-17 win over the St. Louis Cardinals.

TWO

WEEK TWO-"Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" . . . that's what adoring Dolphin aficionados call Miami running backs Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick, Replete with droopmustaches and derring-do. Butch and the Kid unload on the Buffalo Bills (who else?) as Miami romps to a 29-14 triumph. Kiick follows Csonka's blocking for 108 yards rushing, and Csonka follows Kiicks' blocking for 103 yards. It all adds up to overland mayhem. They may well be the best big back tandem in the NFL. Meanwhile, who is Kent Nix? Ask the Vikings. Reserve QB Nix, an ex-Viking, comes on in relief of Jack Concannon for the Chicago Bears at a time when Minnesota leads 17-3, then fires a couple of TD strikes to veto the Vikings 20-17. Just another upset as the Bears go 2-0 to lead the Black and Blue Division of the NFC. Dallas wins another, and so does Washington with Allen again leading the cheers in the dressing room.

THREE

WEEK THREE-Now what? Well. those antique Redskins won their first two games, but not against the really top competition. This week, they catch the muscular Cowboys and at last, a true test for Washington, Shazam! Captain Marvel Allen is for real as the Redskins ambush the Cowboys 20-16 and take over first-place in the NFC East, Veteran linebacker Jack Pardee, just one of many ex-Rams on the Washington roster, sums it up. "I've never had so much fun in football", says the 14-year veteran. The key to these early Redskin victories is defense, a veteran defensive unit gleaned from around the league via draft choices. There's no telling how much better they'll get as the year progresses. Upsets? Of course. The crippled New York Jets stun Miami 14-10. Elsewhere, Baltimore, Cleveland, Kansas City, Minnesota and San Francisco are all leading, or tied for first, in their respective divisions, as expected.

FOUR

WEEK FOUR-Not an overly spectacular week. The favorites continue to win, except for the 49ers who are dumped by the Rams 20-13. The big play here comes when Larry Smith hits off tackle looking for just a yard and a first down against a stacked 49er defense. Instead, he breaks free at the line and lumbers 64 yards for the winning TD. The Redskins? Now they're the only undefeated team left in the NFL! This week, Allen's Ancients sock it to the Houston Oilers 22-13. The Colts, combining offense with the usual tough defense, skunk Buffalo 43-0 and the Cowbovs edge the Giants 20-13 to stay close on the heels of the Redskins

WEEK FIVE—Ooops... the Dallas Express gets derailed again and the Washington Express continues to hurtle through still another hamlet. Who perpetrates the dirty deed on the Dallas people? Archie Manning, that's who, zipping a 29-yard TD throw on the second play, then rambling 13 yards for a score on a rollout over two Cowboys en route to a 24-14 upset for the Saints. Meanwhile, the Redskins do it to the Cardinals again, this time 20-0 as, the defense chokes the Birds from start to finish and Larry Brown cuts loose for 150 yards in 25 carries. When will this end? Baltimore keeps winning (31-7 over the Giants) but Miami is also looking good as Bob Griese throws for four TDs in a 41-3 romp over the Patriots.

SIX

WEEK SIX-Two of the powerhouses collide head on . . . and in a robust defensive battle, the Vikings trip the Colts 10-3. It even gets a trifle bizarre near the end when the venerable Johnny Unitas drives the Colts downfield looking for a score. On fourth down from the Vikings 3-yard line, Johnny U. has Eddie Hinton open in the end zone, but his pass is deflected when it skins the crossbar and the Vikings hold on for the win. Cleveland seems to look past Denver, then catches it on the face mask 27-0 as Floyd Little rushes for 113 yards, And, finally, the Redskin bubble bursts. Leading Kansas City 17-6, Washington loses Charley Taylor with a broken ankle and the Chiefs' Otis Taylor gets hot in the second half as K.C. whips Allen's guys 27-20.

SEVEN

WEEK SEVEN-Here we are at the halfway mark fans. This week's headliner is hardly new to the spotlight. Take a bow, George Blanda, Now 44-years-old, Blanda comes on for the Oakland Raiders with his team trailing Kansas City 20-10 and 10 minutes to play. He drives the Raiders downfield, hits Fred Biletnikoff with a 24-vard TD pass to cut it to 20-17, then boots a difficult 8-yard angled FG to save a 20-20 tie. The FG gives George 1,609 points in his career, a new NFL record, surpassing Lou Groza's 1.608. Elsewhere, Miami dumps the Rams 20-14 to hold onto the AFC East lead ... Dallas is upset by Chicago 23-19 and the Redskins rebound for a 24-14 win over New Orleans, putting Washington two games up on the Cowboys in the NFC East, Minnesota and San Francisco are still looking good in their divisions, and Cleveland is on top and moving in its division.

EIGHT

WEEK EIGHT-In New York, both the Giants and Jets are hurting. Injuries have decimated both teams. Stars like Ron Johnson of the Giants and Joe Namath and Matt Snell of the Jets are sidelined. Yet both teams pull themselves together this day, the Jets shocking Kansas City 13-10 with an outstanding defensive show and the Giants using two unheralded rookies. Coleman Zeno and Charlie Evans to crush San Diego 35-17, Evans, a blocking back at USC, scores three touchdowns, then says after the game, "I haven't scored three times since I was in high school," The Steelers tighten up the AFC Central by clipping the Browns 26-9 with John Fugua rushing for 131 yards, and Dallas dents St. Louis 16-13 to close in on the Redskins who are lucky to get a 7-7 tie with the Eagles.

NINE

WEEK NINE—How's this for an extra point? The Bears and Redskins are tied 15-15 after a Bear TD. When the snap is wild on the attempted placement, holder Bobby Douglass races back to the 40 to pick it up, dodges around, then heaves a pass into the end zone where Dick Butkus, of all people, makes like Don Hutson with a diving catch and the Bears bruise George Allen 16-15. Dallas dunks Philadelphia 20-7 and that race gets even tighter. Green Bay's gifted rookie John Brockington rushes for 149 yards against the tough Vikings . . . for naught. The Vikes win the game 3-0. San Francisco gets surprised as New Orleans continues to shock the tough teams every now and then. This time its the Saints by a 26-20 verdict as reserve QB Edd Hargett fills in for injured Archie Manning and fires three touchdown passes.

TEN

WEEK TEN-Here we go again. folks. The Rams, under new coach Tommy Prothro and some fine rookies, lump the 49ers 17-6 and take over the top spot in the NFC's West Rookie linebacker Isiah Robertson puts black and blue marks on the 49er runners and cornerback Gene Howard intercepts John Brodie three times. The Cowboys get another shot at the Redskins and turn Washington every way but loose en route to a convincing 13-0 victory. That one moves the Cowbovs past Washington into first-place in the NFC East. Miami runs head on into Baltimore and proves it is a team to be yet heard from as Don Shula's club scores a 17-14 triumph to hold fast to the top spot in the AFC East over the Colts. Minnesota continues to draw away in the NFC Central with a 23-10 romp over the Saints and the Steelers and Browns both win to keep the pot boiling in the AFC Central.

ELEVEN

WEEK ELEVEN-Joe Namath returns. After more than a year on the sidelines with various injuries, Broadway Joseph gets into action against the 49ers in New York and scares hell out of S.F. before the 49ers salvage a 24-21 win. Namath plays just over two quarters but throws three TD passes to delight the Shea Stadium throng. The 49ers reclaim their division lead as the Rams are butted 28-21 by the onrushing Cowboys, Miami and Baltimore roll on with respective routs of Chicago and Oakland, And Cleveland moves a game ahead of the Steelers via a 37-24 win over Houston as the Steelers are peppered by the Broncos 22-10.

WEEK TWELVE-Another week of upsets and a prodigious rushing performance by the Rams' Willie Ellison make headlines as the season moves down the backstretch The Patriots shock Miami 34-13 behind Jim Plunkett: the resurgent Eagles belt Detroit 23-20; John Hadl completes 20 passes for the Chargers as they put the slug on the Vikings 30-14 and the Falcons, en route to their best year ever, upend Oakland 24-13. The Rams romp 45-28 over the Saints and Ellison sets an alltime NFL record by churning out 247 yards on 26 carries. The effort surpasses Cookie Gilchrist's 243 and Jim Brown's 237 yard efforts of the past, Meanwhile Dallas continues to flex all of its formidable muscle ... this time via a 52-10 attack on the Jets.

THIRTEEN

WEEK THIRTEEN—Well, "13" is hardly unlucky to seven teams. That's how many clinch playoff berths on this 13th week, leaving just the NFC's West still undecided between the Rams and 49ers. Baltimore dumps Miami 14-3, but both get into the playoffs with respective marks of 10-3 and 9-3-1. Cleveland clips the Saints 21-17 and Kansas City conks Oakland 16-14, and both the Browns and Chiefs make the playoffs. The Cowboys clout the Giants 42-14 and the Redskins down the Rams 38-24, and both Dallas and Washington join the playoffs with 10-3 and 9-3-1 records respectively and the Vikings mangle Detroit 29-10 to take it all in the NFC Central with a 10-3 reading.

FOURTEEN

WEEK FOURTEEN-Here it is the finale, and the 49ers become the final entry in the Super Bowl sweepstakes. San Francisco puts down Detroit 31-27 to clinch the NFC West and wins when the venerable QB John Brodie slips out of the pocket and gets his 36-year-old legs pumping 10 yards into the end zone for the winning TD. In other activity, Houston strong safety Ken Houston puts his name in the record book by returning consecutive interceptions for touchdowns against San Diego. That gives Houston four interception TD returns for the season, a new one-season record, and ups his career total of TD returns to nine-a new career record. And the NFL has five rushers with 1,000 or more yards-Floyd Little, John Brockington, Larry Csonka, Steve Owens and Willie Ellison. Another great year, by all standards.

BALTIMORE COLTS

Rugged middle linebacker Mike Curtis (32), a real head-hunter, typifies slashing Colt defense.

The ear-shattering sounds of Baltimore's Memorial Stadium will have no reason to retire for the 1972 season. The Colts are still tough.

From the old days of losing a franchise for non-support in 1950 to a restart in 1953, the Colts' fans have little memories. The 1950s did not become the "good old days" until John Unitas stepped off a sandlot in 1956 and put on No. 19. Since then, the Colts have won four NFL titles. A star for each and Unitas, who holds practically every NFL passing record, becomes a four-star general.

The outstanding players in Colt history would read like a list of United Nations representatives, both in ethnic origin and length.

But take today's heroes. There is placekicker Jim O'Brien, whose last-minute field goal beat the Dallas Cowboys two years ago. And Mike Curtis, the duty-bound linebacker whose two interceptions saved that same game.

And don't forget John Unitas. The 39-year-old superstar is still No. 1 with Baltimore after 16 great years, a career that parallels the Colt history itself.

Baltimore Key Players

NORM BULAICH, RB, 6-1, 218, 3rd Yr., Age 25, T.C.U. Big, strong running back had outstanding season before injury kept him out of playoff action. Finished with 741 yards rushing, 4.9 average, caught 25 passes and scored 10 TDs overall. One of eight Colts in the Pro Bowl.

BILL CURRY, Center, 6-2, 235, 8th Yr., Age 29, Georgia Tech Solid man in the middle of the line, he also earned Pro Bowl designation last season and for good reason. Team leader, he's a topnotch blocker, gets job done on middle linebackers. Came to Colts from New Orleans in 1967, solid ever since.

MIKE CURTIS, LB, 6-2, 232, 8th Yr., Age 28, Duke No. 1 draft choice in 1965 after being a fullback in college, he rates as among best linebackers in the NFL. Has been All-NFL, Pro Bowler several times. Came up with three interceptions for 44 yards returned in '71.

TED HENDRICKS, LB, 6-7, 220, 4th Yr., Age 24, Miami (Fla.) "The Mad Stork" seems to get better each year. He too got a Pro Bowl nod after outstanding year. Had five interceptions for 70 yards returned, plays the sweep very well and has great speed for a big man. Has great future.

EDDIE HINTON, WR, 6-0, 200, 4th Yr., Age 25, Oklahoma No. 1 choice in 1969, he came on to lead club in receiving in 1970 with 47 catches for 733 yards. Last year, he added 25 grabs for 436 yards. Has lots of speed, also those fine moves and excellent hands that top receivers need.

JERRY LOGAN, DB, 6-1, 190, 10th Yr., Age 31, W. Texas St. Veteran safety is key man in Colt secondary, has been a starter since his rookie year. Named to Pro Bowl after last season's work which saw him intercept four passes to run career total to 30 for 360 yards returned.

TOM MATTE, RB, 6-0, 214, 12th Yr., Age 33, Ohio State Came back well after missing most of 1970 with injuries and finished second in rushing and receiving, getting 607 yards rushing and catching 29 passes. Also scored eight touchdowns. Can also serve as quarterback in emergency.

RAY MAY, LB, 6-1, 230, 6th Yr., Age 27, So. California Quick, tough linebacker came to Colts from Steelers and has added considerably to an outstanding linebacking trio. Has fine range, good speed and is a hitter. Had one interception for 46 yard return in 1971.

FRED MILLER, DT, 6-3, 250, 10th Yr., Age 32, L.S.U. Has been a starter for the Colts for nine years, or ever since his rookie campaign. Extremely aggressive, he's also got a wealth of savvy and plays the run as well as he rushes the passer. Pro Bowler three times in career.

JIM O'BRIEN, Kicker, 6-0, 195, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Cincinnati Finished as No. 3 scorer in AFC last year with 95 points, and kicked an amazing 20 of 29 field goal attempts. Very steady and dependable, he's best remembered for winning Super Bowl two years ago with last second FG.

BUBBA SMITH, DE, 6-7, 265, 6th Yr., Age 27, Michigan St. Big Bubba shed almost 30 pounds last year, hardly did any good for opponents. Named to All-NFL team and to Pro Bowl, he had a banner campaign in harassing the passer and ball-carriers. Powerful player with great speed.

JOHN UNITAS, QB, 6-1, 196, 17th Yr., Age 39, Louisville Named greatest QB of all time by many, he's still No. 1 with the Colts in his 17th year. Has thrown 283 TD passes, and for 38,657 yards in long and storied career. Still the master at play calling as well.

RICK VOLK, DB, 6-3, 195, 6th Yr., Age 28, Michigan Tough safetyman was a unanimous choice for All-NFL last season, also named to the Pro Bowl. Great competitor, he had four interceptions, now has 24 for 432 yards returned in career. Also returned 22 punts for a fine 5.4 average.

Don McCafferty Head Coach

BALTIMORE-BIG PLAY

As perhaps the best zone defense team in professional football, the Baltimore Colts may be affected to a higher degree by the new hash mark dimensions in 1972 than most other NFL clubs. As shown in the top diagram, the Colts used the old hash marks (each hash mark was 20 yards in from the sideline) as guides to setting up their airtight zone coverage in the secondary. The cornerback "rolling up" on the strong side of the zone played his technique from the middle of the yardline numbers (designated by the number 20 in the diagrams). The strongside linebacker dropped and set up on the strongside hash mark, and the middle linebacker positioned himself on the weakside hash mark. The weakside linebacker, meanwhile, set up in the middle of the vardline numbers on the weakside of the gridiron. That's how the Baltimore zone took shape under the old field dimensions. Now that the hash marks have been moved closer to the middle of the field and are only six yards apart, the former zone checkpoints are no longer valid for the Colts. They will not be able to get the proper coverage balance if they continue to use the hash marks as position area guides. The revised field markings will force the Colt zone defenders into a "feel" type position alignment, as shown in the lower diagram. This might possibly challenge the coordination of the underneath zones.

VERSUS 1971 HASH MARK DIMENSIONS

VERSUS 1972 HASH MARK DIMENSIONS

All-purpose running back Tom Matte (41), slowed by injuries in 1971, is key figure in Baltimore plans.

Chunky Don Nottingham (48), rookie sensation of 1971, strengthens Baltimore ground attack.

BUFFALO BILLS

QB Dennis Shaw (16), who threw for 11 TDs last season, hopes to cut down interception rate in 1972.

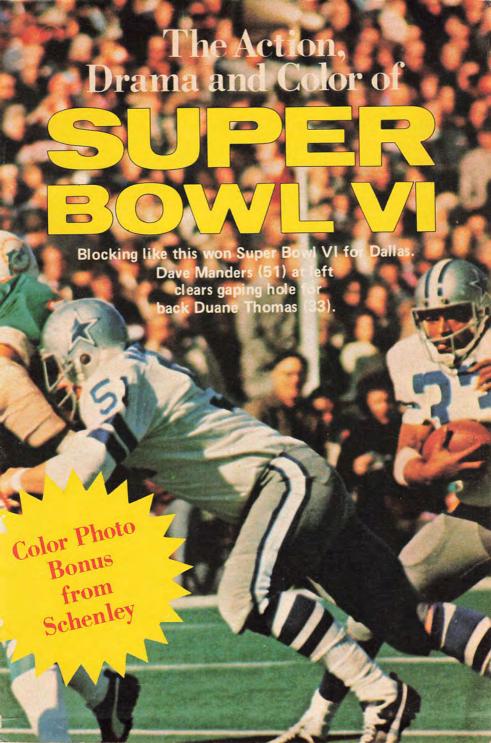

The Bills will always be remembered in pro football for the greatest grab of all-time. That was when they stole quarterback Jack Kemp from San Diego's unprotected injured roster for a mere $100 in 1962.

Kemp, with reflief passing by Daryle Lamonica, led the Bills to the East playoff in 1963 and to the next three AFL East titles and two AFL titles by holding the 1964 and '65 Chargers to a total of seven points.

Coach-of-the-year Lou Saban quit after 1965, so did the first side-stepping placekicker of pro football, Pete Gogolak, who jumped to the NFL Giants to spur the 1966 merger.

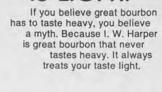

Now the Bills are rebuilding and have the 1970 Rookie-of-the-Year, Dennis Shaw, to quarterback a team with excellent receivers in J. D. Hill of Arizona State and Haven Moses.

For ground support there is O.J. Simpson, the most exciting runner to hit Buffalo since Cookie Gilchrist moved down from Canada in the early years of the departed AFL. O.J. does everything except kickoff for coach Saban, who is back with the Bills again.

Buffalo Key Players

PAUL COSTA, Tackle, 6-5, 255, 8th Yr., Age 30, Notre Dame First a tight end, a position he worked for four years, he was switched to offensive tackle in 1969 and has been a starter at that position ever since. Big, strong and quick, he brings savvy and fine blocking to the position.

AL COWLINGS, DE, 6-5, 250, 3rd Yr., Age 24, U.S.C. Has been a solid performer ever since being draft choice out of USC. Relies on fine speed to go with strength, making him an excellent pass rusher who is equally as adept on his inside rush as on his move from the outside.

J. D. HILL, WR, 6-1, 193, 2d Yr., Age 22, Arizona State Speed merchant top draft choice had injury problems in 1971, nonetheless showed great swift in catching 11 passes for 216 yards and two TDs in brief appearances. Has solid future in store.

ROBERT JAMES, DB, 6-2, 185, 4th Yr., Age 24, Fisk Swift defensive back provides fine coverage in Buffalo secondary, also is a rugged and sure tackler. Turned out to be club's leader in interceptions last year, swiping four for 25 yards returned.

PAUL GUIDRY, LB, 6-2, 233, 7th Yr., Age 28, McNeese State Won starting role in 1969 at outside linebacker, and has done solid job winning high gradings ever since. Has good range, is a real hitter, provides poise in that defensive unit. One interception for 13 yards in 1971.

HAVEN MOSES, WR, 6-3, 205, 5th Yr., Age 26, San Diego St. Led Bills in receiving twice in past four years, though he slipped off to just 23 catches last year. He did score two TDs and his average per catch was an eye-popping 20.4. Had a 73-yarder for a touchdown too.

WAYNE PATRICK, RB, 6-2, 240, 5th Yr., Age 25, Louisville Big and strong running back adds muscle to the Bills' overland game. Fine blocker for Simpson, he's also a fine pass receiver. Had 332 yards rushing, 4.1 average in '71, also caught 36 passes for 327 yards.

PETE RICHARDSON, DB, 6-0, 193, 4th Yr., Age 24, Dayton Rugged safetyman has been a starter since his rookie year, provides solid coverage, fine tackling in that secondary. Had only one interception in 1971 after leading club with five swipes for 46 yards returned in 1970.

DENNIS SHAW, QB, 6-2, 215, 3rd Yr., Age 24, San Diego St. Has done solid work during two years as starting quarterback after being No. 2 draft choice. Totals fell off somewhat in 1971 after better rookie year, completing 149 passes for 1,813 and 11 touchdowns.

MIKE STRATTON, LB, 6-3, 240, 11th Yr., Age 30, Tennessee Veteran has been around for a long time and is still doing a big job, just like he did back in the Bills' AFL title years. Strong, has good speed for his size and brings wealth of savvy to the role.

O.J. SIMPSON, RB, 6-2, 208, 4th Yr., Age 25, U.S.C. Had a solid season, even though the club did not have top year. Rushed 183 times for 742 yards and a fine 4.1 average, scoring five touchdowns. No. 1 draft choice one of top runners in the NFL.

BOB TATAREK, DT, 6-4, 260, 5th Yr., Age 26, Miami Prior to trade, teamed with Dunaway to give Bills strong pair of defensive tackles. Has been slowed by knee injuries in the past, but he's been a starter all along. Gives club solid pass rush and is strong against the run.

ALVIN WYATT, DB, 5-10, 182, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Bethune-Cman Swift cornerback is a very active DB who plays the run as well as he covers quick outside receivers, Had one interception for 30 yards last year. Also finished as No. 4 NFC kickoff return man with 25.4 average on 30 returns,

Lou Saban Head Coach

Twelfth year as pro head coach for Saban, who led Bills to AFL titles in 1964 and 1965, after a playing career with Cleveland Browns in the All-America Conference. Head coach of Boston in 1960 and part of 1961, with Buffalo from 1962 through 1965 and general manager and head coach at Denver 1967-1971. Played linebacker for Browns from 1946-'49, served as defensive captain of four-time AAFC champions. Single-wing quarterback at Indiana in 1941 and '42; team captain and MVP as a senior. During World War II, was commissioned a first lieutenant in the OSS. Saw duty in the China-Burma theater and became fluent in Chinese (Mandarin dialect). Head coach at Case Institute (1950-'42), assistant at Washington (1953), assistant at Northwestern (1954), head coach at Western Illinois (1958-'59) and head coach at Maryland (1966).

BUFFALO-BIG PLAY

When Lou Saban coached the Denver Broncos, he got excellent results from his off-tackle power play with the great Floyd Little carrying the ball. Now that Lou is coaching the Buffalo Bills it is likely that he will once again depend on this time-tested running play only now his ball-carrier will be O.J. Simpson (No. 32), a four-year man who, according to AFC insiders, is coming into his own as a truly outstanding all-around pro back. Simpson is what they call a game-breaker, a big, explosive runner who turns normal four and five-yard gains into touchdowns if he gets just a little running room. The Bills' off-tackle play shown here is considered a short-vardage play, a sound call, say, on third down and two. But with Simpson carrying, the off-tackle maneuver can easily go all the way. There is nothing drastically different about the Buffalo off-tackle play, except that Simpson is the ball-carrier. The principle here is basic: execute power blocking at the point of attack and get Simpson into the hole before the defense can react, Quarterback Dennis Shaw (No. 16) makes a reverse pivot and hands off directly to Simpson, who angles toward the off-tackle hole in the wake of fullback Wayne Patrick (No. 30). It is Patrick's job to hit the hole first and clear it of any defenders the Buffalo linemen have been unable to dislodge. In most cases, Patrick will attempt to drive the opposing left linebacker to the outside. Key blocks on the line must be thrown by tight end Jan White (No. 80) and right tackle Paul Costa (No. 79). They double team the defensive left end - the main obstacle to Simpson's escape - and then Costa slides off this block and turns to his left to seal off the middle linebacker as he pursues the flow of the play laterally along the line of scrimmage. There is nothing fancy about this Buffalo off-tackle power play. It works because of Simpson's great ability as a runner and because the Bills do a solid blocking job up front. It might also be mentioned that this play can set the defense up for a play-action pass play in which Simpson fakes carrying off tackle and sprints into the secondary as a receiver.

A key figure in Bills' improving defense is outside linebacker Paul Guidry (59), an aggressive kid with great pursuit.

NFL observers say that O.J. Simpson (32) is now ready to reach his full potential as pro running back.

CINCINNATI BENGALS

Running back Fred Willis proved to be a rookie find in 1971, leading the Bengals in rushing with 590 yards and seven touchdowns.

The Bengals are a surprising football team of today, but Cincinnati has a pro football past which it might be happier to forget.

The 1921 Cincinnati entry in the National Football League was 0-8 when it disbanded. So Cincy did not score its first pro football win until a new franchise went 3-6-1 in 1933 before moving to St. Louis to die again after going 0-8 in '34.

With an initiation fee of $7.7 million, the Bengals were not about to follow this tainted tradition. The Bengals not only got into the AFL in 1968, but also brought back Paul Brown, the only active coach whose sideline activity earned him a niche in the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

And Brown showed why in a hurry. He had developed running back Jimmy Brown after passer Otto Graham with his Cleveland Browns. With the Bengals he developed rookie running back Paul Robinson into the 1968 AFL leader and rookie quarterback Greg Cook into the 1969 AFL leader.

With Cook injured in 1970-71, Brown shuffled the deck of available quarterbacks, settled on Chicago Bear castoff Virgil Carter and wound up not with a statistical leader, but with the AFC Central Division championship that year. And his club is still a rugged opponent.

Cincinnati Key Players

KEN AVERY, LB, 6-0, 225, 6th Yr., Age 27, So. Mississippi Tough little linebacker has been a starter the past two years after being signed as a free agent in 1969 after being cut by Giants. Won starting status with spirited play, hustle . . . and most of all, hard tackling. Great physical specimen.

BILL BERGEY, LB, 6-2, 236, 4th Yr., Age 27, Arkansas State Outstanding young MLB was AFL Defensive Rookie of Year in 1969, and was Bengals' MVP in 1970. Big and strong, a rugged tackler, his pass coverage is also exceptional. Has intercepted six passes in three years for 113 yards returned.

VIRGIL CARTER, QB, 6-1, 200, 5th Yr., Age 26, B'ham Young Came to Cincy from Buffalo in key trade, stepped into starting role in 1970 when Greg Cook was first injured. Topped all NFL passers in completion accuracy last year with 62.2%, rated No. 3 passer in AFC. Had 281 completions. 3.271 yards. 19 TDs.

STEVE CHOMYSZAK, DT, 6-6, 258, 6th Yr., Age 28, Syracuse Ex-Jet came to Bengals in 1968 and has turned out to be the strong man in that defensive line. Hard tackler, he's tough against both the run and on his pass rush. Still improving, he's one of strongest players in the game.

BOB JOHNSON, Center, 6-5, 260, 5th Yr., Age 25, Tennessee Team's offensive captain for past four years, he was No. 1 draft choice in 1968. Made All-AFL team in rookie year, Football News' All-Pro team in 1970. Outstanding leader, he's a powerful blocker, expert on snap-back for kicks.

ESSEX JOHNSON, RB, 5-9, 190, 5th Yr., Age 25, Grambling The Bengals' game-breaker . . . he scored four TDs last season on runs of 50 yards or more, finished the campaign with 522 yards and a dazzling 6.1 average. Scored four TDs including one 86-yard burst. Also scored two TDs on passes.

PAT MATSON, Guard, 6-1, 245, 7th Yr., Age 27, Oregon Had best season in 1971 and has been a starter for four years, teaming with Guy Dennis as messenger guard. He's a weight-lifter and has become a muscular, solid blocker with definite leadership qualities, fine potential.

RUFUS MAYES, Tackle, 6-5, 260, 4th Yr., Age 24, Ohio State Obtained in trade with Bears in 1969, he was a starting guard through 1970, then moved to starting tackle last year where he did an outstanding job. No. 1 draft choice of Bears, he's big, very quick and exceptionally strong. Solid blocker.

LEMAR PARRISH, DB, 5-11, 185, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Lincoln Outstanding young player has led Bengals in interceptions and punt returns in each of his two seasons. Won starting role in Pro Bowl this past year. Great speed and quickness. Has 12 interceptions in two seasons, dazzling punt returner.

MIKE REID, DT, 6-3, 258, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Penn State
Outstanding young defensive tackle who was named to the All-AFC team this past season. Swift, hard-hitting and far ranging, his best years are still ahead of him. He just gets better each year . . . should be All-Pro soon.

KEN RILEY, DB, 6-0, 185, 4th Yr., Age 24, Florida A&M Extremely quick and active cornerback, has knack of always being around the ball. In three seasons, he's intercepted 13 passes for 105 yards returned, had five in 1971.

BOB TRUMPY, TE, 6-6, 235, 5th Yr., Age 27, Utah. Twice named to All-AFC team at tight end, he can also do the job at wide receiver when called upon. Also been a Pro Bowler. Led club with 40 catches for 511 yards in 1971, now has career total of 143 catches and 17 TDs.

FRED WILLIS, RB, 6-0, 212, 2d Yr., Age 23, Boston College Bengals' No. 4 draft choice last year, he won starting role at mid-season, finished as club's top rusher with 590 yards and a 4.4 average, also led in TDs scored with seven. Hard runner also caught 24 passes for 223 yards, can return kickoffs.

Paul Brown Head Coach

A member of the Professional Football Hall of Fame, he returned to professional coaching in 1968 following a five-year interval which had begun when he ended his connection with the Cleveland Browns. Began pro coaching career in 1946 in All-America Conference and won league championship four straight years, continuing as a league champion in 1950 when the Browns moved into the National Football League. In thirteen NFL seasons, won seven divisional titles and three league championships while compiling a 115-39-5 won-lost record. Lifetime mark in pros, three leagues, 177-84-9. Developed such players as Otto Graham and Jimmy Brown. Now in his 38th year of coaching. Began with Massillon High School in Ohio in 1932, remaining until 1940 and compiling 80-8-2 record. At Ohio State from 1941 through 1943 and had 18-8-1 record and then moved on to Great Lakes Naval Station, where a 15-5-2 record was put together in 1944 and 1945.

CINCINNATI-BIG PLAY

In the character of their coach, the legendary Paul Brown, the Cincinnati Bengals are a football team well schooled and well disciplined in time-tested fundamentals. This is the way Brown coached for many years in Cleveland, and it is his trademark with the young Bengals, too, Coach Brown's theory has always been to stress basics such as blocking and tackling and let the other things take care of themselves. This philosophy is reflected in the diagram shown here, the very effective, if basic, Cincinnati end run. The Bengals have achieved maximum results from this fundamental sweep because Brown insists on perfect execution by the blockers who figure most importantly in the play. The Bengals line up with Jess Phillips (No. 30) and Fred Willis (No. 33) as the running backs and Virgil Carter (No. 11) at quarterback. Carter takes the snap and makes a quick reverse pivot. Three quarters of the way through his pivot, he fakes an inside handoff to Willis, a rugged 215-pounder, who then drives hard into the line and tries to pick off the defensive left tackle. Meanwhile, Cincinnati's right guard, Pat Matson (No. 73), and the right tackle, Rufus Mayes (No. 71), pull sharply to the right in an effort to get to the outside ahead of the ball-carrier. Their assignment: block the first "color" they see, meaning the first man wearing a color other than Cincinnati's orange and black. Mayes usually tries to seal the left linebacker to the inside while Matson takes a quick look upfield and zeroes in on any defensive man who approaches the intended running lane. After faking the inside handoff to Willis, the quarterback takes another two or three steps and hands (or sometimes pitches) the ball to Phillips. The big running back then begins sweeping laterally toward right end, keeping an eye on the blocking up front and waiting for just the right moment to accelerate in his bid to turn the corner. Coach Brown doesn't really try to fool the defense with this end run. "Blocking helps more than deception," he is fond of saying.

Cornerback Lemar Parrish takes off with one of his seven interceptions in 1971. He returned the thefts 105 yards and included one for a touchdown.

A game-breaker is 5-9 Essex Johnson who specializes in long distance TD bursts. He averaged 6.1 a carry in 1971.

CLEVELAND BROWNS

There's no better runner in pro football than the Browns' Leroy Kelly . . . off to the races here behind solid blocking.

The Cleveland Browns have the winning habit. Taking all four All-American Conference championships before joining the National Foobtall League 22 seasons ago, the Browns have since won four NFL titles and 11 Eastern Division crowns.

Named after Paul Brown, their first coach who now runs the arch-rival Cincinnati Bengals in the AFC's Central Division, the Browns stunned the defending champion Philadelphia Eagles, 35-10, in their first NFL appearance and edged the Los Angeles Rams—the team that they chased out of Cleveland—for the 1950 NFL title.

When Otto Graham finished passing his way into the Hall of Fame, along came Jim Brown who rushed his way into 1971 enshrinement. Jim led the NFL in rushing in eight of his nine seasons and when he hung up Jersey No. 32, Leroy Kelly was to become the Browns' 1.000-yard rusher.

The Browns shifted to the AFC in 1969 when the NFL was realigned. The only change was the retirement of Blanton Collier, who had stepped up from an assistant's role to succeed Brown as head coach in 1963. Again president Art Modell tapped an experienced assistant to take over: Nick Skorich, who was the head coach of the 1961-63 Eagles.

Cleveland Key Players

BILL ANDREWS, LB, 6-0, 220, 6th Yr., Age 27, S.E. Louisiana Not the biggest linebacker you'll find in the NFL, but a very active one. Strong against sweeps, he's also got fine speed for pass coverage. Came up with three interceptions in 1971 for 34 yards returned, always hustling.

GARY COLLINS, WR, 6-4, 220, 11th Yr., Age 32, Maryland Veteran receiver has been slowed down by injuries and off form somewhat in past two seasons, still rates as cagey and dependable performer. Had only 15 catches in 1971 for 231 yards and three TDs. Pro Bowler several times.

FAIR HOOKER, WR, 6-1, 190, 4th Yr., Age 25, Arizona State Swift and agile outside receiver had his best season ever in 1971, leading Browns in receiving with 45 catches for 649 yards, nearly double his production in 1970. Has all the tools to become outstanding player.

JIM HOUSTON, LB, 6-3, 240, 13th Yr., Age 34, Ohio State A No. 1 draft choice back in 1960, he's been key man in Browns' defensive unit for all of those years at linebacking slots. Very strong against the run with his fine size, also has 14 career interceptions, three TDs.

MIKE HOWELL, DB, 6-1, 195, 8th Yr., Age 29, Grambling Tough safetyman is sure tackler in the secondary, provides fine pass coverage as well. Picked off two interceptions last year for 93 yards returned, now has accounted for 26 steals in the past six seasons.

WALTER JOHNSON, DT, 6-4, 265, 8th Yr., Age 29, L.A. State No. 2 draft choice in 1965, he's been a tower of strength in front line ever since. Pro Bowler on several occasions, he's big, fast and aggressive and puts on great pressure against the passer. Also tough against the run.

LEROY KELLY, RB, 6-0, 200, 9th Yr., Age 30, Morgan St. Gifted runner now ranks as the No. 1 active rusher in the AFC after churning out 865 yards and a 3.7 average in 1971, including 10 TD romps. Now has rushed for 6,074 yards and 67 TDs in eight glittering seasons. Outstanding player.

MILT MORIN, TE, 6-4, 240, 7th Yr., Age 29, Massachusetts Big, strong tight end has that great size to go with fine speed and strength. Powerful blocker too, he is a key man in the offense. Caught 40 passes for 581 yards in 1971. Best year was '68 when he caught 43 for 793 yards.

BILL NELSEN, QB, 6-0, 195, 10th Yr., Age 31, U.S.C. Gritty quarterback has overcome series of injuries over years which would have sidelined less determined men. Despite injuries, he ranked as No. 5 passer in AFC in 1971 with 174 completions, 2,319 yards and 13 TDs.

MIKE PHIPPS, QB, 6-2, 210, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Purdue No. 1 draft choice in 1970 is heir apparent to Nelsen, has all the tools to do a fine job when his opportunity arrives. Didn't see much action in 1971, completing 13 passes for 179 yards and one touchdown.

JERRY SHERK, DT, 6-4, 260, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Oklahoma St. A No. 2 draft choice in 1970, he won a starting role as a rookie and has continued to improve each game, it seems. Big, strong and agile, he does a fine job rushing the passer. Had two interceptions in 1971!

BO SCOTT, RB, 6-3, 215, 4th Yr., Age 29, Ohio State Came to Browns in 1969 after four seasons in Canadian League, gives them great 1-2 punch teaming with Kelly. Rushed for 606 yards in 1971, scored nine TDs, also caught 30 passes. Had 11 TDs in 1970.

WALT SUMNER, DB, 6-1, 195, 4th Yr., Age 25, Florida St. Fine safetyman has been an important cog in the Browns' secondary for last couple of years, showing marked improvement each campaign. Came up with five interceptions to lead club in 1971 after making four previous year.

Nick Skorich Head Coach

Joined Cleveland Browns as assistant to Blanton Collier in 1964 after serving as head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles 1961-63. Coached Cleveland defensive line 1964-67 and Cleveland overall offense 1968-70. Is third head coach in Cleveland Browns history. Best previous record was 10-4 in 1961 with Eagles. Began coaching career at Pittsburgh Central Catholic High School after playing as a guard with Pittsburgh Steelers 1946-'48. Graduated from University of Clncinnati where played varsity 1940-'43 followed by three years of service. Head coach Rensselaer Poly Technical Institute 1953; line coach Pittsburgh Steelers 1954-'57. Offensive coach Green Bay Packers 1958, offensive coach Philadelphia Eagles 1959-'60. (Philadelphia won NFL title in 1960). Born June 26, 1921 at Bellaire, Ohio. ### CLEVELAND-BIG PLAY

The success of the Cleveland Browns on offense is linked almost directly to their ability to make key vardage with their famous end run from a left formation, a play known far and wide as Cleveland's "Express Left," As shown in the accompanying diagram, the Browns line up in what is called a left set, with the great Leroy Kelly (No. 44) and big Bo Scott (No. 35) as the running backs. The objective of "Express Left" is simply to give the football to the fleet Kelly, one of the NFL's all-time running greats, and then get as many Browns' blockers out ahead of him as possible. It is nothing more than Kelly's speed plus Cleveland's massed blocking power, a concentration of force at the enemy's weakest point. As the ball is snapped, both Cleveland guards, Gene Hickerson (No. 66) and John Demarie (No. 65), pull out of the line and drive laterally to their left where they are to form the spearhead of Kelly's blocking phalanx. Scott hurls his 215-pound frame into the line and wipes out the defensive right end. Tight end Milt Morin (No. 89), switched to the left side for this occasion, makes a sharp outside move and then blocks back on the right linebacker, driving him to the inside. Counting the flanker, who is assigned to block the safetyman over the middle, the Browns put no less than five men out ahead of Kelly on this famous end run. It is an awesome sight for rival defenders. As one rookie exclaimed after seeing "Express Left" for the first time: "Where the hell did all those Browns come from?" As the blocking pattern emerges in front of him. Kelly moves laterally toward the left, waiting for the precise second to turn it upfield. He is looking for the outside running alley but, if this is closed down by the defense. No. 44 is instantly prepared to cut to the inside and make his vardage there. Kelly's experience and his ability to size up the situation in a quick glance is one of the reasons why Cleveland's end run has been so consistently successful.

In just eight seasons, running back Leroy Kelly has amassed more than 6,000 yards rushing . . . what more can you ask?

The Cleveland defense can be a swarming type. Here's Walt Summers (20) and Jack Gregory (81) in action. Gregory's now a Giant.

DENVER BRONCOS

Ringleader of the tough Denver defense is defensive end Rich Jackson, an All-Pro who always makes life miserable for the opposition.

The Broncos are Mile High in hopes as well as location after a history of building and rebuilding. They have finished in the cellar in the standings more than any other team born when the AFL came into being.

New coach John Ralston has the quarterback in Don Horn. With running back Floyd Little, No. 1 in the NFL statistics last year, the Broncos have the ground support to balance any air attack.

End Rich Jackson is the All-Pro leader of the defense which has several new faces for 1972 when the Broncos hope to lead their conference in standings, rather than a statistical category. In addition to rushing last year, Little led the old AFL in punt returns as a 1967 rookie. Other Bronco league leaders were punt returner Bill Thompson in 1969; kicker Gene Mingo, who paced the scoring in 1960 and 1962; punters Jim Raser (1962-'64) and Bob Scarpitto (1966-'67), and Lionel Taylor, who made 543 all-time AFL record receptions in seven Denver seasons.

Only Little and cornerback Thompson remain from these leaders, but Ralston is building around them to get the conference lead the Broncos have never attained for more than the first few weeks of a season.

Denver Key Players

LYLE ALZADO, DE, 6-3, 252, 2d Yr., Age 23, Yankton When starter Pete Duranko was injured in 1971, rookie Alzado took his place and turned in an outstanding year. Duranko will be back this year, but it will be tough keeping Alzado out of the lineup. Great promise.

BOBBY ANDERSON, RB, 6-0, 215, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Colorado Had fine season in his second year, despite missing final game with shoulder separation. Rushed for 533 yards and a 3.8 average, led club in receiving with 37 catches for another 353 yards and scored four touchdowns.

MIKE CURRENT, Tackle, 6-4, 275, 6th Yr., Age 27, Ohio St. Veteran performer is a fixture in the Broncos' forward wall and has long been a consistent and polished player. Big, strong, extremely mobile, he is equally as adept at pass blocking as he is for the run. Good leader.

JACK GEHRKE, WR, 6-1, 180, 5th Yr., Age 26, Utah Talented receiver hit by the injury jinx last year, and underwent surgery for knee injury which kept him out of action for a considerable time. Had 14 catches for 254 yards, 18.1 average before being sidelined.

DWIGHT HARRISON, WR, 6-1, 178, 2d Yr., Age 23, Texas A&I Showed flashes of outstanding ability in his rookie year last season with blazing speed and great jumping ability. Could well be on his way to excellent career. Had 19 catches for 265 yards, scored two touchdowns.

DON HORN, QB, 6-2, 195, 6th Yr., Age 27, San Diego St. Suffered shoulder separation halfway through the 1971 season and was out for remainder of year. Had completed 89 passes for 1,056 yards and three TDs before injury. Former Green Bay quarterback should be good as new in 1972.

LARRON JACKSON, Guard, 6-3, 270, 2d Yr., Age 23, Missouri When George Goeddeke was moved to center last year, rookie Jackson stepped in at a guard spot and turned in a highly productive year. Seems to have an outstanding future. Tough, strong and quick, he's a solid blocker.

RICH JACKSON, DE, 6-3, 255, 7th Yr., Age 31, Southern U. All-Pro defensive lineman has been a truly outstanding performer during his career with the Broncos. Has great speed, finesse, and rates among the top pass rushers and overall defenders in pro football. Defensive leader.

FLOYD LITTLE, RB, 5-10, 198, 6th Yr., Age 30, Syracuse Had his greatest season ever in 1971, leading the NFL in rushing with 1,133 yards, a 4.0 average and six TDs. Also caught 26 passes for another 255 yards and won himself All-NFL honors, Pro Bowl, etc. Great performer always.

BILLY MASTERS, TE, 6-5, 240, 65h Yr., Age 28, L.S.U. Veteran player had a fine season in 1971, finishing as club's second receiver with 27 catches for 382 yards and 14.1 average. Also used on end-arounds, he carried seven times for 71 yards and 10.1 average and is an awesome blocker with that size.

LEROY MITCHELL, DB, 6-1, 190, 5th Yr., Age 27, Texas S'ern. Teams with Bill Thompson to give Broncos fine pair of cornerbacks. Strong against the run with fine savvy and instinct, he had two interceptions last season. Can also double as punt return man if there is a special need.

STEVE RAMSEY, QB, 6-2, 207, 3rd Yr., Age 25, No. Texas St. Took over when Don Horn suffered shoulder injury midway through the season and turned in a solid job, completing 84 passes for 1,120 yards and five touchdowns. Considered to have perhaps the quickest release of all passers.

PAUL SMITH, DT, 6-3, 255, 5th Yr., Age 27, New Mexico Has improved each year with the Broncos and now ranks as outstanding player on that fine Bronco defensive unit. Strong and very quick, he's an outstanding pass rusher and is also tough against the run. Due for recognition soon.

John Ralston Head Coach

Challenges have been part of John Ralston's coaching career. So the one facing the new Denver Broncos' Head Coach and General Manager will not be met with uncertainty or hesitation. Ralston came to the Broncos January 5, 1972 from Stanford fresh from his second consecutive Rose Bowl victory over nationally ranked Big Ten representatives, Ohio State and Michigan, respectively. The 1972 Bowl win climaxed an illustrious coaching career at Stanford that began on January 18, 1963 when Ralston was named to take over the head coaching job of the Indians. In nine seasons at the Stanford helm, Ralston captured two Pacific Eight titles, compiled an impressive 54-36-3 record, and reeled off eight straight winning campaigns. But the winning tradition was nothing unusual for Ralston, who went to Stanford from Utah State University. At Utah State, John recorded a four-year mark of 31-11-1,

DENVER-BIG PLAY

Offenses are continually presenting the defense with different looks in an effort to throw off defensive "keys" - and now the defenses are starting to reciprocate. They hope to achieve this by moving defensive players from their normal positions and situate them in areas where they will pose new problems for offensive blockers. The Denver Broncos were one of the first NFL teams to resort to this defensive "scrambling." One of their unusual defensive formations is pictured here. Basically, the Broncos use one of their strongside ends. Carter Campbell (No. 79), as a defensive adjustor. In this unique role, Campbell (or perhaps Rich Jackson, the regular strongside end) might be found in any number of different areas as the offensive team starts calling signals. Working with the left linebacker. Olen Underwood (No. 50). Campbell can adjust up into the line - as indicated by dotted lines in diagram - either strong or weak, or he can operate as a true linebacker with Underwood assuming the normal duties of the strongside defensive end on that particular play. In addition to moving up into the line from his position about three yards behind the line, Campbell can also exercise the option to red-dog on certain plays. Or he can drop back in passing situations to help cover the short hook zone. Underwood also has flexibility, depending on the defensive call. He can rush the passer, or he can drift to the outside to help on pass coverage, All in all, the Denver "scramble defense" gives the offense something to think about. In other words, it's difficult to execute blocking assignments on Campbell and Underwood if you don't know where they are apt to line up on a given play.

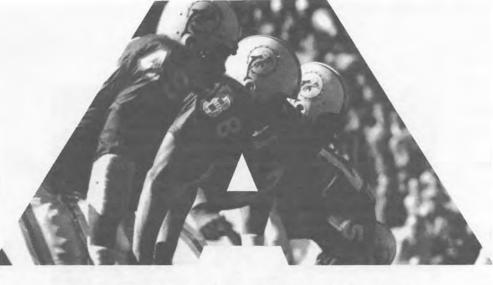

Cornerback LeRoy Mitchell goes eyeball-to-eyeball with Oakland receiver. Mitchell is a steady performer.

Quarterback Don Horn looks downfield from the pocket. Hobbled by shoulder injury midway in 1971, he'll be back at the helm in 1972.

On Sunday, September 19th, 26 teams in the National Football League set their sights on Super Bowl VI. Sixteen weeks and a thousand dramas later only four still held firm to their dream: Dallas and San Francisco in the NFC and Baltimore and Miami in the AFC. But before Super Bowl VI came the last hurdle, the conference championships . . .

AFC CHAMPIONSHIP: The Young Dolphins Spring a Surprise

The 1972 AFC championship game had all the classical ingredients: veteran quarterback great Johnny Unitas, hero of a hundred gridiron dramas, against mod young Bob Griese; the legendary Baltimore Colt defense against a virtually anonymous crew of Miami Dolphin defenders; Dolphin coach Don Shula against his former Baltimore charges; the old, the traditional against the new, the unknown.

The January 2nd showdown in Miami's famed Orange Bowl also had a surprise ending: Dolphins 21, Colts 0. And so it was that the precocious young Miami team qualified to represent the AFC against mighty Dallas in Super Bowl VI.

Baltimore entered the title game as a solid favorite but things turned in Miami's favor, it seemed, when a rainbow appeared over the Orange Bowl and one end of it hovered above the Dolphin huddle. Moments later, cool cat Griese unloaded a 75-yard touchdown bomb to fleet Paul Warfield and, at 8:21 of the first period, the upstart Dolphins were ahead to stay, 7-0.

Another "big play" in the third period boosted that margin to 14-0. This time it was safetyman Dick Anderson intercepting one of the three Unitas passes that were plucked by the Miami defense and racing 62 yards behind picture-book blocking for an electrifying touchdown. In the final period, with Baltimore's resistance completely broken, Griese and Warfield hooked up again on a 50-yard pass play that set up Miami's final score, a five-yard TD smash by Larry Csonka at 6:56.

Griese called an almost flawless game against the staunch Colt defense. He used his big running backs, Csonka and Jim Kiick, to control the ball and he threw only eight times, completing four, including the two bombs to Warfield. It was not a flashy attack mounted by the Dolphins but it was effective. Kiick carried 18 times for 66 yards, Csonka 15 for 63. Warfield's two catches netted him 125 yards—and the enduring affection of thousands of Miami fans.

Unitas, meanwhile, was severely handicapped by the absence of his top runner, Norm Bulaich, and by the limited ability of Tom Matte, who played on a bad knee. Thus stripped of his running attack, the 38-year-old Colt great was forced into the air by a hounding, hustling band of Dolphin defenders. And, as Johnny O. lived by the pass, so did he die by the pass this day in Miami. He threw 36 times, completing 20 for 224 yards, but he was intercepted three times and he never found a TD opening in the Miami defense if, indeed, there were any.

The psychological turning point probably occurred in the second period when the Colts tried for a first down on a fourth-and-one situation on the Dolphin nine and were thrown back a half yard short. Baltimore never seemed to recover from this failure. It was all downhill from that point for Unitas and Co.

As the game ended, 78.629 Dolphin fans saluted their heroes with a sea of waving white handkerchiefs—proud flags of triumph that were, sadly, to be lowered to half mast two weeks later in Super Bowl VI.

NFC CHAMPIONSHIP: A Typical Victory by the Dallas Cowboys

before. The Dallas Cowboys parlayed solid defense and mistake-free offense to defeat the San Francisco 49ers by a score of 14-3, thereby earning their second straight trip to the Super Bowl. The year before, Dallas had beaten these same 49ers—in virtually the same routine fashion—to qualify for The Big One.

There was nothing surprising or spectacular about the Cowboys' triumph in their spanking new Texas Stadium. It was a typical Dallas victory, achieved by a push-button attack that scored a bare minimum of points and then sat back as the Cowboy defense smothered John Brodie's passing game and shut down the San Francisco running attack.

The Cowboys, as always, capitalized on the breaks. The big one came in the second period and gave coach Tom Landry's crew all the points it needed to qualify for the trip to New Orleans. With the score standing at 0-0, Brodie attempted a quick screen pass from near his own goal-line, his intended target being running back Ken Willard. As the ball floated toward Willard, however, Dallas defensive end George Andrie drifted into the middle of the pattern, unnoticed by Brodie, and intercepted the pass. He rumbled down to the San Francisco 2-yard line, where a frustrated, angry Brodie tackled him. Two plays later Calvin Hill dived into the end zone for a Dallas TD—and they could have called the game then and there.

After yielding a 28-yard field goal by Bruce Gossett in the third period, the Cowboys put the game away for keeps in the final quarter with a sustained 80-yard scoring drive of 14 plays that culminated with Duane Thomas' 2-yard TD burst. Dallas' rookie quarterback

Roger Staubach, who did not have a great day overall, was at his best during this touchdown drive, completing key passes to Dan Reeves, Billy Truax and Mike Ditka along the way.

Brodie, who completed only 14 of 30 for 184 vards, was plaqued by the Doomsday Defense all afternoon. In addition to Andrie's steal Brodie was intercepted on two other occasions-by Lee Roy Jordan and Cliff Harris. The San Francisco ground attack, led by Willard and rookie flash Vic Washington, could manage just 61 yards against the steel-tough Cowboy defense. Without this running threat, Brodie was powerless to work the overhead routes against Dallas. He was shut off at every turn, just as he had been in Kezar Stadium a year before.

Dallas collected only five more yards than San Francisco on total offense (244 to 239) but characteristically they made Ithe most of their occasional scoring opportunities. Staubach, 9 of 18 for 103 yards passing, scrambled for another 55 yards to pace Landry's running corps. Walt Garrison added 52 yards on 14 carries and the sensational Thomas ran 15 times for 44 yards.

"It wasn't very exciting, was it?"

Landry asked later. "It was just a step toward the Super Bowl. We felt it was the big step but it was still just a step."

coach Tom Landry had programmed his Dallas Cowboys perfectly for the challenge of the Miami Dolphins in Super Bowl VI. In characteristic fashion—with a sound ball control offense and an invulnerable defense—the Cowboys methodically if not spectacularly dismantled the Dolphins, 24-3.

In retrospect, it wasn't exactly a case of men against boys, but neither was it far from it. The Cowboys, champions of the NFC, were stronger, smarter and seemingly more motivated than the AFC titleholders. Dallas established the rhythm and pattern of the game and did such a thoroughly convincing job on Miami that the 81,035 fans in Tulane Stadium might have considered it almost routine.

The Cowboys are unquestionably the finest team in professional football—with apologies perhaps to the Minnesota Vikings—and they proved it in Super Bowl VI.

With dispatch, poise and seeming indifference, Dallas punctured the Dolphin bubble on January 16, 1972, in frigid New Orleans. Roger Staubach, the 29-year-old quarterback who won MVP honors for leading the Cowboys to a club record seven straight regular season victories plus playoff triumphs over Minnesota (20-12) and San Francisco (14-3), threw a pair of touchdown passes (to Lance Alworth and Mike Ditka), Duane Thomas ran for a third and Mike Clarke kicked a field goal as Dallas amassed 352 total yards, including a Super Bowl record of 252 rushing, while the vaunted Doomsday Defense smothered Miami's powerful running game, kept quarterback Bob Griese under control and limited the Dolphins to a meager 185 yards.

It was professional and proficient and considerably more decisive than the final score indicates. The young Dolphins, Cinderella team of the AFC, were definitely in over their heads, although they played well and certainly left no doubt that they are a team to be reckoned with in the seasons immediately ahead.

Dallas got wonderful performances from Staubach, and from running backs Thomas, Walt Garrison and Calvin Hill. There were, too, timely receptions by Alworth, Ditka and of course Bob Hayes, the world's fastest football player. And yet this was a football game that was definitely won, as they say, "up front," where the two Dallas lines completely overwhelmed their outclassed Miami counterparts.

So perfectly do the pieces of Landry's football machine fit together that it is often difficult to distinguish the routine from the sensational. Very often brilliant individual play is lost in the excellence of the overall team effort Despite this, it was the play of the Cowboy linemen-Dave Manders. John Niland, Tony Liscio, Blaine Nye and Rayfield Wright on offense, and Bob Lilly, Larry Cole, Jethro Pugh and George Andrie on the rush line-that stands out when football men look back at Super Bowl VI.

Much has been said and written about the great Doomsday Defense: less is known about the Cowboy offensive linemen, although they are regarded by scouts and NFC rivals as great players. Their greatness was evident this day as they repeatedly drove the Miami linemen back on their heels, ripping huge holes on the inside and sealing off the outside running lanes for the slashes of Thomas and Garrison. Manders, an under-rated center, did a fine job on Miami middle linebacker Nick Buoniconti, called by Landry "... the key to the Dolphin defense." Liscio won his man-toman battle with defensive end Bill Stanfill while Niland successfully neutralized tackle Bob Heinz, Nye and Wright, operating as a tandem on the right side of the Dallas rush line, handled Manny Fernandez and Jim Riley with relative ease.

Ball Control Plan

Supported thusly on the front line, the Cowboys were able to effect the ball control plan that Landry had devised for Super Bowl VI. The NFC champs ran 48 times to Miami's 17—and remember that the Dolphins had come to the game billed as one of the best ball control teams in the business.

The non-communicative Thomas led the Dallas ground assault with 95 yards on 19 carries and was easily the dominant runner in the game. Garrison added 74 yards on 14 carries, the under-par Hill picked up 25 important yards on seven tries and Staubach contributed 18 yards on five scrambles.

This constituted the greatest rushing performance in the six-year history of the Super Bowl. Many records fell to the Cowboys, including most yards rushing (252 as compared to Green Bay's 160 in 1968), most rushing attempts (48 to the Jets' 43 in 1969) and most first downs rushing (15 to Green Bay's 11 in 1968).

Significantly, Thomas' total of 95 yards was more than the combined total of Miami's Larry Csonka (9 for 40) and Jim Kiick (7 for 40), two of the strongest, most effective runners in the AFC.

It was on Csonka and Kiick that Miami coach Don Shula was depending. They had to control the ball if the Dolphins were to win; quarterback Bob Griese could not do it alone against Dallas. But Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid—as Csonka and Kiick are known along Collins Avenue—had no chance, really, to control anything. Lilly and the Doomsday Defense did the controlling. They shut off the inside running game, turned Miami's wide plays into the traffic pattern and kept relentless pressure on Griese, who did not distinguish himself in this Super Bowl.

As always, Landry's superb linebacking trio of Chuck Howley, Lee Roy Jordan and Dave Edwards played matchless, mistake-free football, Howley, the MVP in Super Bowl V, was again a key figure. His recovery of a Csonka fumble early in the game set in motion Dallas' first scoring drive; later he intercepted a Griese pass to ignite another touchdown march. Chuck and the other Cowboy linebackers seemed to be "reading" Griese's calls all day. They jammed the inside holes against Csonka and Kiick. They raced to the outside to shut off the Miami sweeps. They threw blanket coverage over Griese's receivers in most passing situations. They were, in short, almost unbeatable.

Cowboys Hold Ball

In that first half, which ended with Dallas on top by 10-3 but clearly in command, the Cowboys retained the ball on drives of 5, 11, 4, 5 and 11 plays. The Dolphins, by contrast, never held the ball for more than six plays on any one series. They turned it over after 3, 1, 3, 6, 3 and 5 plays.

Miami's success in 1971 (as in 1970) was based on the hammering line smashes of Csonka and Kiick, a disciplined short-range passing attack and the occasional bomb from Griese to Paul Warfield. Against the Doomsday Defense, though, nothing worked the way it had in previous games. Dallas forced the Dolphins out of what they do best—running—and Griese was not able to carry on with his passing alone. The Dolphins had been stripped of their Sunday punch.

The Cowboys, meanwhile, performed much as Landry had hoped they would. They took advantage of every Miami mistake (like Csonka's first-period fumble), they played errorless football themselves and they never permitted the Dolphins to generate any momentum. It was a computerized performance by a well-programmed team.

Seldom did the Cowboys give the Tulane Stadium audience the impression that they were putting Miami to rout—but, in retrospect, that's exactly what it was, a rout. It's just that Dallas did such a workmanlike, professional job that nobody, even the Dolphins, realized how decisive the final margin was.

As a shaken Don Shula was to remark later, "The thing that bothers me is that we didn't even challenge them."

The Dolphins failed to challenge because Dallas never gave them the chance. On the attack, Staubach used the parry and thrust like a master (although Landry called most of the plays from the sideline). On defense, Lilly and Co. quite simply beat their men into the dirt, a physical beating that took the fire out of the Miami attack.

There were few electrifying plays in Super Bowl VI, and only an occasional play that might have been described as exciting. The Cowboys are not that kind of a team, at least not since Landry changed their philosophy several years ago. Rather, they are a well-drilled, well-disciplined, methodical ball club that wears the opposition down with physically superior forces and with better football strategy.

And in Super Bowl VI, of course, they had something else going for them: the mission to erase forever the choke-up charge that had hung over them for the past few seasons. The Dallas Cowboys of Sunday, January 16, 1972, were a highly-motivated, proud football team out to prove that they were indeed No. 1 in their sport, not No. 2, not mere also-rans, not the perennial bridesmaids of other years, but legitimate, deserving, head-of-the-class No. 1—"and let somebody say we aren't!"

Miami learned early that mistakes against the Cowboys can be costly. Csonka, who had carried 195 times last season without once fumbling, lost a handoff from Griese in the opening period, and Howley recovered on the Dallas 48. Staubach promptly engineered an 11-play drive that led to Clarke's nine-yard field goal at 13:37.

It wasn't much at the time, only a three-point edge with a lot of football still to be played, but the warning flags were up for the Dolphins.

Horrendous Loss

A few moments after Clarke's go-ahead field goal, the Dallas defense forced another Miami breakdown. Griese, back to pass, was driven from his protective pocket by Andrie and Cole and was finally run down by the cat-quick Lilly for a horrendous 29-yard loss. Again, this didn't appear to be a gamebusting play at the time. But it certainly must have had an upsetting effect on Griese, who was now acutely aware that he was up against the best in Super Bowl VI and that the things he had been hearing about Lilly and the Doomsday Defense were quite true.

At the end of that first period, the Miami Dolphins were not at all sure that they could win Super Bowl VI.

They were even less sure at 13:45 of the second quarter when Staubach capped a brilliantlyexecuted 11-play march with a seven-yard TD pass to Alworth in the corner of the end zone, making the score 10-0. Even Garo Yepremian's 31-yard field goal with four seconds left in the half did little to brighten the Miami outlook.

Still, Shula thought his ball club could come back in the second half (after all, Dallas' margin was only seven points) but once again the Cowboys' ball-control attack changed the complexion of the game. Staubach, starting on his own 29 after the second half kickoff, took the NFC titleholders 71 yards in eight plays, the final three yards by Thomas for a touchdown. That made it 17-3—and even Shula was worried.

It was a classic drive by the Cowboys: quick-hitting end sweeps, a timely pass from Staubach to Hill, a 23-yard end run by Thomas, a wonderfully executed end-around with Hayes zipping 16 yards and, finally, the pitchout to Thomas who went around the left side for the touchdown.

Another Miami error, this one by Griese, put the game out of reach in the fourth period. And again it was the ever-alert Howley, a demon ball-hawker this day, who made the big play for Dallas.

With third and four on his own 49, Griese tried to fool the Doomsday bunch with a short toss to Kiick in the right flat, a tactical maneuver that had worked well for Miami all year. But Miami had not played against many outside linebackers as smart or as quick as Chuck Howley. He intercepted it!

The play was typical of the kind of defense Dallas plays. As the ball was snapped, Howley carried out the first part of his assignment; he flattened Miami end Howard Twilley. Then he leaped to his feet just as Griese lobbed the ball toward Kiick.

"Kiick was wide open when I released the pass," said Bob later, "but Howley jumped right back up and made the interception. It was the quickest recovery by a line-backer that I've ever seen."

Howley dashed 41 yards with the interception to the Miami 10, where he stumbled on the Poly-Turf and rolled out of bounds all by himself. Three plays later, however, Staubach hit Ditka (who had beaten safetyman Dick Anderson) in the end zone for the clinching TD.

To all intents and purposes, Howley's Johnny-on-the-spot interception and the subsequent Staubach-to-Ditka TD pass ended Super Bowl VI.

It was all over. The Cowboys, a superior team in every respect, had triumphed and had proved that they could indeed win "the big one." The youthful Dolphins had played well against a better team and, in defeat, gave promise that they would be back again.

HOUSTON OILERS

Heading upfield with another interception is Ken Houston, last year's AFC interception champ with nine. His four TDs with interceptions set a new alltime NFL record.

The Houston Oilers have lived the life of a yo-yo in pro football—from top to bottom to top and from out to in.

With 10-year veteran George Blanda at quarterback, the Oilers marched off with the first AFL title in 1960, but switched coaches from Lou Rymkus to Wally Lemm after going 10-3-1 in '61. Under Lemm, the Oilers won 10 straight and the championship. The 1962 Oilers lasted until the second overtime of the then longest game in football history before losing the title to the Dallas Texans, now the Kansas City Chiefs.

The Oilers fell into the cellar before Lemm returned to coach the East winners in 1967. Lemm turned the 1971 coaching reins over to first-time head coach Ed Hughes—the Texan defensive backfield coach in that overtime game—but now the head coach is Bill Peterson as the Oilers keep looking for a winning combination of coaching and personnel.

The defensive leadership of linebacker George Webster will be called upon to offset the growing pains of Dan Pastorini of Santa Clara and Lynn Dickey of Kansas State, two strong quarterbacks who will be looking to succeed 11-year veteran Charley Johnson.

Houston Key Players

ELVIN BETHEA, DE, 6-3, 262, 5th Yr., Age 26, No. Car. A&T Has led the team the past two years in dumping quarterback. Had 16 of club's total of 37 in '72. Named to the AFC Pro-Bowl squad in '72 and was a starter at defensive end. Has great quickness and speed. One of the top young defensive ends in the league.

RON BILLINGSLEY, DT, 6-8, 290, 6th Yr., Age 27, Wyoming Became a starter for Oilers after trade with San Diego. Has great size and speed and should become one of the outstanding defensive tackles in the game. Has good strength and is strong pass rusher. High draft choice of San Diego.

ELBERT DRUNGO, G, 6-5, 250, 4th Yr., Age 29, Tennessee St. Has developed into outstanding guard after rookie season as backup tackle. Has excellent speed, strength and can pull to lead wide plays. Was a tight end and linebacker in college. Excellent pass protection blocker.

ROBERT HOLMES, FB, 5-9, 220, 5th Yr., Age 26, Southern U. Came to Oilers in mid-season trade with Kansas City and was leading rusher on team. Had 323 yards on 112 carries and scored four TD's to lead team. A very determined runner with great second effort. A fine pass receiver and blocker. Runs with a bull-dozer style.

KEN HOUSTON, S, 6-3, 195, 6th Yr., Age 28, Prairie View A&M Possibly the top strong safety in football. Set All-Time pro record in '71 with four interceptions for TD's and ran his record career total to nine in only five seasons. Has great speed and is a punishing hitter. Has 25 interceptions during five-year career and has returned nine for TD's.

ZEKE MOORE, CB, 6-3, 196, 6th Yr., Age 29, Lincoln One of the top cornerbacks in the AFC. Intercepted three passes in '71 to run career total to 13. Has outstanding speed and is a tough hitter. Excellent at one-on-one coverage. Was named to AFC Pro Bowl squad in '71. Also an excellent kickoff returnman.

MARK MOSELEY, K, 5-11, 187, 3rd Yr., Age 24, S. F. Austin A top-flight place kicker who led the Oilers in scoring in '71 with 73 points. Had top percentage of kickers in AFC between 20 and 40 yard lines. Played rookie year with Philadelphia and signed with Oilers as a free agent. Hit 16 of 26 field goals.

DAN PASTORINI, QB, 6-3, 215, 2nd Yr., Age 23, Santa Clara Has all the tools to become one of the all-time greats. Was Houston's number one draft choice in 1971 and took over as starting quarterback in final eight games, Led Oilers to excellent finish in '71 with three straight triumphs. Hit 127 of 270 attempts for 1,702 yards and seven TDs.

RON PRITCHARD, LB, 6-1, 230, 4th Yr., Age 25, Arizona St Oilers' number one draft choice in 1969 and has been a starter for past three seasons. Has great speed, pursuit and is a fierce competitor. Does an outstanding job of rushing quarterback. Was a consensus All-American in college and is considered outstanding outside linebacker.

ALVIN REED, TE, 6-5, 235, 6th Yr., Age 28, Prairie View A&M Has been one of the outstanding tight ends in the AFC for the past four years and is an excellent blocker. Has deceptive speed. Caught 25 passes for 408 yards and one TD in '71 and has a career total of 180 catches for 2,567 yards and 11 TDs.

MIKE TILLEMAN, DT, 6-6½, 280, 7th Yr., Age 28, Montana Came to Oilers in off-season trade in 71 and had a good year at defensive tackle. Has great strength and is double tough against the run. Does a good job rushing the passer. Is a strong competitor.

GEORGE WEBSTER, LB, 6-5, 230, 6th Yr., Age 27, Michigan St. One of the AFL's All-Time great outside linebackers. Oilers' number one draft choice in 1967 and was Rookie of the Year in '67. When healthy is as good as they come but has been hampered by injuries the last two seasons.

CHARLIE JOINER, WR, 5-11, 190, 4th Year, Age 25, Grambling Oilers' leading receiver in '71 with 31 catches for 681 yards, seven TDs and a 22.0 average per catch. Has great speed and hands. Can make the tough catch in a crowd. Had been hampered by injuries until last year and should become one of the premier receivers in the AFC in '72.

Bill Peterson Head Coach

Bill Peterson begins his first season as head coach of the Houston Oilers after a most successful tenure in the college ranks at Florida State and Rice University. Although it will be the first venture into the pro ranks for Peterson, the 48-year-old coaching veteran comes well equipped for his new challenge. Peterson was one of the first college coaches to employ the pro-style offense and his teams have developed a national reputation for an exciting offense and rock-ribbed defenses. Peterson-coached teams have always ranked near the top in both team and individual passing offense. Peterson, a native of Toronto, Ohio and a graduate of Ohio Northern University, had his first major college position as offensive line coach at Louisiana State under Paul Dietzel. He played a prominent role in the recruiting and development of many of the payers on LSU's 1958 National Championship team.

HOUSTON-BIG PLAY

In Charlie Johnson (No. 12) the Houston Oilers have a smart, experienced quarterback whose ability to instantly recognize the defensive coverage is one of his greatest assets. The pass play shown here can work successfully against either man-to-man coverage or against the zones which are becoming more prevalent in the NFL. The initial idea is to isolate Woody Campbell (No. 35), a very fast running back, on the strongside linebacker, thus creating something of a mis-match. As Johnson drops back to throw, he immediately sizes up the defensive coverage. If they are in man-to-man, he tries to hit Campbell on a deep route, figuring that Woody's speed will enable him to beat the slower linebacker down the field. If, however, Johnson anticipates zone coverage by the defense, he has a secondary receiver in split end Charlie Joiner (No. 18), Joiner drives straight down on the defensive halfback, forcing him to retreat, and then hooks sharply back toward the line of scrimmage. This is known both as a turn-in and a buttonhook, and it is especially effective against the zone because it enables the receiver to find a "hole" in the zone and then to pull up and turn back toward the guarterback. A third option open to Johnson (or to Dan Pastorini, the Oilers' other quarterback), is a deep down-and-out pattern to wide receiver Jim Beirne (No. 81) on the right side. If the Houston quarterback guess wrong on the defensive coverage, or if he isn't quite sure, he gets rid of the ball as quickly as possible to his other running back; this man sets up as if to pass block when Johnson drops back initially, and then he drifts out into the left flat to provide an outlet receiver in the event of trouble. Again, the quarterback is the fellow who makes this kind of a pass play work. If he out-quesses the defense - well, it again easily turns into a long-gainer for the Oilers.

Running back Robert Holmes came to Oilers from Kansas City and showed he still had that old running prowess. Here he takes off against Cleveland.

Rookie quarterback Dan Pastorini had his baptism of fire in 1971 and proved that he has an outstanding future with Houston.

KANSAS CITY CHIEFS

All-NFL middle linebacker Willie Lanier . . . a study in concentration . . . and bad news for the opposition.

AFL founder Lamar Hunt's turned into a tale of two successes when his Kansas City Chiefs played the Green Bay Packers in the first Super Bowl in 1966, and when they won the 1970 Super Bowl over the Minnesota Vikings.

Hunt had tried often to get into the NFL, and finally formed the rival AFL in a hotel room in 1959. Hank Stram, who has been the only head coach in the team's history, stocked the 1960 Dallas Texans with Texans, including Abner Haynes, who became the AFL's first headliner.

On Dec. 23, 1962, the Texans beat Houston, 20-17, on Tommy Brooker's 25-yard field goal at 17:54 of overtime. Then the Texans left Dallas to the NFL Cowboys and flew that AFL title flag in their new home, Kansas City.

Len Dawson, who had led the AFL in passing in 1962 and '64, became the fulcrum of the "Offense of the '70s" as Stram went with the "1" formation before any other pro coach and threw in the "triple stack" on defense.

Stram now has 104 wins in his pro career.

Kansas City Key Players

BOBBY BELL, LB, 6-4, 228, 10th Yr., Age 32, Minnesota Outstanding linebacker was a unanimous All-Pro for third straight year in '71, also named Alltime AFL linebacker by Hall of Fame. Enough said? Simply outstanding player, he has 20 interceptions in last seven seasons.

AARON BROWN, DE, 6-5, 255, 7th Yr., Age 28, Minnesota No. 1 draft choice in 1966, he's been outstanding ever since. Was powerhouse in 1970 Super Bowl triumph. Superb pass rusher who is also strong against run.

BUCK BUCHANAN, DT, 6-7, 275, 10th Yr., Age 32, Grambling Another of the Chiefs' powerful defensive linemen, he also made the All-AFC team last year as well as Pro Bowl. Was All-AFL four times, Chiefs' MVP twice. Played with injured knee in 1970, still had top campaign.

ED BUDDE, Guard, 6-5, 260, 10th Yr., Age 31, Michigan State Top guard was named to AFC All-Star team in 1970, also played in Pro Bowl again. Was first team All-League in 1969 as well and has been in six AFL or AFC All-Star games. Was club's No. 1 draft choice in 1963.

CURLEY CULP, DT, 6-1, 265, 5th Yr., Age 25, Arizona State Originally with Denver, came to Chiefs in trade for a draft choice and has been key man ever since. Extremely quick and agile, he hasn't missed starting a game in two years, was in 1969 AFL All-Star game. Can play either offense or defense, but right now he's strictly a defensive man.

LEN DAWSON, QB, 6-0, 190, 16th Yr., Age 37, Purdue Signed as free agent after being with Steelers, Browns and has been great QB with Chiefs. MVP in Super Bowl two years ago, has more than 20,000 yards gained passing 210 career TD connections. Led AFL four times in passing. Top leader.

WILLIE LANIER, LB, 6-1, 245, 6th Yr., Age 27, Morgan State Has started every game for past four seasons, winning All-AFC honors last year, going to the All-Pro game too. Starred in Super Bowl victory two years ago, he has come up with 12 interceptions in last four years.

JIM MARSALIS, DB, 5-11, 185, 4th Yr., Age 27, Tennessee St. Another All-Afc selection last year, he too was picked for the AFC-NFC All-Pro game. Was AFL Rookie of the Year in 1969 after being No. 1 draft choice that year. Had a total of three interceptions in 1971.

ED PODOLAK, RB, 6-1, 205, 4th Yr., Age 25, Iowa Has been club's leading rusher for past two years, finishing as No. 10 in AFC in 1971 with 708 yards and nine TDs. Also caught 36 passes and doubles as a topnotch punt return specilist.

JOHNNY ROBINSON, DB, 6-1, 205, 13th Yr., Age 33, L.S.U. Last of the original Chiefs on the roster, continues to make All-Pro teams. Named to alltime AFL team, he was the AFC's top interceptor in 1970 with 10, added four in 1971 to run career totals to 57, Great competitor.

O.

JAN STENERUD, Kicker, 6-2, 187, 6th Yr., Age 29, Montana St. Solid kicking specialist has been outstanding for Chiefs, despite critical miss in last year's playoff game. Had 110 points, including 28 FG in regular season, giving him 582 points in just five campaigns!!!

OTIS TAYLOR, WR, 6-3, 215, 8th Yr., Age 30, Prairie View Could be most exciting receiver in pro football. Does it all, fantastic competitor. Had 57 catches for 1,110 yards and seven TDs in 1971, made All-NFL and Pro Bowl. Great runner after catching the ball.

JIM TYRER, Tackle, 6-6, 270, 12th Yr., Age 33, Ohio State Named to AFC All-Star team and played in the Pro Bowl game too. Still another Chief on the Alltime AFL team picked by Hall of Fame. One of most consistent performers in NFL, he's always had top ratings as blocker, fiery competitor.

Hank Stram Head Coach

Only man to serve as head coach during the entire existence of American Football League and winningest coach in AFL history with 97-32-6 record, including three AFL championships. Stram's 1962 team won title in longest pro football game on record, a 20-17 victory over Houston after 17 minutes, 54 seconds of sudden-death overtime. His 1966 team represented AFL in first Super Bowl game against Packers of the National Football League, and the 1969 Chiefs ended the ten-year history of AFL by defeating Minnesota Vikings in the Super Bowl. Pro record is 104-56-8. Went to Purdue on football scholarship in 1941, but after first varsity season was in Army. Returned to Purdue in 1946, graduating in 1948 and joining the university's coaching staff for next eight years under Stu Holcomb. In 1956 coached at SMU, then spent two years as assistant at Notre Dame and one at Miami, Fla. Born January 3, 1924.

KANSAS CITY-BIG PLAY

The Kansas City Chiefs can point to an ideal blend of running and passing balance as one of the reasons for their consistent success in the AFC. This fine overall offensive balance enables Kansas City to strike quickly and with devastating effect from anywhere on the field. Once veteran quarterback Len Dawson has employed his fine running backs. Wendell Haves (No. 38) and Ed Podolak (No. 14), with success along the ground. he has the defense set-up nicely for one of his pet maneuvers - the play-action pass. As diagrammed here, Dawson calls his play from the Chiefs' tricky I-formation, using Haves as the near back and Podolak as the deep man in the I. This formation produces many of Kansas City's powerful off-tackle thrusts and swift end sweeps, so the defense must guard against any number of possibilities. As Dawson (No. 16) takes the snap, the Chiefs' line blocks down, just as it would for an off-tackle play. Haves drives toward right end, again simulating a lead blocker on a running play, and then Dawson makes a clever hand fake to Podolak, who drives toward the tackle hole behind Haves. To the defense, these preliminary moves - the line blocking down. Haves leading Podolak into the hole indicate one thing: run. If the fake is effective, the defense's initial reaction is to move up to iam the running lanes. As this picture unfolds. Kansas City flanker Elmo Wright (No. 17) angles in toward the strongside safety as if to block on him. When the defensive cornerback sees this, he may be convinced the play is a run, and he moves toward the line to make the tackle. This is what Wright has been waiting for. He immediately forgets about the safetyman and veers sharply to the outside behind the inbound cornerback, breaking deep down the right sideline to take Dawson's pass. If the cornerback does not take the run fake - well, the next time. Dawson might just come back with the real off-tackle run and catch the defender backing up to cover Wright. This is what's known as "keeping 'em guessing."

A familiar sight for Chief fans is all-purpose back Ed Podolak scoring touchdowns . . . and spiking the ball.

Who's a better receiver than Otis Taylor? Here Otis makes a believer out of Washington's Pat Fischer with a scoring grab.

The quarterback steps into the pocket and arches the football downfield. The receiver makes his cut, closely guarded by a defensive back, and they both go into the air for the pass. They collide, and the ball falls unclaimed to the ground.

A great defensive play? Or was it pass interference?

Split-second plays such as this are tough for an official to call, and difficult for the fans to understand—unless the fans have a workable knowledge of pro rules.

Not all the rules, of course, but at least those which cover situations that occur most frequently on a typical Sunday in the NFL. These would include the above-mentioned pass interference situation, use of hands and arms, the rules covering forward passing, backward pass or fumble, off-sides and illegal motion or formation.

Pass Interference

Let's start with pass interference, which is a call that usually stirs up the greatest controversy.

Generally speaking, it is interference (by either offense or defense) when any player movement beyond the line of scrimmage hinders the progress of an eligible receiver in his attempt to reach the

AS A RULE...

A Closer Look at Common Calls

pass—except (and this is important to note) when two or more eligible players make a simultaneous and bona fide attempt to catch or bat the ball.

"Simultaneous and bona fide" means the coming together of opposing eligible receivers (every defensive man is eligible when a pass is thrown!) at a spot of possible completion or interception of a pass, when each of the players is intent on "playing the ball" and where contact is unavoidable and incidental to the act of attempting to catch or bat the ball. Any contact prior to such time is interference by either one or both players.

Official's Judgment

Thus, contact between a receiver and the man covering him, or vice versa, doesn't automatically constitute interference. The call rests in the judgment of the official; he must decide where the spot of completion (or interception) might have been and whether the men in contact were "playing the ball" or playing each other.

During a pass it must be remembered that defensive players have as much right to the path of the ball as do eligible receivers.

Many off-side or illegal formation calls are made before the ball is snapped. This is because someone is in violation of these basic "musts" concerning position of players prior to the snap:

- The offense must have seven or more players on the line of scrimmage at the snap.
- Offensive players, except the quarterback, who are not on the line of scrimmage must be at least one yard behind the line.
- 3. No offensive player, after assuming a set position, shall charge or move in such a way as to lead the defense to believe that the ball has been snapped. The offense must keep this set position for at least one second before the snap.

Any movement can be punishable by a five-yard penalty for illegal motion. Likewise, if a back is lined up less than a yard behind the line, his team can be called for illegal formation, also a five-yard penalty.

On use of hands and arms, another common rules violation, here are some of the points to keep in mind:

- No offensive player can assist the runner except by blocking for him. That is, he can't push or shove the runner ahead.
- Offensive players can't help a runner to his feet or otherwise aid him with their hands or arms.
- 3. The runner can use his hands and arms to ward off tacklers but no other offensive player may use them to obstruct an opponent—that is, grasping with the hands or using them to push, during a block.
- 4. A defensive player may use his hands and arms only to ward off an offensive blocker, to push or pull him out of the way on the line of scrimmage, to tackle the runner, to push or pull the runner out of the way in an attempt to recover a loose ball.

Passing Calls

Since pro teams throw the football a lot, fans should have a basic knowledge of the do's and don'ts of passing. Here are some common points relevant to forward passing:

1. A pass may be caught by only one offensive receiver. All defensive players are eligible. However, if a pass is first touched by a defensive man, all players on offense then become eligible.

- If a pass is caught simultaneously by two eligible opposing players, the ball is awarded to the passing team.
- 3. Any forward pass becomes incomplete and the ball dead if the pass (a) strikes ground or goes out of bounds, (b) strikes goalpost or crossbar of either team and (c) is caught by an offensive player after touching an ineligible receiver, or second eligible receiver.
- 4. A pass is complete when a receiver touches the ground with both feet inbounds and with the ball in his possession. If the receiver is carried out of bounds by an opponent while he is in possession inbounds in the air, the pass is complete at out-of-bounds spot.
- 5. On fourth down, when the offense is inside the opponents' 20-yard line, any incomplete pass into the end zone is ruled an automatic touchback, and the ball is given to the opponents on their 20.

Under the following conditions, it is considered intentional grounding of a forward pass: When no eligible pass receivers are in position to catch the ball; when no defensive players are in position to catch the ball; when the passer makes a deliberate attempt to prevent the loss of yardage by his team. In recent years, officials have been instructed to interpret this rule more strictly—much to the dismay of many veteran quarterbacks who are highly expert at "getting rid" of the ball.

Here's something good to remember: a fumble is a free ball and may be recovered and advanced by either the offense or defense. However, a backward pass (or lateral) may be recovered and advanced only by the offense. The defense can recover but cannot advance the ball unless the ball was caught in the air. Neither side can advance a muff. A muff is a fumble (or loose ball) which is touched by a player in an unsuccessful attempt to gain possession.

"Roughing" Calls

One of the most frequent calls in pro football is "roughing the passer," the penalty for which is 15 yards and disqualification of the offender when flagrant. The rules committee is definitely committed to the protection of the passer. A passer who is standing still or fading backwards is obviously out of the play after the ball has left his hand, and he is to be protected until the pass ends, or until he starts to move into a distinctly defensive position. The referee must determine whether the opponent had a reasonable chance to stop the passer's momentum before hitting him.

MIAMI DOLPHINS

Miami's powerhouse little kicker Garo Yepremian connects on another field goal. He led entire NFL in scoring last year with 117 points.

The Dolphins promised excitement while spending $7.5 million to obtain the AFL's expansion franchise in 1966.

Local boy Joe Auer lived up to the promise when he returned the opening kickoff 95 yards to score as the Dolphins opened for business and set an expansion record with three first-year victories.

Rookie Bob Griese took over as quarterback in the second season and set a one-year AFL record of 122 pass attempts without an interception. Since then, Griese has improved steadily and so have the Dolphins.

When Don Shula jumped down from the Baltimore Colts to take over as Dolphin coach for 1970. worked with young linebackers, the steady receiving of Paul Warfield and the running of Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick. Shula put it all together and brought the young club to a 1970 playoff, then to the 1971 AFC championship and a Super Bowl berth! That proved to be a quick trip for that expansion team and certainly worth the franchise investment. And the Dolphins look strong for the future!

Miami Key Players

NICK BUONICONTI, LB, 5-11, 220, 11th Yr., Age 31, N.D. Defensive captain and veteran All-League linebacker had another solid season as Dolphins went all the way to Super Bowl. Had one interception to up career total to 28. Came to Miami from Patriots in 1969, has been outstanding ever since.

MARLIN BRISCOE, WR, 5-11, 178, 4th Yr., Age 27, Omaha Originally a quarterback with Denver, came to Buffalo as a wide receiver and led AFC in that department with 57 catches in 1970. Came back last year to lead club with 44 grabs for 603 yards and five touchdowns. Traded to Miami in June.

LARRY CSONKA, RB, 6-2, 237, 5th Yr., Age 25, Syracuse All-Pro running back had biggest year ever in '71, ramming for 1,051 yards to finish second behind Floyd Little in AFC. Bruising runner, he averaged a gaudy 5.4 yards per carry, scored seven TDs, blocked well for running mate Jim Kiick all year.

NORM EVANS, OT, 6-5, 255, 8th Yr., Age 29, T.C.U. Starting his seventh year as regular right offensive tackle, Norm is an outstanding performer, both as a pass blocker and for the run. Played rookie year with Houston, then came to Miami in expansion draft. Three times Miami's MVP lineman.

MANNY FERNANDEZ, DT, 6-2, 250, 5th Yr., Age 26, Utah Not the biggest DT in pro football, but still one of the very best. Rugged competitor, he has been Dolphins' outstanding defensive lineman each of his four years. Excels on the pass rush. Signed as a free agent, he's turned out to be a real gem.

BOB GRIESE, QB, 6-1, 190, 6th Yr., Age 27, Purdue Had Super year in 1971, winning All-NFL honors and leading the AFC in passing as well. Also named to AFL All-Star team for third time. Completed 145 passes for a 55.1% accuracy, 2.089 yards and 19 TDs ... with only 9 interceptions. Truly outstanding.

CURTIS JOHNSON, DB, 6-1, 196, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Toledo
The No. 4 draft choice of Miami in 1970, he became a starter as a rookie and led club in fumble recoveries and was fourth in tackles. Also had two interceptions that year. Came back last year to improve even more, added two more interceptions.

JIM KIICK, RB, 5-11, 215, 5th Yr., Age 26, Wyoming Teams with Csonka to give Dolphins explosive 1-2 punch. Had 738 yards rushing for 4.5 average, caught 40 passes for 338 more yards last year. Was Dolphins' leading rusher his first two campaigns, led in pass receiving in '70. Rugged competitor.

LARRY LITTLE, Guard, 6-1, 265, 6th Yr., 26, Bethune-C'kman. Could well be the best guard in pro football. Won All-NFL honors in 1971, was named outstanding lineman in AFC in 1970, and been a Pro Bowler. Superb blocker, great competitor. Originally a free agent with San Diego, came to Miami in 1969 trade.

JACK SCOTT, DB, 6-0, 188, 3rd Yr., Age 27, Georgia A No. 7 draft choice in 1970 after playing two years in Canada, he stepped into a starting role as a rookie and has been top performer ever since. Led club with seven interceptions in '71, also in punt returns with 9.6 average, second best in AFC.

BILL STANFILL, DE, 6-5, 250, 4th Yr., Age 25, Georgia
No. 1 draft choice in 1969, he's been a starter ever since and has improved yearly. Outstanding pass rusher with great speed, he had two TDs in rookie year after blocking passes, then intercepting them. Also a deadly tackler. Great future.

PAUL WARFIELD, WR, 6-0, 185, 9th Yr., Age 29, Ohio State All-NFL star is one of finest receivers ever to play in the league. Superb moves, great hands he came to Miami from Cleveland in 1970 trade. Led Dolphins in receiving in 1971 with 43 catches for 996 yards, eye-popping 23.2 average-per-catch, scored 11 touchdowns.

GARO YEPREMIAN, K, 5-8, 172, 5th Yr., Age 28, No College Native of Cypress came to Miami from Detroit Lions, has been a sensation with Dolphins. Led entire NFL in scoring last year with 117 points, including 28 field goals. Got Dolphins into Super Bowl with sudden-death FG vs. Kansas City Chiefs.

Don Shula Head Coach

Started with Cleveland Browns as defensive back in 1951. After two seasons with Browns, spent four seasons (1953-'56) with Baltimore and one season ('57) with Washington Redskins, Joined Detroit Lions as defensive coach in 1960 and named head coach of Colts in 1963, succeeding Weeb Ewbank. Pro record 91-30-5. After an 8-6 record in his first year at Baltimore, Shula's Colts won Western Conference title in 1964 with 12-2 record, including team record 11 straight victories. Colts were defeated 27-0 by Cleveland in championship game. In 1965, Baltimore tied Green Bay for first in the Western Conference at 10-3-1 despite the late-season loss of quarterbacks Johnny Unitas and Gary Cuozzo. Colts lost to Packers 13-10 in sudden-death overtime playoff.

MIAMI-BIG PLAY

The Miami Dolphins made it all the way to Super Bowl VI last year on the strength of a vard-gouging ball-control offense led by Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick - and if the Dolphins are to return in 1972 they must once again depend on their two big runners to get the job done. The Miami running game is based on straight-ahead power and on the ability of Csonka, at 6-2 and 235, and Kiick, at 6-0 and 215, to effectively block for each other. They are probably the best-matched pair of big backs in profootball today. The Dolphin short-yardage power play shown in the diagram is typical of the Miami ball-control attack. When only a few yards are needed, the Dolphins would rather give the ball to one of their backs than risk putting it in the air. There is a minimum of deception on this power drive. What the Dolphins do is put three of their best blockers at the point of the attack. Right guard Larry Little (No. 66), an All Pro lineman, and right tackle Norm Evans (No. 73) execute routine zone blocks on the defensive tackle and end, respectively. Csonka, leading the way for his running mate, drives into the hole created by Little and Evans and turns to his left looking for the middle linebacker. Quarterback Bob Griese makes a reverse pivot and hands off directly to Kiick, who stays close on Csonka's heels as the burly fullback leads him into the line. This is not a long-gain play in most cases, but it is very effective when Miami needs a couple of tough yards for a first down. Both Csonka and Kiick have great second effort and neither of them fumbles very often. This adds up to ball-control football at its best. It may not be spectacular but it got the Dolphins to Super Bowl VI and they are hoping it gets them to Super Bowl VII.

Fullback Larry Csonka-237 pounds in the open field, en route to some of his 1,051 yards rushing last year.

The other half of the Butch Cassidy-Sundance Kid running tandem is Jim Kiick, here slashing for yardage against the Chiefs.

NEW ENGLAND PATRIOTS

As a rookie quarterback last season, Jim Plunkett proved to be special with 19 TD passes, AFC Rookie of Year honors.

The Patriots were Boston's fourth attempt at pro football when they entered the three-month-old AFL. It took a decade of moving from one stadium to another before the Pats finally got a home to call their own in Foxboro, Mass.

For one month of 1971 they were the Bay State Patriots and then settled upon New England Patriots at the suggestion of new General Manager Upton Bell, son of the late commissioner Bert Bell. The name matched the season ticket sales. The Pats hit the 50,000 target with buyers from more than just the six New England states. And this was before the signing of the No. 1 draftee of all of pro football for 1971: Stanford's Heisman Trophy-winning quarterback Jim Plunkett, who turned in a superb rookie season.

Running back Jim Nance, who was the only AFL performer ever with back-to-back 1,000-yard rushing efforts, still is No. 1 in the Pat offense, but the defense has many new faces, including such promising young players as Julius Adams who looks to be a future star.

New England Key Players

JULIUS ADAMS, DT, 6-3, 260, 2d Yr., Age 24, Texas Southern No. 2 draft choice turned out to be a plum. Moved into starting job when Houston Antwine was injured, responded with a solid rookie year. Great size, speed and power, he's destined to be a "great one" says coach John Mazur.

JIM CHEYUNSKI, LB, 6-2, 225, 5th Yr., Age 26, Syracuse Holds club records of 16 solo tackles in a game and 138 solos in a season. Replaced Nick Buoniconti as MLB in 1969, has improved yearly, now ranks as solid defender in key defensive position. One interception in 1971.

CARL GARRETT, RB, 6-0, 215, 4th Yr., Age 25, N. Mex. H'ds. The "Roadrunner" had a big season last year, leading club in rushing with 784 yards and in kickoff returns with 538 yards. Also caught 22 passes for 253 yards. Was AFL's Rookie of the Year in 1969. Durable performer.

CHARLIE GOGOLAK, K, 5-10, 179, 6th Yr., Age 27, Princeton Acquired from Denver in 1970, he topped the NFL in field goal marksmanship from the 30-39 yard range last year, hitting six of seven from that distance. Scored 64 points in '71 with 12 FGs, 28 points-after.

DARYL JOHNSON, DB, 5-11, 190, 4th Yr., Age 26, Morgan St. Missed entire 1971 season with ankle injury, but should be good as new for '72. Great athlete who has blanked a lot of top receivers in the past, and a fiery competitor who is a hard-hitting tackler. Has 4.6 speed.

STEVE KINER, LB, 6-1, 220, 3rd Yr., Age 25, Tennessee Came from Dallas last year, proved to be a real top acquisition. Extremely quick with great range, deadly and bruising tackler. NFL Defensive Player of the Week, he had four interceptions last year.

JON MORRIS, Center, 6-4, 255, 9th Yr., Age 30, Holy Cross Offensive captain and leader of the "Protect Plunkett Platoon". Was an AFL All-Star every year, still ranked as one of top centers in the NFL. Smart, seasoned player who is a tremendous pass blocker.

JIM NANCE, RB, 6-1, 235, 8th Yr., Age 29, Syracuse Veteran back was slowed by broken toe in 1971, still rushed for 463 yards and a 3.6 average, scored five TDs. Had 1,458 yards in 1966, an AFL record, was AFL's MVP that same year. Career rushing mark now over 5,000 yards.

MIKE MONTLER, T, 6-4, 255, 4th Yr., Age 28, Colorado Tough ex-Marine hampered by injuries in past, can also play guard. No. 2 draft choice in 1969 after All-American career in college. Very strong and aggressive, he's one of most physical offensive tackles in AFC.

JIM PLUNKETT, OB, 6-3, 220, 2d Yr., Age 24, Stanford No. 1 draft choice stepped in at QB and played every minute on offense during the season, winning AFC Rookie of the Year honors and spot on NFL AII-Rookie team. Big, strong, he completed 158 passes for 2,158 yards, had 19 TD throws.

DAVID ROWE, TD, 6-7, 280, 6th Yr., Age 27, Penn State Acquired from Houston in 1971, moved into a starting job with Pats and was a solid addition to a much improved front four. Started for four years at New Orleans before Houston. Big, strong inside pass rusher.

RON SELLERS, WR, 6-4, 195, 4th Yr., Age 25, Florida State Plagued by nagging injuries in 1971, he saw only limited service, hardly any in second half of year. Had 14 catches for 222 yards and three TDs before injury jinx hit. Outstanding receiver with great potential.

RANDY VATAHA, WR, 5-11, 175, 2d Yr., Age 23, Stanford Drafted No. 17 by Rams, then cut, he was picked up by Patriots to team with ex-Stanford mate Plunkett . . . and had super rookie year. Caught 51 passes for 872 yards and 9 TDs, named to All-Rookie team. Exciting performer.

John Mazur Head Coach

Took over as head coach midway through the 1970 season as club was foundering with injuries and did fine job through the balance of the campaign. Prior to being named the head man, he had been the offensive coordinator at Boston under Clive Rush. Previously, he had been an assistant coach with the Buffalo Bills for seven years, helping that club to several AFL titles. Now with Patriots in new stadium and with exciting new players like Jim Plunkett and some fine young talent already on the club, he gets the opportunity to pilot a promising young team. Mazur has fine background in offensive strategy. He was a quarterback at Notre Dame for three seasons under Frank Leahy (1948-'51), and subsequently played quarterback with the Vancouver Lions of the Canadian Football League. Mazur moved into the coaching ranks on the collegiate level, starting at Tulane in 1955-'56-'57, moving from there to Marquette in 1958 and then to Boston University from 1959-'61, prior to heading to the Buffalo Bills. Born on June 17, 1930.

NEW ENGLAND-BIG PLAY

Now that Jim Plunkett, the former Stanford All-American and Heisman Trophy winner, has come into his own as a professional guarterback, the New England Patriots can be expected to place more emphasis on the forward pass. Primarily a strong running team in past years, the Patriots must now go to their strength - and their strength is Plunkett's strong right arm. Most insiders rate him as "another Joe Namath" when it comes to throwing the football. Still, the Patriots cannot afford to become just a passing team; they must also strive for a balanced offense that includes running, too. This means that even when Plunkett is going to pass, New England will attempt to present a "running look." This concept is outlined in the accompanying diagram. Basically, it is nothing more than play-action. The play is a weakside flood action pattern which attempts to place three receivers into one area of the secondary, thus forcing the defense into single coverage. The first move, of course, is to pin the defense down with the run fake, and Plunkett does this by simulating a handoff to fullback Jim Nance (No. 35), who sets up as if to pass block and then slides through the line and tries to get free over the middle. Wide receiver Ron Sellers (No. 34) on the left is the primary target on this play, and he runs a deep turn-in route. The other New England running back drifts out into the left flat and then breaks sharply for the sideline. What this weakside flood pattern does, then, is to occupy both the middle and right linebacker on one side of the field and put Sellers into a one-on-one situation with the cornerback. Plunkett is learning to spot his targets quickly - and to go to his secondary man if the primary man is covered. The value of this flood pattern is that the three potential receivers are in the same general area, so Jim doesn't have to look all over the field to find an optional target.

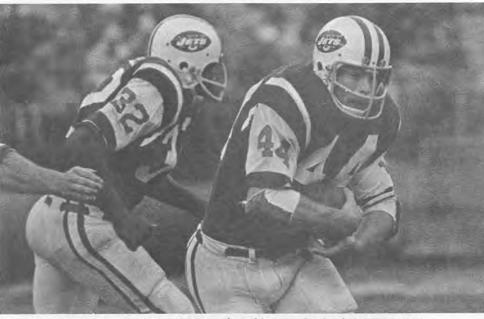

Off to the races is New England's "Road Runner", Carl Garrett. The swifty churned up 784 yards rushing in 1971.

After stops at Washington and Denver, sidewheeler Charlie Gogolak proved to be a dependable booter for the Pats in '71.

NEW YORK JETS

An outstanding rookie year was enjoyed by running back John Riggins who led Jets in both rushing and receiving.

New York Jets, who soared from the bankruptcy in the office and in the huddle, with the 1963 arrival of Sonny Werblin and four partners with $1 million and the 1965 signing of quarterback Joe Namath for a $400,000 package.

The Jets had been the Titans and had a history of inflating figures when taking attendance, but the Jets broke AFL attendance records before the merger with the National Football League.

Jet coach-general manager-den mother Weeb Ewbank, who had turned John Unitas into a championship quarterback at Baltimore, did the same with Namath. And the victory was sweeter when the Jets gave the AFL its first Super Bowl win by conquering the Colts, 16-7, in 1969 to live up to Namath's pre-game prediction.

Joe had become the only passer ever to gain more than 4,000 yards in the Jets first .500-plus season in 1967, two years after he had succeeded Jet running back Matt Snell as AFL rookie of the year.

Namath, Snell and defensive end standout Gerry Philbin missed most of 1971, but the Jets were still able to shock a few teams. With No. 1 draftee John Riggins, a running back from Kansas showing great potential in his rookie year, the Jets' future looks even brighter than in 1964 when they moved into Shea Stadium.

New York Key Players

AL ATKINSON, LB, 6-2, 230, 8th Yr., Age 29, Villanova Defensive captain came to Jets on waivers from Buffalo in 1965, has been outstanding MLB ever since. Inspirational leader, he is a solid tackler who is also excellent on his pass coverage. Two interceptions in 1971.

EMERSON BOOZER, RB, 5-11, 195, 7th Yr., Age 29, Md. St. Enjoyed his best season last year, rushing for 618 yards and scoring five TDs in combination with rookie Riggins. Em also caught 11 passes for 120 yards and a TD, now has career rushing total of 3,141 yards and 34 touchdowns.

RICH CASTER, WR-TE, 6-5, 222, 3rd Yr., Age 23, Jackson St. Earned starting role in 1971 replacing the retired George Sauer and proved to be a solid receiver. Has fine speed for a big man and improved each game. Had 26 catches for 454 yards and six touchdowns. Also a fine blocker.

JOHN ELLIOTT, DT, 6-4, 245, 6th Yr., Age 27, Texas Acclaimed as one of finest defensive tackles in the game, certainly one of the quickest. Off to a great start in '71, he suffered knee injury and was out for rest of year. In previous year, was All-AFC and named to the Pro Bowl.

LARRY GRANTHAM, LB, 6-0, 210, 13th Yr., Age 33, Miss. Among smallest LBs in NFL, the veteran nonetheless had another big year in 1971, winning team MVP honors for season's fine work. Calls defensive signals, very heady player. Had one interception to run career total to 25 thefts.

WINSTON HILL, Tackle, 6-4, 270, 10th Yr., Age 30, Texas S'ern. Veteran star had another outstanding year in '71, again winning All-NFL honors. Also picked for Pro Bowl again, the co-captain is one of the very best pass-blockers in the NFL. Named to the AFL All-Star squad four times in career.

MARK LOMAS, DE, 6-4, 245, 3rd Yr., Age 24, No. Arizona A No. 8 draft choice, he played tackle as a rookie, then moved to DE last year when injuries downed Gerry Philbin. Played in every game, did an outstanding job all year long sacking the passer seven times during the year. Fine potential.

DON MAYNARD, WR, 6-1, 179, 14th Yr., Age 35, Tex. Western The alltime pro record holder for receiving yardage with a career total of 11,306, he's also caught 86 TD passes, second only to Don Hutson. Four times an AFL All-Star, he caught 21 passes in '71, now has 603 for his long, impressive career.

JOE NAMATH, QB, 6-2, 200, 8th Yr., Age 29, Alabama Hampered by injury jinx in recent campaigns, still rated the best passer in the game when healthy. Came off knee injury in '71 against 49ers, threw for 258 yards and 3 TDs in that big return. AFL All-time team member. All-Pro... you name it.

GERRY PHILBIN, DE, 6-2, 245, 9th Yr., Age 31, Buffalo All-Pro defensive end, twice an AFL-All-Star and an AFL Alltime team member, he suffered through another injury-plagued year in '71 with a knee injury, yet still was as aggressive as ever when he did get into action. Top pass rusher, rugged competitor.

JOHN RIGGINS, RB, 6-2, 237, 2d Yr., Age 23, Kansas No. 1 draft choice for '71 had a super rookie year, leading Jets in rushing and in receiving and was named to All-Rookie team. Had 769 yards rushing and a 4.3 average, caught 36 passes for 231 yards, scored three TDs. Also an outstanding blocker.

JOHN SCHMITT, Center, 6-4, 250, 9th Yr., Age 29, Hofstra Bulwark of the offensive line, the veteran center is a fiery competitor who earned his status by hard work and determination. An outstanding pass blocker, he works hard at his trade, has the results to prove that determination.

EARLIE THOMAS, DB, 6-1, 190, 3rd Yr., Age 26, Colorado St. Anchorman of the defensive secondary, he continued to show improvement in his second year as a cornerback. A No. 11 draft choice, his coverage is so good that few passers threw into his area. Also a solid tackler, considered All-Pro material.

Weeb Ewbank Head Coach

Only coach to win championship in both AFL and NFL. Entering 19th year as head coach. Started as line coach with Cleveland Browns in 1949, then moved on to Baltimore as head coach in 1954, winning the NFL championship in 1958 and 1959. From 1954 through 1962, the Colts compiled a 59-52-1 record. Took over as Jets' coach in 1963. Team won AFL championship in 1968, then defeated Baltimore of NFL in Super Bowl. 1969 Jets finished first in AFL Eastern Division with 10-4 record, lost in playoffs to Super Bowl winner, Kansas City. A quarterback at Miami, Ohio, baseball captain and a member of the basketball team. Was a coach in Ohio high school system for fourteen seasons before joining Paul Brown at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station in 1943. At the end of World War II became backfield coach at Brown University (1946), also head basketball coach.

JETS-BIG PLAY

Despite a fine overall air-ground attack, the New York Jets will live and die by the forward pass as long as Joe Namath (No. 12), the greatest thrower in the game today, is playing guarterback. The Jets can run the ball with any team in the AFC - thanks to ball-carriers like John Riggins (No. 44), Emerson Boozer (No. 32) and, if he's healthy, Matt Snell (No. 41) - but in the clutch, in the real pressure situations, Namath inevitably goes to the pass. It is his big weapon and the Jets' quickest, surest way of getting points up on the board. Because the Jets have such a fine offensive line (a unit that has been schooled to give Namath maximum protection). Broadway Joe can often employ multiple five-man pass patterns that flood the secondary with receivers and greatly increase the chance of a completion. In the New York pass play shown here, Namath presents the defense with a major coverage problem by using every available receiver in a single pattern. In a way it's risky because Joe strips himself of any backfield blocking help. But the Jets' quarterback thinks it's a risk worth taking - in the right situation, of course. Namath circles his two backs, Riggins (No. 44) and Boozer (No. 32), into the short zone over the middle. Split end Rich Caster (No. 88) drives straight at his defensive man to a depth of about 15 yards and then executes a sharp square-in move which takes him over the middle and directly into Namath's line of fire. Tight end Pete Lammons (No. 87) ties down the strong safety by running a deep turn-in route while flanker Don Maynard (No. 13) races down the right sideline and executes a quick hook move on the cornerback in that area. With the linebackers having to cover Riggins and Boozer, the defense is unable to double cover any of the Jets' wide receivers - and this is what Namath is looking for. If Joe can get Caster or Maynard in a one-on-one set-up, he feels he can complete the pass 90 per cent of the time.

Injured most of 1971, Joe Namath is ready to return, which simply put means bad news for all NFL foes.

Young Mark Lomas (84) proved to be a player with great potential in 1971. Here the defensive end downs Colts' Tom Matte.

OAKLAND RAIDERS

The NFL's leading receiver with 61 catches in 1971 was Fred Biletnikoff. Here's a dandy grab against the Eagles.

The Raiders had an AFL record 19-game losing streak when Al Davis took over as head coach in 1963.

A few trades later and Davis had enough personnel to go with All-AFC center Jim Otto and All-AFL running back Clem Daniels to become Coach of the Year with a 10-4 record.

Three successful years later, Davis became the short-term AFL commissioner. With the merger, he returned as manager partner, made a trade with Buffalo for quarterback Daryle Lamonica and the Raiders were on their way to the 1967 AFL title and a berth in the Super Bowl.

The greatest Oakland onslaught was 51-0 over the Denver Broncos in 1967, The Raider defense, living up to the team motto of "Pride and Poise," which was to be inscribed on their AFL championship rings, dropped Bronco would-be passers for losses totaling 70 yards, allowed two completions and a total offense of minus five yards.

After winning the AFL West in 1969 and the AFC West in 1970, 35-year-old head coach John Madden sees the Raiders making that one last step to the top again. 1971 record was 8-4-2.

Oakland Key Players

GEORGE ATKINSON, DB, 6-1, 180, 5th Yr., Age 25, M. Brown Multi-talented player has doubled as a defensive back and return specialist for Raiders and won UPI honorable mention for AII-AFC in '71. Had four interceptions for 70 yards returned, also led club in punt returns with 20 for 159 yards, 8.0 average.

FRED BILETNIKOFF, WR, 6-1, 190, 8th Yr., Age 29, Florida Led the NFL in receiving last season with 61 catches for 929 yards and nine touchdowns, and also became club's alltime receiving leader with 302 receptions for 5,050 yards and 42 TDs. Slick, disciplined receiver also named to Pro Bowl, several All-AFC teams.

BOB BROWN, Tackle, 6-4, 280, 9th Yr., Age 30, Nebraska Came to Raiders in trade with L.A. Rams, promptly showed his All-Pro form again, winning All-NFL honors at offensive tackle, going to Pro Bowl again. Former No. 1 draft pick of Philadelphia, and Ram standout, he's powerhouse blocker.

WILLIE BROWN, DB, 6-1, 190, 10th Yr., Age 31, Grambling Veteran performer rated by many as best cornerback in NFL. Won All-NFL honors last season in all of the major polls, also named to Pro Bowl again. He's also an Alltime AFL team selection. Had two interceptions in '71, now has 34 for 368 yards in career.

RAYMOND CHESTER, TE, 6-3, 225, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Morgan St. No. 1 draft choice in 1970, he's been a solid star ever since his rookie year. Big, fast, a fine blocker, he's also a top receiver. Had 28 catches last season for 442 yards and seven TDs after 42 grabs his rookie year. Named to Pro Bowl this past season.

DAN CONNERS, LB, 6-1, 230, 9th Yr., Age 31, Miami (Fla.) Veteran linebacker is a seasoned, dependable performer who has been an All-League selection thrice. Deadly tackler, he's also a fiery competitor. Had three interceptions in 1971 to run career mark to 11. Has scored five TDs in career.

BEN DAVIDSON, DE, 6-8, 280, 12th Yr., Age 32, Washington Signed as a free agent in 1964 after being cut by several NFL teams, Big Ben has become an impressive defensive lineman during his years with Raiders. Has won All-AFL and All-Star team honors during career. Big, strong, very aggressive, he's always been a hitter.

MARV HUBBARD, RB, 6-1, 225, 4th Yr., Age 26, Colgate Got his chance to play regularly when Hewritt Dixon was injured, and turned in outstanding season, leading Raiders in rushing with 867 yards and an impressive 4.8 average. Also grabbed 22 passes for 167 yards and scored six TDs overall. Strong, tough runner.

TOM KEATING, DT, 6-2, 247, 8th Yr., Age 29, Michigan Hampered by injuries in recent campaigns, he's nonetheless one of the premier defensive linemen in the game when he's completely healthy. All-AFL several times, he's not the biggest DT around, but there's none with any more competitive drive or spirit.

DARYLE LAMONICA, QB, 6-3, 215, 10th Yr., Age 31, N.D. The Raiders' alltime passing leader, he's been league MVP, All-AFL, and AFC passing leader during his career. Big and strong, he did not have one of his better seasons in '71, yet still completed 118 passes for 48.8% accuracy, 1,717 yards and 16 touchdowns.

JIM OTTO, Center, 6-2, 248, 13th Yr., Age 34, Miami (Fla.) Mr. All-Star himself. He's been All-League pivotman for 11 straight years, also on the Alltime AFL team. Offensive co-captain, an original Raider . . . a Pro Bowl selection. He's durable, he does it all and there's none better at his position. Fine leader.

CARLETON OATS, DT, 6-3, 260, 8th Yr., Age 30, Florida A&M A 21st round draft choice in 1964, spent several years as a reserve, then worked himself into starting role where he's been for past four campaigns. Rugged, aggressive, he has proven to be equally as adept against the run as he is with his pass rush.

GENE UPSHAW, Guard, 6-5, 255, 6th Yr., Age 27, Texas A & I No. 1 draft choice in 1967 has been an outstanding player ever since rookie year when he won a starting job. All-AFL three straight times, he also made All-AFC in 1971, second team All-NFL. Outstanding speed, excels in all phases of blocking.

John Madden Head Coach

Signed by Philadelphia Eagles as a "red shirt" at California Poly after he had achieved Little All-America recognition as a defensive tackle. Suffered a disabling knee injury in Eagles' 1959 training camp which sidelined him for the season, although he stayed with the squad that year. The knee failed to respond and he moved into coaching in 1960. In his first year, Raiders won Western Division title in '69 with best record in the pros (12-2-1) and swept through Houston in inter-divisional playoff before losing to Kansas City in AFL title game, 17-7. Club also won Western Division AFC crown in 1970. At 36, Madden is one of the youngest major league coaches. He served two years as assistant coach at Hancock Junior College, in Santa Maria, Calif., and two years as head coach. During this period his teams won three of four championships in the California Collegiate Athletic League.

OAKLAND-BIG PLAY

The Oakland Raiders are a team that specializes in the so-called "big play" particularly when Daryle Lamonica is quarterbacking. Lamonica would much rather hit the scoreboard with a long bomb pass or some other razzle-dazzle than grind it out along the ground. And yet, to make the passing game effective, the Raiders must establish a consistent running attack. By keeping the defense "honest," that is, making the defense respect the run, the Raiders can then go to the air with one of their many specialties — like the pass play diagrammed here. It is said that Warren Wells (No. 81). Oakland's split left end, is the best one-on-one receiver in pro ball, and so the Raiders try to take advantage of his presence in the lineup whenever they can. On this particular play, Lamonica (No. 3) attempts to "freeze" the defense momentarily with a play-action fullback slant take to Mary Hubbard (No. 44). As the take to Hubbard is taking place, running back Charlie Smith (No. 23) further pressures the defense by running a straight-ahead route into the secondary, thus pinning down the free safety and forcing the defensive cornerback into single coverage on the fleet Wells. This is the situation the Raiders are looking for. At the snap. Wells drives off the line and races toward the cornerback, hoping to make him back-pedal a few yards. When Warren sees this happen, he breaks off his direct path and begins what is known as a weave pattern. making several in-and-out moves to keep the defender off balance, and finally breaks over the middle sharply to take Lamonica's pass. Flanker Fred Biletnikoff (No. 25) runs a deep decoy route on the opposite side of the field to occupy the other cornerback and safety. This leaves the zone over the middle clear of defenders, and gives Wells, a 9.4 speedster, plenty of running room once he latches onto Lamonica's pass. This play is a game-breaker in the true Oakland tradition.

Running back Marv Hubbard (44) had a big year in 1971, rushing for 867 yards, including this gallop against Denver.

Somewhere under that pile of Oakland sinew is Philadelphia quarterback Pete Liske. Ben Davidson (83), Art Thoms (80) and Carleton Oats (85) supply the muscle.

PITTSBURGH STEELERS

Big and strong and with a glittering future is Steeler quarterback Terry Bradshaw. Here he is drawing a bead on a Steeler receiver.

The Steelers are still looking for that first title flag to wave over Pittsburgh. The closest they came was a divisonal playoff loss to the Philadelphia Eagles in 1947, 14 years after the Steelers joined the National Football League.

They have a beautiful home in Three Rivers Stadium and the promise of the future in young quarterbacks Terry Bradshaw and Terry Hanratty. And the reigning Rooney family is unwilling to test the luck of the Irish in trade. The Steelers sent title-winning quarterbacks out of Pittsburgh too often in the past. These include John Unitas, Earl Morrall, Bill Nelsen, Tommy Thompson, Jack Kemp, Len Dawson and Frank Filchock.

Yet some of the game's most colorful players have been Steelers. There was Johnny (Blood) McNally, Bryon (Whizzer) White, now a U.S. Supreme Court Justice; Bullet Bill Dudley and Peter (Fats) Henry.

It was natural that three years ago the Steelers named defensive genius Chuck NoII as their 14th head coach because the Steelers have already been known for what opponents call a "painful" defense. Yet the only pain to owner Art Rooney, who has his own niche in the Hall of Fame, is that he does not own any title trophies.

Pittsburgh Key Players

CHUCK ALLEN, LB, 6-1, 225, 12th Yr., Age 33, Washington Came to Steelers in 1970 after nine years with San Diego where he was an All-AFL selection. Moved right into starting job with Steelers and has been key performer. Grabbed three interceptions in 1971.

CHARLIE BEATTY, DB, 6-2, 200, 4th Yr., Age 25, N. Texas St. A starter for a couple of years, he's overcome various injuries during his career to prove to be a capable safetyman. Has fine range, supplies good coverage and is a fine hitter in the open field.

MEL BLOUNT, DB, 6-4, 205, 3rd Yr., Age 24, Southern U. Another swift defensive back with good size, he can also double up as a kick return man. Intercepted two passes last season, also averaged 19.0 on kickoff returns after sparkling 29.7 return average in 1970.

TERRY BRADSHAW, QB, 6-3, 218, 3rd Yr., Age 24, La. Tech No. 1 draft choice in 1970, he's been a starter and solid player with great future. Had 203 pass completions last season for 2,259 yards and 13 TDs to go along with a fine 54.4 completion mark. Has powerful arm.

JOHN BROWN, Tackle, 6-2, 255, 11th Yr., Age 33, Syracuse Veteran interior lineman is club's offensive captain and has been a solid leader of that unit. Came from Cleveland in 1967 and has done outstanding job with Steelers. Equally as adept at pass blocking as he is for the run.

JOHN FUQUA, RB, 5-11, 200, 4th Yr., Age 26, Morgan St. Tough little running back came to Pittsburgh in trade with Giants in 1970 and has led club in rushing in both of the last two seasons. Had 625 yards in 1971 for 4.0 average. Got 218 in one game in '70 for club mark.

JOE GREENE, DT, 6-4, 280, 4th Yr., Age 25, No. Texas State Top draft choice in 1969, "Mean Joe" was rookie of the year then, and has gotten better every year it seems. A Pro Bowler for three straight years, he's powerful player who is destined to become outstanding star in NFL.

L.C. GREENWOOD, DE, 6-6, 245, 4th Yr., Age 25, Ark. AM&N Tough and rangy defensive lineman provides a solid outside pass rush for the Steelers and is just as impressive in running down ball carriers. Has exceptionally quick moves in fighting past his blocker. Fine competitor.

JACK HAM, LB, 6-3, 220, 2nd Yr., Age 23, Penn State Won starting job as a rookie, proved to be a key addition to fine defensive unit in 1971. Had three interceptions in one pre-season game, then went on to have solid regular season. Strong tackler, had two steals in regular play.

RAY MANSFIELD, C, 6-3, 250, 10th Yr., Age 31, Washington Originally with Philadelphia in 1963, came to Steelers the following year as tackle, then made switch to center where he's been a fixture ever since. Has proven to be a fine leader as well as determined blocker.

JOHN ROWSER, DB, 6-1, 185, 6th Yr., Age 28, Michigan Came to Steelers from Green Bay and has been a tough and dependable player for Pittsburgh. Had some big games in 1971 when he intercepted four passes for 94 yards, including a 70-yard TD romp. Had three steals in 1970.

ANDY RUSSELL, LB, 6-2, 225, 8th Yr., Age 30, Missouri All-AFC performer in both 1970 and 1971, he's a solid and dependable player who has been defensive captain and who does excellent job in all areas of linebacking. Rugged tackler who also has 13 career pass interceptions.

RON SHANKLIN, WR, 6-1, 180, 3rd Yr., Age 24, N. Texas St. Speed merchant outside receiver who has been outstanding receiver in each of his first two campaigns. Grabbed 49 passes in 1971 for 652 yards and six TDs after 30 catches for 691 yards as a rookie. Definite long bomb threat.

Chuck Noll Head Coach

Joined the Pittsburgh Steelers as the head coach in 1969. He prepared for this important job as a player for Paul Brown's Cleveland Browns, and as an assistant coach, first for Sid Gillman at San Diego and then for Don Shula at Baltimore. He was a guard and linebacker with the Browns from 1953 through 1959. He joined the Chargers as a defensive assistant and during his six seasons there, the team won five titles. The following three years were spent handling the defensive backs with the Baltimore Colts, a team which finished in or near the championship during those years. Was an All-State high school star at Benedictine High in Cleveland. Captained the University of Dayton, playing both tackle and linebacker. He was drafted by the Browns in 1953. Born in Cleveland, Ohio, January 5, 1932. He and wife, Marianne, have one son, Chris.

PITTSBURGH-BIG PLAY

The Pittsburgh Steelers possess all the ingredients needed for a good passing attack - a strong-armed quarterback (Terry Bradshaw) who isn't afraid to put the ball in the air, a solid offensive blocking line and swift, breakaway receivers like split end Ron-Shanklin and running back John Fugua. Mixing these talents, the Steelers are able to strike effectively through the air with plays like the split end quick-out pass shown here. One of the basic strategies of the passing game is to influence the defense - that is, make the defense react one way, and then throw the ball somewhere else into an area that is not as heavily guarded. This is what Pittsburgh attempts to do with the quick-out pattern. Bradshaw (No. 12), now coming of age as a top pro quarterback, sets up the defense by sending the fleet Fugua (No. 33) in motion to the right as signals are called. Since Terry often throws to Fugua off this motion series (John caught 49 passes for 427 yards in 1971), the defense must respect the little running back as he drifts out to the right. On the left side, meanwhile, Shanklin (No. 25) drives right at the defensive man covering him, forcing the cornerback to retreat quickly as a means of preventing Ron from getting loose behind him. At this critical juncture, Shanklin executes a sharp square-out (or quick-out) move and darts toward the left sideline. It's a tough pass to stop. From this play, the Steelers can easily move to a companion pattern where Shanklin, having intimidated the defensive with his quick-out move, starts what looks like the same route - but quickly turns upfield and runs a deep fly pattern, hoping to race by the cornerback as he moves in tight to defend against the quick-out move.

"Mean Joe" is what they call defensive tackle Joe Greene. Why not? Here he zeros in on a Giant ball carrier.

Veteran linebacker Chuck Allen (58) has been a key man in Pittsburgh's defense. And he runs well with interceptions, as you can see.

SAN DIEGO CHARGERS

Running back Mike Garrett has a convoy of blockers as he sweeps for yardage. All-Star Walt Sweeney (78) leads the interference.

ack in the old AFL days, the Chargers were the winningest team in the history of that league—first as the Los Angeles entry, and then in San Diego, taking five AFL Western Division titles along the way.

Things have changed somewhat since those days, but the Chargers seem to be coming on with a new look. Last year, the club was the No. rated offensive team in the NFL and now head coach Harland Svare has the emphasis on defense to bring about a more perfect blend. Svare is a former head coach of the Los Angeles Rams and was an outstanding linebacker for the Giants in his playing days, and obviously has more than a passing knowlege of defense.

San Diego has had some fine players represent the club in the past, like quarterbacks Jack Kemp and Tobin Rote, running backs Paul Lowe and Keith Lincoln and the incomparable receiver Lance Alworth. But that's all past history, and the accent is on the "now" for Svare and the Chargers.

As part of that "now," San Diego still has some of the world's tallest and heaviest linemen and a lot of fine offense in quarterback John Hadl, receivers Gary Garrison and Billy Parks and running back Mike Garrett, New faces are good faces-the lengendary Deacon Jones has joined the club and at 32 says he's still the best defensive end in football. Deacon has promised to breathe fire into Charger defense. Running back Cid Edwards and receiver Dave Williams will also help.

Has been an All-Star choice since 1964 and never has missed a game in nine seasons. "If I had to play against Sweeney every week, I'd rather sell cars full time," said Rams' Merlin Olsen.

RUSS WASHINGTON, T, 6-6, 294, 5th Yr., Age 25, Kansas St. Shifted from defensive tackle to offense at start of 1970 season. Has size, strength and talent to become all-star candidate. Fourth player selected in draft in 1968 as No. 1 choice of the Chargers.

Harland Svare Head Coach

Back into the head coaching business, the 41-year-old Svare took over with four games left in the 1971 season from his position as the Chargers' general manager. Svare has had a solid background. He was a linebacker with the Rams in 1954, then played with the New York Giants championship teams in the late 50's. He became an assistant coach with the Giants in 1960, then moved back to the Rams as an assistant coach in 1962. He became the head coach of Los Angeles midway that year at age 31 and served three more years thereafter, developing the "fearsome foursome" defense. He returned to the Giants as an assistant in 1967 and later coached with Vince Lombardi at Washington in 1969-70 before coming to San Diego. A native of Minnesota, he starred at Washington State as both an offensive and defensive end before being drafted by the Rams in 1953 and beginning his career in pro football.

SAN DIEGO-BIG PLAY

National Football League observers expect San Diego's new head coach, Harland (Swede) Svare, to place added emphasis on the running game in 1972. Although Svare has made his coaching reputation as a defensive theorist, he is also a firm believer in a sound and balanced offense. The Chargers, an explosive team in the past, have a great passer in quarterback John Hadl (No. 21) and one of the league's finest wide receivers in Gary Garrison (No. 27) but Syare realizes that his club cannot live by the pass alone, that a strong running attack is needed to achieve the desired balance. A favorite Svare running play is the San Diego power sweep (diagram) which strives to take full advantage of maximum blocking at the point of attack plus the wonderful outside speed of running back Mike Montgomery (No. 23). Montgomery has the ability and running instinct to get loose around the end but he can't make it unless his teammates do the required blocking job. Both guards pull on the power sweep and drive down the line to clear a path for the ball-carrier. Fullback Mel Queen (No. 47) also has an important assignment; he must hit into the tackle hole and seal off the defensive left end (who is left unquarded when the Charger tackle blocks to his left). Tight end Pettis Norman (No. 88), a truly fine blocker, is called on to hook the left corner linebacker to the inside. This is perhaps the most vital block of them all on the power sweep. Adding further support ahead of the play, flanker Garrison drives to the inside and heads for the strong safety. Gary can't always block this man cleanly but he can get between him and Montgomery, screening the defensive back out of the play for the few seconds needed to get Mike loose. This is the kind of play that can get those two or three yards needed for a first down - or go all the way because of Montgomery's open-field running talents.

THE 1972 DRAFT: An Annual Guessing Game

At 10:03 on the morning of February 1, 1972, the Buffalo Bills drafted Walt Patulski, Notre Dame's All-American defensive end. At 12:03, exactly two hours later, the Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys selected Bill Thomas, Boston College running back—and the first round of the annual NFL player draft, one of the great grab-bags in all of sports, had been completed.

During the two days that followed at the Essex House Hotel in New York City, coaches, scouts, owners and general managers of the 26 NFL teams analyzed, evaluated, studied, debated, guessed, wrinkled their brows, smoked cigarettes and drank coffee as they attempted to cull the cream of the nation's collegiate football players.

The names of All-Americans from the football factory conferences, the Big Ten, Big Eight, Southwest and Southeast, flashed across the projection screen at draft headquarters along with the names of lesser-known collegians from the backwater colleges until, 19 hours and 26 minutes later, defensive tackle Alphonso Cain of little Bethune-Cookman was made the 445th pick by Dallas, and it was all over.

It was all over, that is, except for the guessing game which continues until the NFL season opens in September and a final judgment can be made on the talent that was processed through the computers and eventually taken in the 1972 draft.

Who is to say that one of the unknowns, one of the last players to be selected, won't be as big a star as Walt Patulski, the premier selection? Who is to say that some obscure player from a small college won't outshine the Big Ten All-Americans?

There were a number of surprises in this year's draft. Heisman Trophy winner Pat Sullivan, the Auburn quarterback, was not chosen until the second round (by Atlanta) although his receiving mate at Auburn, Terry Beasley, was picked on the first round by San Francisco. And Cornell's recordsetting rusher, Ed Marinaro, had to wait until almost the end of the second round before being drafted by Minnesota, another upset.

In last year's draft, glamor quarterbacks were the "in" thing. Jim Plunkett, the Heisman Trophy winner; Lynn Dickey, Dan Pastorini, Scott Hunter and Archie Manning all went early. This year, however, only two quarterbacks were taken on the first round—Nebraska's Jerry Tagge by Green Bay and Florida's John Reaves by Philadelphia.

The emphasis this year was on defense, no mistake about it. Thirteen of the 26 players chosen on Round One were defensive stars. Behind Patulski came USC's Sherman White, a defensive end taken by Cincinnati, and Southern Illinois tackle Lionel Antoine, a Chicago Bears' pick; Antoine can play either offense or defense. Houston, picking sixth, took Greg Sampson, a huge defensive end from Stanford.

Three other All-American defensive linemen were grabbed on the opening round. Detroit took Herb Orvis, Colorado; the Giants went for Nebraska's Larry Jacobson and Miami drafted Mike Kadish, a teammate of Patulski on the Notre Dame defensive line.

A number of these collegians selected early in the draft are earmarked for instant stardom in the NFL. Patulski, at 6-6 and 260, of course leads the list, with White, 6-5 and 250, right behind in the opinion of most pro talent scouts. Antoine, one of the most versatile players to end the league in several years, has unlimited potential. Two other rookies to watch closely in 1972 are running back Robert Moore of Oregon, a St. Louis pick, and tight end Riley Odoms of the U. of Houston, who was taken by Denver. Some observers feel Odoms right now is as good as any tight end in the league, NFL insiders are predicting great things for San Diego State defensive back Willie Buchanon, who probably will start in the Green Bay secondary this year. He has all the appearances of a top pro defensive corner back. So does Craig Clemons of Iowa, who was picked by the Bears.

Among the wide receivers, Beasley, Jerome Barkum of Jackson State (N.Y. Jets), Eldridge Small of Texas A&I (Giants) and Mike Siani of Villanova (Oakland) are expected to be candidates for Rookie of the Year honors.

Several promising running backs spice the rookie scene for 1972, among them Moore (Cards), Franco Harris (Steelers), Kinney (Chiefs), Jim Bertelson (Rams), Robert Newhouse (Dallas), Lydell Mitchell (Colts) and, of course, Ed Marinaro (Vikings). The scouts say Marinaro was not taken early in the draft because he is too slow. It might be pointed out, though, that the same was said of Heisman Trophy winner Steve Owens of Oklahoma two years ago-and in 1971, Owens rushed for over 1,000 yards for Detroit.
